Some of the News.
Man, His Days Are as Grass
The French Save.
Earth, Big Alma Mater.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

A professor named Fullerton has hanged himself after teaching philosophy to young ladies for a long time. There is no philosophy that will make us philosophize about our own troubles.

Edith Gould Wainwright, daughter of the late Geodge Gould, granddaughter of Jay Gould, who left one hundred millions to amuse lawyers hired by his heirs is writing her interesting and important life story.

It is her intention to prove that happiness is not in money, but in the soul of man. Epictetus said it, but could not prove it, for he never had any money.

Edith Gould knows what she is talking about. The best fun she ever had, as she will tell her young friends, was doing her own housework after she ran away to be married, and before she became reconciled to her annoyed parents.

Reporters, traveling among ruins spread over the earth by the recent tornado, advise that many men and women are praying. They pray for strength to take care of those that are ill or ruined by the great storm, and for strength to rebuild their vanished homes.

Those that pray include probably many that had done little praying until the arrival of the tornado.

"As for man, his days are as grass. As a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone and the place thereof shall know it no more."

Paris bankers are distressed because the French people, especialy the peasants, hoard coins of gold and silver.

Laws were passed to control the gold supply, that the bank of France might have a big gold reserve, but the French people still have two thousand million francs in gold and silver coins hidden away.

That does not please the bankers, and makes financing more difficult for the highly intelligent and efficient French government.

But that hoarding of precious metals should be a warning to speculators against trying to knock down the price of the franc.

Whoever gambles on the belief that the French people will allow their currency to become worthless, doesn't know the French people or their history.

Harvard will spend $12,000,000 to improve the study of agriculture. That's sensible.

English-speaking nations study Latin and Greek. The Romans studied Greek. The Greek philosophers studied the Egyptian language and hieroglyphics. Millions are spent teaching many kinds of knowledge little used after the student leaves school.

It is about time to begin studying seriously old Mother Earth, the original alma mater from which we all spring and upon which we depend absolutely during life and to which we all return.

Today in Jerusalem the aged Lord Balfour will officiate at the opening and dedication of the new Jewish university.

Representatives of the Arabs, who outnumber the Jews ten to one in the Holy Land hate Balfour for his leadership in restoring Jerusalem to the Jews. They proclaim a strike against Jerusalem, against Balfour, and will try to exclude him from the Christian holy places.

The strange thing, according to press agency dispatches, is that a group of orthodox Jews in Jerusalem, under the leadership of the Patriarch of Jerusalem, refuses to meet Lord Balfour, and will help the Arabs to exclude him from the Christian holy places if they can. It is hard to please everybody.

However, the practical British government has ordered sufficient British troops, including the Ninth Queen's Royal Lancers, now in Egypt, to be ready for emergencies.

A few machine guns will enable Balfour to see the Christian holy places if he wants to. It would be interesting to get the real opion of that sarcastic old gentleman. But he won't give them.

SENATE PASSES GUILFORD PARK BILL; ITS FATE UP TO DONAHEY

Game Association Representatives Confer With Governor.

APPROVAL ASKED

Measure Carries Appropriations Totalling $47,300.

Fate of the proposed Guilford Park bill, passed by the house of representatives last week, and the state senate yesterday, rests today in the hands of Governor A. V. Donahey.

The measure, which authorizes the purchase of not more than 500 acres of ground in the vicinity of Guilford dam as the site of a state park at an expense not to exceed $32,000, was passed by the senate by a vote of 28 to 0, yesterday afternoon. An additional $15,300 appropriation is made for closing the gap in the dam and providing for temporary improvements to the park.

Governor Donahey, in a conference with members of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association, a few weeks ago, promised his support of the bill in the event of its passage by the legislature. John L. King, Salem, president of the association, and Attorney Frank E. Grosshans, of this city, a member of the legislative committee, left last night for Columbus where they will endeavor to arrange a conference with the chief executive to urge that he sign the measure.

Options on Land.

The bill, which now seems certain to be approved in view of the governor's previous promises, brings to an end the campaign launched by the Fish and Game association more than eight years ago to have a state fish hatchery established in Columbiana county. The dam, which was built about 60 years ago for the purpose of providing the Big Sandy canal with its water supply, makes an ideal site for a lake. Little labor will be neces-

BARTH IS NAMED ROTARY DELEGATE

The board of directors of the Rotary club, at a meeting yesterday afternoon, elected Secretary H. B. Barth, delegate, and Attorney F. L. Wells, alternate, to the international Rotary convention which will be held in Cleveland on June 15-19, inclusive.

A large delegation of local Rotarians will attend the convention. A committee, headed by Attorney F. L. Wells, of Wellsville, is arranging for the convention so far as the East Liverpool club is concerned. According to plans, the Cleveland meeting—the 16th international convention—will be the largest in the history of Rotary.

Seven Killed, Five Hurt, Four Missing In Oil Explosion

HAMBURG, Mar. 25.—Seven persons were killed and five injured today when an oil explosion in the Hamburg harbor hurled a small freight vessel into the air. Several were buried alive.

Another freighter was sunk by the explosion and four of its crew are missing.

Referendum on Daylight Saving.

WHEELING, W. Va., March 25.—Wheeling on May 14 will hold a referendum election to pass upon whether or not the city shall have daylight saving time this summer.

MAN IS SAVAGE, SAYS DARROW

BOSTON, Mar. 25. — A gloomy picture of civilization was painted by Clarence S. Darrow, Chicago attorney who defended Loeb and Leopold, in an interview today. Here is the picture:

"Civilization is becoming too heavy.

"Some day a frightful cataclysm will overtake society and civilization will crumple.

"Man is still a savage at heart and women are greater potential killers than men, for under emotional stress they are more likely to strike out blindly to steal or murder than men.

"And you can put this down: Society isn't a bit better than it was in the jungle ten thousand years ago."

SIMMS ESTATE SELLS MARKET ST. HOLDINGS

L. T. Capehart and Son Purchase Business Structure.

WILL OCCUPY IT

Simms Printing Co. Will Retain Quarters on First Floor.

L. T. Capehart and Son, tinners and roofers, have purchased from the J. H. Simms estate the two-story frame building on lower Market street, known as the old Tribune building. The consideration was private.

The deal not only includes the building, which formerly housed the morning newspaper, but also the vacant lot at the corner of Second and Market streets, having a frontage of 80 feet on second street and extending 130 feet through to Center alley.

The new owners who assume possession today, will occupy the basement part of the building as a tin and repair shop. The Simms Printing Company will retain use of the first floor. No change will be made in the occupants of the two flats on the second floor, part of which was used as the editorial department for the Morning Tribune before the paper was purchased by the East Liverpool Publishing Co.

The building was erected by J. H. Simms, founder of The Tribune, in 1900.

L. T. Capehart & Son, the new owners have been located in the Matthew Anderson building, Rural Lane and Dresden avenue for about 19 years.

WAGGLE FUNERAL HERE THURSDAY

Funeral services for the late James Waggle, retired blacksmith, who according to County Coroner Dr. J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, met death by the "accidental discharge of a shotgun" at his home Monday afternoon, will be conducted in the late residence, 402 Ridgeway avenue, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, of which Mr. Waggle was a member, will officiate. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

LONDON AWAITS COOLIDGE CALL FOR PARLEY ON DISARMAMENT

Britain Believes Time Ripe; No Fear of Land Problem.

ALLIES READY

England is Prepared to Underwrite German Proposals.

BY HARRY FLORY.

LONDON, March 25.—The British government believes, it was learned unofficially today, that sufficient progress has been made on the question of security to justify President Coolidge in calling a disarmament conference without fear of the land armament problem causing difficulty.

The unofficial opinion followed a statement in the house of commons last night by Austen Chamberlain, foreign secertary in which he said, in effect that Great Britain was ready to underwrite any proposals which Germany might make looking toward permanent peace in Europe.

Chamberlain outlined the "liquid" proposals which Germany was prepared to make. These were:

A special treaty guaranteeing security to France.

A mutual understanding with all powers interested in the Rhine.

Await France's Decision.

The Allies have practically agreed to hold a pact conference, it was learned. France has suggested, however, that diplomatic exchanges might accomplish the same result without a conference. France is said to have agreed to the German "liquid" offers with modifications as a basis of discussion. Chamberlain applied the word "liquid" to the German proposals, explaining that they were not intended to be concrete.

Great Britain now is definitely lined up with Germany in the problem of European security against another war, the Express indicated to-

29 MORE ADMIT RIOTING COUNT

Pleas of Guilty are Entered in Niles Case.

WARREN, O., March 25. — Twenty-nine persons indicted on a charge of rioting in connection with the Klan and anti-Klan disorders at Niles last November when martial law was declared by Governor Donahey, today entered pleas of guilty when arraigned before Judge James Thomas of Portsmouth.

Each of the 29 was fined $300 and costs with $250 of this amount suspended depending upon the "good behavior" of the men. This brings the total number of cases disposed of up to 46, leaving 20 more to come before the court.

Judge Thomas commended both counsel and clients for the entering of guilty pleas and advised the men to return to their homes "and live as American citizens should live."

"Should the Ku Klux Klan desire to parade in your city, let them do so. They have the right under the law to parade and you have no right to interfere," he added.

Peter Trouck, 50, Is Killed by Train At Washingtonville

Peter Trouck, aged about 50, Washingtonville laborer, was killed yesterday when run down by a Pittsburgh, Lisbon and Western railroad freight train, between Washingtonville and Greenford, Mahoning county.

Members of the train crew assert that Trouck was either asleep on the track or had fallen between the ties. His body was badly mangled. He is said to have been out of work for several weeks.

The body was removed to the Crowell and Woods morgue at Leetonia, but was later taken to the Eells morgue, in Lisbon. Trouck resided in Lisbon until a short time ago, when he went to Washingtonville in search of employment.

ACTRESS' HIDDEN ROMANCE HINTED

BOSTON, Mar. 25.—What is said to be a hidden romance in the life of "Lotta" Crabtree, once the finest comedienne and the premier spinster of the American stage, was revealed today. Announcement was made that Miss Ida M. Blankenburg of Tulsa, Okla., had filed a claim against the $4,000,000 estate of the late internationally famous actress. Miss Blankenburg states that she is the daughter of the woman the stage knew as a spinster.

Florin G. Arey, an attorney, representing the Oklahoma claimant to the Crabtree fortune, was en route to Tulsa today to take oral testimony. There was nothing in the papers to indicate the details of the alleged romance.

TORNADO ZONE RELIEF FUND IS GIVEN $40

Contributions Pour Into Red Cross Office Here.

THREE CHECKS

Express Company Will Transport Donations Free of Charge.

Contributions for the relief of sufferers in tornado-swept Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee began to pour into Red Cross headquarters here today.

Three checks received during the morning totalled $40. The contributors were Mrs. Adeline S. Martin, $25; Mrs. J. H. Brookes, $10, and Mrs. B. C. Simms, $5. The money will be turned over to W. E. Dunlap, cashier of the First National Bank, treasurer of the Red Cross.

Thousands of persons in the storm-torn communities are homeless. Hundreds are in need of medical care.

While the Red Cross will conduct no campaign for funds here, contributions will be accepted. The money will be forwarded to the national Red Cross organization.

C. W. Heffernan, and R. W. Newby, American Railway Express agents in East Liverpool and Wellsville, respectively, today announced that the company will transport free of charge any donation of clothing or other supplies to the stricken areas, when such donations are consigned to the Amer-

Stork Leaves Twins On Each Visit to George Podmore Home

George Podmore, driver for the American Railway Express company, was rejoicing today over the visit of the stork to his home in St. John street, yesterday.

It was the long legged bird's second visit to the Podmore home, leaving twins on each trip. The first children were girls and the new arrivals yesterday were boys.

Restaurant Owner Files Bankruptcy Petition in Court

Theodore Kouvales, proprietor of the Crystal restaurant, Sixth street, and the O. K. restaurant, Washington street and Broadway, has filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the United States federal court at Cleveland. His liabilities total $27,832.08, of which $1,400 is claimed for wages, according to the petition. The assets are $400.

BENDER BILL RESCINDS COUNCIL'S DRY AGENT FEE PAYMENT SYSTEM

Ardent Prohibition Supporter's Measure, Assailing Plan in Effect in Courts of Justices of Peace as Well as Mayors, Adopted by Vote of 29 to 1 in State Senate.

PROPOSAL NOW GOES TO HOUSE; ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE O. K.'S PLAN

Legislation Provides That Any Village, City or Township Which Employs Prohibition Agents Shall Fix Salary for Them, But no Limit is Placed on Amount of Compensation.

East Liverpool's fine-splitting dry detective ordinance, blamed for the inter-city raiders' war last January, which had a tragic culmination, is doomed, if the Bender bill, passed by the state senate yesterday, becomes a law.

The measure, adopted by the upper branch by a vote of 29 to 1, now goes to the house. If approved there, its fate will rest in the hands of Gov. Donahey.

The proposal, if enacted, will sound the death knell of the councilmanic legislation, repeal of which was asked in a petition signed by 2,865 electors, whose request was refused by the solons.

The Bender bill prohibits the fee splitting practice in courts of mayors and justices of peace.

The passage of the measure with only one dissenting vote—that of Senator J. Lowry Miller of Middletown—was one of the surprises of the senate session. A battle had occurred earlier in the session, when an attempt was made to drive alleged crooked justices out of business by a different method.

Constables on Salary Basis.

This happened when the bill of Senator George H. Bender, designed to restrict jurisdiction of justices and mayors to their own townships or villages, was killed in the temperance committee, and an effort to relieve the committee of it was defeated by one vote.

When the anti-fee splitting measure came up yesterday Senator Bender, ardent dry, but foe of commercialized enforcement, was the only one who rose to speak. He said his piece, and nobody else arose. The roll call then showed 29 votes in favor.

Strikes at Root of Evil.

"This bill strikes at the root of the evil in enforcement of prohibition," Senator Bender declared. "It stops the division of swag among the justices and their constables. It will mean more for honest law enforcement than anything we've done.

"The bill puts constables on a salary basis, to be fixed by the township or village they work out of. The bill takes away no power from the justices and constables. It merely prevents them from piling up huge prof-

12 Tentative Jurors Are Seated in Trial Of Youthful Slayer

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Dorothy Ellingson, a product of the age in which she happened to be born, an unwilling victim of heredity and environment.

This is the picture that is to be presented to the jury that will sit in judgment on the youthful "jazz baby" being tried for the murder of her mother.

Gradually the strategy of the defense is unfolded under the long and careful questioning of prospective jurors.

As the case was resumed today, 12 tentative jurors sat in the jury box. Two of them were women. The men ranged in age from 22 to 55.

Counsel for state and defense were hopeful a jury might be secured before the day is done, but they were not sanguine. The state had exhausted but one of its 10 peremptory challenges and the defense had 17 of the 20 allowed by the law remaining.

Rioters Protest Taxes on Food.

ROME, March 25.—Police had difficulty in coping with riots in Palermo and Nicosia in protest against new taxes on food.

Odd Mix-up Means U. S. Officer Must Change Signature

WASHINGTON, March 25. — John M. Goldesberry, newly appointed district attorney for the northern district of Oklahoma, will have to change his signature as a result of an odd mix-up in connection with his appointment, the department of justice ruled.

Because of a telegraphic error, President Coolidge sent his nomination to the senate as John "W" Goldesberry,' and it was confirmed that way. The senate had adjourned before the mistake was discovered, so it could not be rectified.

The question was raised as to whether a recess appointment of John M. Goldesberry was not necessary in order to make his acts legal, but the department of justice decided if he would sign his name "John W. (M.) Goldesberry" everything would be legal and shipshape.

MAYOR ORDERS RAILS REMOVED

Drafts Letter Preliminary to Improvement of Mulberry Street.

Mayor Brown today was preparing to draft a letter to The Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company, requesting that they remove their rails and ties from Mulberry street immediately.

In compliance with a motion adopted by council at their last meeting, the mayor about 10 days ago wrote to J. H. Maxwell, president of the company, asking that the rails be removed. Mr. Maxwell, in a reply inquired whether the rails alone were to be removed. The traction company president urged that the ties be permitted to remain in the ground to provide a better job of street surfacing.

"Council has decided that the ties must come up," the mayor said today. "Personally I believe that the best results would be obtained if the ties were allowed to remain as the new-made ground is bound to settle after the street is surfaced. However, council, is the judge in this matter and Legislation looking toward the surtheir orders will be carried out. facing of Mulberry street will be introduced at Friday night's session of council.

PAUL HUNE WILL ERECT THREE-STORY WAREHOUSE AND APARTMENT BUILDING

Structure Will be Placed on Diamond Alley Site Swept by Fire on Feb. 22.

Paul Hune, wholesale confectioner, will erect a three-story brick warehouse and apartment building on the Diamond alley site of the two-story frame structure which was badly damaged in the business district fire on February 22, it was announced today.

Work of razing the frame structure will be started immediately. The proposed new building, plans for which are now being prepared, will cover a ground space of 22½ feet on Diamond alley, extending 48 feet to a private alley back of the old Grand opera house building. It will adjoin the proposed two-story brick and concrete warehouse which the Milligan Hardware & Supply company will erect at the northwest corner of Diamond and Crook alleys.

Two store rooms will be situated on the ground floor of the new building, the stairway ascending from the center. The second floor will be used for storage purposes. Two apartments of three rooms and a bath each will be provided on the third floor.

Mr. Hune now occupies the two-

DELEGATES TO ST. PAUL CONCLAVE WILL BE ELECTED AT KIWANIS MEET

Business Session Will Follow Noon Luncheon on Thursday — Plan Visit to Leetonia.

Thursday's meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Larkins annex, Market street, will be strictly a business one.

Delegates and alternates to the international Kiwanis convention to be held in St. Paul, next June, will be named. The club is entitled to two delegates and an equal number of alternates. Chairman of the various club committees will be asked to make a report of their work during the first quarter of the year.

The club will also discuss its proposed trip to Leetonia next Tuesday evening. A special Y. & O. car has been chartered. At least 50 members are expected to make the trip. The program will be given by the local club men. Frank Jones is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The attendance prize on Thursday will be furnished by Olen Dawson. Dr. Clyde Larkins, Walter B. Hill, Dr. James Jackson and Cyril Taylor have been added to the reception commit-tee.

GREAT TRADE CONFLICT NEAR

U. S. Not Alarmed as Exporting Nations Plan Clash.

WASHINGTON, March 25—A "great trade conflict" is impending between the chief exporting nations of the world, but American business men can look forward to it with confidence.

This prediction was made by the department of commerce today simultaneous with the publication of an analysis of foreign trade, which showed that the exporters of the United States are rapidly forging ahead in the great competitive markets of South America and the Far East.

Julius Klein, director of foreign trade, called attention to an increase of $430,000,000 in America's foreign trade last year as compared with 1923, and gains in the early months of 1925.

Manufacturers Will Benefit.

These gains have been offset to a certain extent by increasing doubts as to the dangers of competition from our European rivals, Klein said. So much mis-information, however, has been circulated on the subject, inspired in some cases by our rivals themselves, that a calm, dispassionate view of the actual facts should be taken.

Klein believes that manufacturers of this country will reap a wide benefit from increased purchasing power of the competitive markets of Latin-America, Asia, Oceania and Africa, which took imports last year of $6,000,000,000, or more than double the 1913 figure. A continued expansion of these markets is anticipated in view of the tendency for improvement in living standards.

"The significant feature of this stimulated purchasing power is the fact that requirements are in a large measure for the newer products of American ingenuity," Klein declared. He enumerated automobiles, electrical specialties, motion picture films, labor saving machinery, ready-made clothes and office equipment.

London Awaits

day in commenting on Chamberlain's statement.

The majority in commons appears to have accepted Chamberlain's declaration with enthusiasm. The question now is, commons was asking, whether France will accede to the suggestions. Chamberlain, in effect, said Great Britain would underwrite any security promises Germany would make, especially regarding its eastern frontier.

Great stress is being laid on Chamberlain's statement that since the war, "Europe has been divided into two camps and unless its restless fears are discontinued, Europe will again march to an armageddon."

It is probable an inter-allied conference will be the next step toward European security, providing France sees fit to accept the German offer as a basis af discussion.

France's decision is expected to influence the stand of her allies, Poland and Czech-Slovakia.

Prepare for Conference

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25. — Great Britain and the United States are working in close harmony toward the staging of another arms limitation conference in Washington within a year.

All doubts on this score were dispelled today by two significant moves, one in London and one in Washington.

In London, the Baldwin ministry came out unreservedly in favor of a security pact for Europe that will embrace every first class power and provide mutual guarantees against armed conflict for at least a generation.

In Washington, President Coolidge has directed Secretary of State Kellogg, himself fresh from London and peculiarly acquainted with British views, to begin the groundwork of preparation for a second arms conference. This groundwork consists principally of considering an agenda of aims and purposes which can be submitted quietly and unofficially to the powers interested.

sary to close the gap which was opened when the canal failed. Since that time a greater part of the land has been under cultivation. About three years ago, the Fish and Game association obtained options on the property. These options were turned over to the state.

The Guilford park will be the only state park in the eastern part of the Buckeye state, and this fact was one of the strongest arguments in favor of the measure, sponsored in the house by Representative Ralph W. Emmons and in the senate by Harry M. Carpenter, Steubenville.

Plan to Improve Roads.

The site is located in Hanover township, about three miles from the Lincoln highway and about two miles from the Cox Highway at Winona. The county commissioners are expected to take steps within the near future to improve the roads from the Lincoln highway on the south and the Cox highway on the north to the state park.

The dam will be closed as soon as possible. It has been estimated that it will require at least a year for the big pond to fill and to permit it to be stocked with fish. It is fed by several fresh water streams, which tests have shown contained no pollution.

A meeting of the State Fish and Game Protective association will be held within the next few weeks to discuss the state park question. The governor has 10 days in which to either sign or veto the measure or permit it to become a law without his signature.

DEATH ROLL

Charles Bowers.

Charles Bowers, 66 years old, died this morning in his home, 816 Lisbon street.

Deceased, who was born in England, was employed as a dipper at the West End pottery and is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rose Bowers, and the following children: William, Daniel, Rose L., Mrs. Margaret Amos and Mrs. Isabell Huddleston, all of this city; one brother, Daniel Bowers, Columbus, and two sisters, Mrs. Emma Poe, East McKeesport, Pa., and Mrs. Tillie Ford, this city.

5 DIE, 40 HURT IN RAIL WRECK

French Senator Among Victims of Bordeaux Express Crash.

POITIERS, France, March 25.—The death toll in the wreck of the Bordeaux express today was increased to six, when railroad officials announced that there were five unidentified bodies. Senator Pedobidou was the sixth victim and 40 were seriously injured.

French soldiers returning from Morocco rescued a wealthy unidentified Spaniard from drowning when the engine and seven coaches derailed and two of the cars rolled into the river Clain.

PARIS, March 25.—Twenty-three victims of the Bordeaux express wreck arrived at the Austerlitz station here at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Others of the more seriously injured had been treated at the Poitiers hospital, it was learned.

Relief Work Under Way.

BENTON, Ills., March 25.—With relief work placed solely in the hands of the Aemrican Red Cross and reconstruction well under way in southern Illinois' tornado-torn cities, efforts were directed today toward rural rehabilitation throughout the entire storm area.

At Murphysboro, the burden of all relief work in Indiana, Illinois and Missouri was officially shifted from temporary societies to the Red Cross at a mass meeting of civilians and rescue crews and announcement was made that administrative offices for the tri-state operations would be established at Murphysboro.

Branch bases will be set up in each stricken city and village where staffs of trained workers will be stationed. Every disaster sufferer in the stricken area was guaranteed individual help by Henry M. Baker, Red Cross disaster director. "The Red Cross will never leave until this is done," he said.

At West Frankfort, 300 representatives of Southern Illinois towns confered and similarly placed the responsibility of rehabilitation with the Red Cross. A crew of 50 welfare workers was ordered to West Frankfort.

Today a cavaran was touring the entire storm area in the three states. It consisted of a train carrying complete commissary and sleeping quarters for 50 workers. Automobiles followed the train.

These workers will clean up the hundreds of farms leveled in the storm path without charge to tenants.

Girl's Body Found In Swamp; Search For Missing Man

NEWPORT, Vt., March 25.—Search of the dismal corners of Coventry swamp for the body of Charles H. Hutchins, 29, was under way today following the discovery in the swamp of the body of Miss Edith M. Young, 24, a stenographer.

The couple disappeared four months ago. The finding of the body of Miss Young came at the hour set by Vermont courts to hear the divorce suit brought by Mrs. Hutchins, charging desertion by her husband, manager of a local creamery.

Ted Corliss, a trapper, found the body of the girl.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—Industrial and railroad stocks rebounded sharply in early trading today. There was practically no stock for sale at the level of prices quoted at yesterday's close, and buyers were compelled to bid from 1 to 4 points higher for the industrial market leaders and a maximum of two points higher for the railroad stocks at the opening. These price gains were extended in the first hour of trading. The rallies in general electric and cast iron pipe, compared with yesterday's low prices, extended to ten points; in American can and Baldwin about five points; American Car and Foundry six points; Sears Roebuck five points; Maxwell Motors five points; Northern Pacific, Atchison and other railroad stocks one to 2 1-2 points.

Buying of stocks to cover commitments appearing simultaneously with investment buying of considerable proportions, relieved pressure on most sections of the market.

There was some hesitancy in the railroad list, however, due to disappointment over the February earnings reports of large railroad systems. Railroad shares fell back into an irregular position after short covering had been completed and in some cases dipped below yesterday's closing prices. Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and the northwestern rails received further attention from bearish traders and Rock Island tumbled a point or two from its higher opening price.

Pan-American was an aggressive leader in the oil stocks, its rise being due to persistent rumors of impending Standard Oil control of the American properties of the American. American sugar sold higher on rumors of probable inauguration of dividends in May. St. Paul stocks and bonds responded with higher prices to the expectation of a brief and effective receivership period for the road and the favorable reports of current freight traffic over its lines. Motor stocks were steady, with Maxwell stock spurting about three points.

Market activity slowed up in the second hour and prices showed a slightly downward tendency. Most of the outside markets were reactionary, wheat losing in both the Chicago and Winnipeg markets. Cotton was fairly steady. Call money renewals 3½ per cent.

Pittsburgh Live Stock.

PITTSBURGH, March 25—Cattle—Supply light. Market steady. Aims to Live 100

Pittsburgher Uses a Pure Herb Remedy to Keep His Blood Young and the Youthful Fires Burning.

"I am near 60 years, but I feel as young as I did at 30. I take a cupful of Bulgarian Herb Tea once or twice a week. It keeps me healthy and strong and makes me feel young again," said H. H. Von Schlick, manufacturer of Bulgarian Herb Tea.

If you are constipated or have rheumatism, liver, kidney or stomach trouble, don't wait another day. You need vigor and energy to perform your work. You need my great pure herb tonic to bring you back to health and happiness. Why not feel 10 to 30 years younger?

Why, just to break up a bad cold quickly, Bulgarian Herb Tea is worth ten times its price. The rich herb juices, taken hot at bedtime, heat up the chilled blood, stimulate the circulation and aid nature to cast the poison germs out of your system.

Go to your druggist and ask for Bulgarian Herb Tea, in the red and yellow box—75c. $1.25.

Note:—Many people live on farms and in small towns, where there is no drug store. They need this great medicine and should have it, so I will send by mail by large five months' treatment for $1.25. Address me, H. H. Von Schlick, President, Dept. M., 831 Locust street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Fine-Splitting

its out of so-called law enforcement."

Senator Bender then pulled out a copy of the American Issue, publication of the Anti-Saloon League, which opposed his previous justice restriction bill and declared that the Anti-Saloon League favored his anti-fee-splitting measure.

"Let me read from this publication," he said. "It tells here that the Bender bill abolishing the splitting of fees is up for a third reading. 'This bill goes at the fee-splitting evil in the right way,' says the American Issue. I merely read this to set you right on where they stand."

Aim of Measure.

The bill, according to competent authorities, will practically put an end to commercialized enforcement of prohibition, as it has been seen in Ohio since the passage of the Miller act. Whether it will be acted on in the house cannot be predicted, but considerable pressure will be brought by city members.

It provides that any village, city or township which employs prohibition agents shall fix a salary for them. No limit is set on the salary, but it is left up to the village or township, on the theory that its taxpayers will guard its treasury, and not give them too much.

The bill repeals the section of the Miller law which declared that village councils or township trustees could set apart a certain portion of the fines by liquor law violators as the compensation for the arresting officers.

The house took a step toward eliminating dishonest enforcement officials today when the judiciary committee reported favorably the other Bender bill recommended by the Anti-Saloon League, which gives 5 per cent of the voters in a political subdivision power to bring up any official for removal trial before common pleas court. This bill has passed the senate.

Approve Investigation Plan.

COLUMBUS, March 25.—Plans for legislative investigation of the extent to which communistic, socialistic and atheistic teachings have permeated the state supported universities, especially Ohio State university, Columbus, Ohio university, Athens and Miami university, Oxford, were approved today by the senate rules committee.

Senator Edwards, Licking, was scheduled to sponsor the resolution calling for the investigation, according to plans of the committee which will be introduced this afternoon.

Legislative leaders are confident that the investigation will prove equally as important in unearthing the "boring in" tactics of radical propagandists as the famous Luck investigation in New York.

Appropriations Bill Reported.

COLUMBUS, Mar. 25.—Total appropriations of $71,265,259.45 are carried in the general appropriation bill as reported today for passage by the senate finance committee.

The total is a reduction of $3,723,513.65 from the aggregate of $74,988,773.10 carried in the bill when it passed the house, senator Carpenter, Jefferson county, chairman of the senate committee, explained.

The reduction is accounted for by elimination of all definite appropriations in the bill for state highway maintenance and repairs, and the substitution of a provision appropriating the state's share of the proceeds of the gas tax and auto tag fees for this purpose.

Newman Erb, Wealthy Railroad President, Dies in New York

NEW YORK, March 25.—Newman Erb, millionaire railroad president and copper magnate, died in Roosevelt hospital today, following an operation. He was 75 years old.

Erb was rushed to the hospital Sunday morning when his condition became critical and a delicate operation was performed. He died at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

BANDIT PICKS SEVEN JURORS

Gerald Chapman Directs His Own Defense.

HARTFORD, Conn., March 25.—Gerald Chapman, notorious mail bandit, continued to direct his own defense today on the second day of his trial here charged with the slaying of Policeman James Skelly of New Britain, last October 12. Completion of the jury was expected today by both sides.

As soon as Chapman's handcuffs were removed by the two husky guards who accompany the prisoner to court, Chapman slipped quickly into his chair and talked earnestly to counsel. When the first talesman was called Chapman rested his hands under his chin and trained cold blue eyes on him testingly.

Seven talesmen were quickly examined and eliminated, two drawing challenges from the defense. Lengthy conferences between Chapman and Groehl, preceded each callenge.

The streets surrounding the red brick court house where the bandit is being tried were jammed with curions throngs before the opening of court.

With the report that "Dutch" Anderson, Chapman's pal, who escaped from Atlanta federal prison after Chapman's successful dash for freedom, was in town, a "pilot" was added to the convoy conducting Chapman from the state prison to the court house.

The type of venire men represented in both panels assures Chapman of a "fair trial," according to State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn.

Rump Investigation Into Alleged Trust Operations Abroad

WASHINGTON, March 25.—A "rump" investigation into alleged trust operation of American firms abroad was launched today by the senatorial farm bloc.

The senate group formally called on the federal trade commission for information concerning the nature of combinations formed in foreign territory by American business interests. The request was contained in a letter to the commission, signed by 16 western senators.

The farm bloc members charged American firms with dumping their surplus factory outputs in foreign markets at prices much cheaper than demanded from home consumption. This action, the senators contended, constitutes a violation of the Pomerene export trade act, the anti-trust law for American firms dealing abroad. They also charged this practice has resulted in profiteering at home.

Thousands Honor Memory of Curzon At Funeral Service

LONDON, Mar. 25.—Throngs gathered outside Westminster Abbey and along the line of march of the cortage for the funeral services today for the Marquis of Curzon, Lord President of the privy council and an "Aristocrat of Aristocrats" The services were conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Famous Teapot Dome Trial at Cheyenne Will Close Today

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Mar 25.—The Teapot Dome Equity suit, the most momentous oil litigation ever instituted in the United States swung into its last lap today as George P. Hoover, of Washington, and Martin W. Littleton of New York, defense counsel, argued points of law and lack of conspiracy, respectively, in behalf of Harry F. Sinclair's mammouth oil company, and Owen J. Roberts planned to close the government's case in a summing up late this afternoon.

Hoover will discuss the fundamental principles of law applicable to the issues at stake, while Littleton's oratory is expected to center around an attack upon congress as a result of that body's action in demanding the anulment of a lease which, he will argue, was consummated under an act passed by the legislative body itself. Early plans called for the allotment of two hours' time to Hoover, one and one-half hours to Littleton and a similar period to Roberts, which would bring the famous trial to a close late this afternoon.

MURDER TRIAL OPENS MONDAY

James Gagliardi to Face Court for Alleged Slaying.

James Gagliardi, of Wellsville, charged with murder in the first degree in connection with the slaying of Rocco Benvento, of this city, will go on trial next Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock in common pleas court.

Between 15 and 20 witnesses have been subpoenaed by the state to testify in the case. Probably as many will be called by the defense, it is said.

The state will be represented by Prosecuting Attorney Robert Brookes and his assistant, John E. Baukuecht. The court has assigned former Prosecutor J. C. Hanley of East Liverpool and Attorney George T. Farrell of Lisbon, to represent Gagliardi.

Of the 75 names drawn from the jury wheel for this case, all but 10 have been served by Sheriff George Wright and Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter. These few, it was announced, were out of the county and consequently out of the jurisdiction of the court.

Roots and Herbs Used in Medicine.

The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass., is recognized as the greatest user of roots and herbs in the world. Over half a million pounds are used annually in manufacturing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. These herbs are gathered with the greatest care at the season of the year when the medicinal elements which they contain are at their best. This, in part, accounts for the wonderful efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in restoring ailing women to health and strength.

PARK WORKERS MEET THURSDAY

Final instructions for the Hammond park dollar tag day, which will be observed her Saturday, will be outlined to team captains and their workers at a meeting on Thursday night in the city hall council chamber.

Basing their predictions on attendances at previous meetings and words of encouragement for the project, members of the executive committee today advanced the assertion that Thursday's gathering will bring together one of the most representative bodies of Wellsville citizens ever assembled for any civic cause.

Never in the history of the city, the executive committee declares, has so capable an organization, representing as it does, so many and varied organizations, been formed for the purpose of advancing civic welfare.

The buttons for the tag sale are expected to arrive today from Rochester, N. Y., and these, with receipts and badges will probably be ready for distribution tomorrow evenine.

The commission, through Secretary Grattan V. Dugan, today announced the receipt of a commendatory expression on the park drive from S. E. Daw, superintendent of schools, who says:

"As the park is the property of the city, I feel that your plan of asking all citizens to share in its improvement and upkeep is highly commendable. Most progressive cities have a program for development of parks as a part of their growth and expansion. Any city which fails to make provision for the promotion of public health and wholesome outdoor recreation is lacking in wisdom and foresight. The small cost to each individual citizen of fitting the park as a place for wholesome recreation, will be returned many times in the form of healthy, happy children and a cleaner, better community.

"I bespeak a hearty response from our citizens in this worthy undertaking.

"Respectfully yours,

First Quiets—Then Ends A Cough

That terrible "hack", "hack", "hack" that almost drives you frantic and strains your whole body can be quieted in a jiffy by taking a swallow now and then of that fine old medicine, Kemp's Balsam. It cuts the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membrane and takes away that constant desire to cough, cough, cough. Only 30 cents at all stores.

For that Cough! KEMP'S BALSAM

Is Holding His Own

"Ten years ago I received such wonderful help from your medicine for my stomach trouble that I have recommended it to hundreds of other sufferers. Recently a friend of mine whose brother in a distant city was stricken with acute indigestion and was not expected to live, got his brother to take a bottle on my advice. I have just received word that his brother was holding his own, and I am confident that Mayr's Wonderful Remedy will entirely restore him." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Jesse D. Holloway and druggists everywhere.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Saint of France.

Wide, restless grey like two bewildered birds
Here eyes were troubled with some nameless quest;
She had heard voices, and she could not rest;
She had heard voices crying without words.
And she rose up, and left her father's herd,
And took the path to the hill's blazing crest
And stood, a crimson cross against the west
An instant, and her eyes were homing birds.

She had found peace: and when she came to die
She heard the voices calling her again—
The crackling faggots smouldering on the sky,
And she had made a miracle of pain.
But people who were come to see her die
Remembered only fire and the sky.

Husband Compelled To Wash Clothes of The Star Boarder

FITCHBURG, Mass.—Doing all the chamber work, washing the star boarder's clothes and preparing and serving his meals, all in an endeavor to keep peace in the family, was too much for Gaudias Boucher.

So Boucher is suing his wife, Pamelia, for divorce, alleging unfaithfulness.

Eugene Bonin, of Lowell, was named by Boucher in his testimony in probate court as the "star boarder."

Mrs. Boucher has filed a cross suit for divorce.

Offers City Land.

BUCYRUS—Daniel Aumiller, retired farmer, has offered to deed to the city 30 acres of land, 12 acres within the corporation and the remaining 18 adjacent to it, for park purposes and a public playground. The land is in the southwestern part of the city.

Ireland ships its higher quality food to other countries and buys less expensive products for its own tables.

KIDNEYS MUST HAVE PLENTY OF WATER

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irriate and infiame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obligating you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, cobined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Mayor Assailed.

ELYRIA—Mrs. Mae Friday, councilwoman, attacked Mayor Harry Hinckson at a meeting of city council. She declared that enforcement of the traffic ordinance was practically nullified by the action of the mayor in suspending all, or most of, the fines.

"Woodshed Walloping" for Joy-riders

East Liverpool, which has been suffering from an epidemic of automobile thefts since January 1, during which period 50 cars have been taken from their parking places, used for joy rides and then abandoned, might curb the practice if the example of a Philadelphia court official were emulated.

According to a press dispatch today, an old fashioned "woodshed walloping" was the remedy meted out to two 14-year-old Philadelphia boys for taking liberties with a motor car recently which was not their own.

After a wild ride in an automobile belonging to a clergyman, the boys were sentenced to parental chastisement by the juvenile court judge. The sentences were executed by the respective fathers with the aid of a razor strop and a leather belt, while the probation officer looked on.

If the "woodshed walloping" idea were more popular in some East Liverpool homes, there would be less loafing in poolrooms and on street corners on the part of cigarette-smoking school boys who are on the alert for some means of "killing time" and usually turn their attention to parked automobiles.

In other words, the police worries will be lessened if parents resort to the old fashioned, but effective method, of punishing reckless youths.

Strong Children

Theodore Marangos, aged 3, living on the fifth floor of a New York tenement, caused a traffic jam and a near-riot in his street the other day. And all quite innocently.

Little Theodore, feeling the spring in his veins, had opened the window and crawled out onto the ledge in the warm sunshine. He looked down, and the prospect looked good to him. He would go exploring in the only region available. He dangled his fat little legs over the edge and started down the wall, hanging on with his hands. But somehow there were not enough footholds on that particular wall, so he just dangled. He wasn't scared. But he couldn't manage to get either up or down.

Somebody below saw him, and yelled. Soon the whole neighborhood was yelling. Men rushed up five flights of stairs, smashed open the door, jumped to the window and pulled Theodore in. He had been hanging there 10 minutes and was a bit tired. But not dismayed. He stubbornly refused to cry, as a baby should under such conditions.

"Me strong as Dumpsey!" he declared stoutly.

A certain other lad, aged 8, of pure American parentage, must have a strain of kinship to the little immigrants' child. When remonstrated with for carrying heavy loads of coal, wood, etc., he invariably answers: "But I've go to do it. Don't you know I've got to make myself strong?"

And the children are strong. Despite all the tales of deterioration, the newest generation of American stock, both imported and domestic, is growing up more vigorous than the last generation, with a surprising amount of physical and moral courage.

As Others See Us in Films

An authority on the American moving picture industry stated recently that now every film we are seeing here in America is sent right over to Europe so that "the people there are seeing exactly just what we are seeing, the best films made." This statement was supposed to be an answer to the often heard complaint that undesirable American films were being shown abroad. It rally answers that statement only by saying that American films abroad are just as good as American films at home. And movie critics have been saying lately that films are very much improved in the last year or two.

Perhaps the reason why American tourists abroad are ashamed of the American movies they see in foreign cities is that when away from home memory idealizes all things American. This idealization is then considerably jarred by pictures which portray American life as revolving around wild parties, exaggerated night life, wild west shooting frays and similar trite movie scenes. Such things are not typical of America. Seen in this country, they are merely amusing of boresome according to the mood of the spectator. Seen in a foreign land, they are shocking because they are false.

If tourists want more truthful portrayals of all-round American life in the pictures they see abroad, they should start the demand in their native land.

Incomes Preferred

A British judge has suggested a new line of speculation by ruling that if betting winnings are profits, and therefore assessable for income tax returns, the income tax officials would have to grant a rebate when losses occurred.

A British newspaper immediately carries the idea only a little farther and suggests that a logical reasoning from that basis would require the government to refund to a man who had lost his job the amount of income tax he would have paid had he held it.

Without bothering to locate the flaw in such attractive logic, any income tax payer in this country, with the reduced rates now in effect, would rather have the job and the income than any such tax refund.

Having set four husbands adrift, one of our leading movie ladies starts in appropriately by marryng her fifth in mid-ocean.

General Dawes may find that reconstructing Europe was a cinch compared with reconstructing the United States senate.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

PARIS, March 25.—Gambling houses are operated here under goverment license. The most luxurious of the lot is on the Rue de la Paix over Dunhill's tobacco shop. My cicerone was an American whom I suspect is a runner for the establishment.

The visitor must sign a police card giving his name, year he was born, occupation and other intimate details. The card goes to the prefect of police. Formal dress is required. The place is known as a club and regulations are strict.

A police official stands at each table. Loud talk is forbidden. The patron may not take a drink at the gaming table. He must go to the bar in another part of the establishment. Women are not permitted in gambling rooms, although there is a reception room where they may wait for those who gamble.

A ten course dinner with wine and cigars is served free. So far as I could determine there was not an American at the tables. The stakes are high and under the brilliant lights was a sea of pale faces.

The croupiers interested me. Every pocket in their clothes is sewed up. Each night before they leave they are searched by an inspector. They are not permitted to have cuffs on their trousers. Their pay in tips is high for France. They average $30 a night.

I saw the son of a famous Parisian jeweler lose $2,000 at baccarat in about two seconds. He fainted. If a patron has extremely heavy losses he is not permitted to leave the building alone. He is followed to the sidewalk. The idea is to prevent suicide on the premises.

There are about 22 of these clubs in Paris. The proprietors grow rich by exacting the unfailing rake-off.

On a sunny day Paris flowers are out in gay habiliments. But on rainy days the drabness is reflected in dress. Consequently when I wore a light suit under leaden skies my American friends told me I was a mild affront to the French. I hope diplomatic relations will not be strained.

In an absent-minded moment I dropped a telegramme pneumatic in a mail box at my hotel. I told the concierge about it, hoping that when the mail carrier came and opened the box he would be able to retrieve it. Instead the concierge took a long ruler and patiently fished every letter out of the box. The last one was mine. He dropped the rest back into the slot. In America such tampering would, if discovered, send a man to jail. The concierge made no effort at secrecy.

The muffled footbeats of market horses at midnight is somehow soothing. In the front seat the driver is almost invariably sound asleep. His horse knows the way. And you soon learn to love these animals. There is so much patient resignation about them as they plod along with their carts of carrots, cabbages and other vegetables.

A regular Normandy rain struck Paris today. It was slanting and as opacue as a curtain. In a neighboring courtyard an old man with a fanlike beard has been sitting on a bench for two hours. I called a floor waiter to find out why he exposed himself to the torrents. "He always sits out in the rain," he replied. But he did not know the reason why. Paris—ever unexplainable.

The farm peasant resembles a balloon about to soar. His blue blouse is heavily starched and puffs out from his body. The collars and cuffs are embroidered. His body is gnarled from unceasing toil. He seems a pastel of woe.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A Code to Govern Aviation.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Within the next few weeks there will be promulgated an American aeronautical safety code which is calculated to do for air travel what the Hoover conference sought to do for safety on the streets and highways of the country.

The code has already been drawn up in the form of reports from ten committees composed of specialists, including the foremost engineering and aviation experts in America. The work of drafting the code was done under the auspices of the bureau of standards and the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Back in 1920 these two bodies were selected by the engineering standards committee as the organization most competent to draw up a set of rules that would not only standardize the construction of aircraft as to material tests of durability and safety qualities, but also regulate every phase of aerial navigation.

The committees have been at work on the problem during the last year in a quiet, unobtrusive, but very effective way, and the mass of proposals that they have formulated is the best answer to the oft-heard charge that the country has been asleep on the vital question of military and commercial aviation.

The engineering standards committee will convene next month with a view to the adoption of the aeronautical safety code. There may be minor changes, but the general expectation is that the code as now drafted by the various committees will stand and become the basis for a national law of the air.

For a long time the feeling has been abroad that because of constant experimentation and the absence of clearly defined standards of construction and safeguards for air travel, this country has been paying too heavy a price in constantly recurring fatalities. After a survey of these and a comparison of them with the minimum hazard incident to aerial travel, the conclusion was reached that a body of rules similar to the code now proposed was the most urgent requirement for a developing national air policy.

Coming at a time when the question of aircraft is looming large before the country, the formulation of an aeronautical safety code has much significance. The sponsor organizations are confident that it will make for extensive developments in military and commercial aviation in the years immediately ahead and that it will take flying definitely and for all time out of the experimental stage.

The code is primarily intended to promote safety in the air and to reduce the risk to the minimum by providing that every machine that leaves the ground is as mechanically perfect as possible under any given set of conditions and also that the pilot must in every case be able to pass the strictest mental and physical examination.

An Official Handbook.

It will, however, do much more than bring a greater element of safety into flying. By fixing definite standards of construction as well as tests, manufacturers of aircraft will have for the first time an official handbook setting forth specifications in accordance with the code. With such a handbook the problem of production in time of emergency would be more than half solved and the spending of gigantic sums for nothing more than mere experimentation by amateur builders, as happened during the World war, would be avoided.

Perhaps the most important aspect of the air code is the extent to which its adoption will serve to develop commercial aviation in the United States. As compared with other large countries, this country has lagged woefully behind in aerial transportation, notwithstanding the fact that America led the world in the development of flying and although American aviators have made a path around the globe. Except for the air mail service, which is establishing new records every day, little or nothing has yet been done by this country to make the airplane subserve the needs of commerce. We have nothing comparable to the big European companies doing an international business in passenger and freight carrying.

American capital has at all times been ready to develop transportation by air and to establish lanes of commerce through the clouds, but it is faced with a condition of chaos as far as laws and regulations are concerned. The public has no guarantee of protection. The merest tyro in the art of flying can "take off," take passengers and take his chances. The condition resembles that which would exist on the railroads if an ordinary mechanic could take a train and run it as best he could on a road without a protected right-of-way, without block signals and without an orderly dispatching system. This situation has reacted seriously on public sentiment as regards civil aeronautics.

The lack of development in this field is in no way due to unwillingness on the part of the American public to patronize such air routes as such. As a matter of fact, Americans constitute a very considerable part of the passenger traffic of European companies.

In order to assure that every phase of the subject would be covered in the proposed code, the whole field of mechanical and inventive genius was combed. Industry responded wholeheartedly and put its experts at the disposal of the bureau of standards and the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Various bureaus of the government interested in aviation delegated experts to the committees engaged in drafting the code. The bureau of standards itself furnished several, while the army air service, the bureau of aeronautics of the navy department, the air mail service, the weather bureau, the United States coast guard and the national advisory committee for aeronautics participated actively in the work.

Ten Subjects Considered.

The reports submittted took up the following 10 major subjects: Airplane structure, power plants, signalling equipment, airdromes and airways, traffic and pilotage rules, balloons, airships and parachutes.

One of the most interesting sections of the code deals with the question of the safety of the public. It is specifically set forth that airplanes must always avoid large assemblages of people. This provision is interesting in view of an incident that occurred in Washington a few years ago. During the unveiling of the Lincoln Memorial one of the airplanes, in course of its maneuvering, came so close to the ground that it all but precipitated a panic among the throng of people assembled on the scene of the celebration. In fact, there was talk at the time of disciplining the aviator in charge of the machine.

The precautions taken against such an occurrence are so detailed in the new code that definite altitude limits are fixed which depend in each instance on the size of the town or community over which the plane in flight may be moving. For instance, flight over small villages or towns must not be at a height less than 1,000 feet; while the flight over cities with a dimension of 10 miles across the thickly populated sections must not be at a height less than five thousand feet.

Another important provision is that relating to right-of-way. To appreciate the significance of this provision it is only necessary to recall that some of the worst tragedies of the air, both here and on the European battlefields during the World war, were caused by the collision of two airplanes, resulting in most cases in instantaneous explosion.

The committee on traffic and pilotage stipulated 1,500 feet as the safety zone which two planes in flight must maintain between each other to avoid "dangerous proximity." No aircraft must pass another by diving below it or climbing above it. Two planes approaching head on must pass each other by swerving in all cases to the right. In the case where one plane overtakes another, the overtaking plane must pass on the right. Airships always have the right of way over airplanes because of the much greater mobility of the heavier-than-air craft. So exhaustive are the regulations on this particular question of right-of-way as almost to preclude the danger of collision, if the pilot follows the air code.

The code provides that airways and airdromes be mapped out and co-ordinated with the same regularity as the railroad lines and their terminals are mapped out today. Airdromes at regular intervals, with the proper facilities for aircraft maintenance, are among the prime requisites in any program looking to the development of commercial aeronautics. It was, therefore, recommended that a first or second class airdrome should be available at important centers 200 miles apart and emergency airdromes at distances not greater than 25 miles along the line of flight on an airway. Radio towers are to be constructed in conjunction with airdromes in order that fuller use may be made of radio communication as an instrument of safety.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 25.—A belle in early life—social queen at middle age; then, to the bitter end, a recluse, a miser—for almost 40 years the most mysterious human being in a great city.

That is the outline of the story of love and loneliness, luxury and drudgery, social prominence and then a wilful outcast.

It began 83 years ago in Germany, took for its second scene New York city, and climaxed in this city.

Bertha Sherf, who in her maiden life was Bertha Elffle, is dead at her home here, in a once aristocratic quarter. For 40 years Bertha Sherf lived in that house, alone much of the time, except for the companionship she found in a dozen dogs, numerous cats and canaries. Seldom did she leave its protecting roof—and never did any one know why she preferred to live in seclusion.

Bertha Sherf came to Knoxville, a very young girl, when her parents moved from the great metropolis. She was beautiful, many times being termed the town's most popular young lady. After a gay debutante season she met, was wooed and won by John Sherf, then a rising young man. They were happy and prospered rapidly.

Sherf built Knoxville's finest hotel in the days immediately following the Civil war, and he acquired much other property amassing what was then considered a sizable fortune.

Then the Sherfs decided to conquer other fields and they moved to Columbus, Ga., where they started hotels booming, still retaining their holdings in the Tennesse city. Shortly thereafter John Sherf died and was buried in Columbus.

Bertha Sherf returned to her adopted city and called upon a sister, her only remaining relative, to come from Chicago to live with her. Mrs. Augusta Gratz, the sister, was among the leaders of Chicago's "500" 40 years ago. But little is known of her here.

The two sisters, then under 50, moved into one of the Sherf properties and there remained together until Mrs. Gratz died some years ago.

From that time on Bertha Sherf's sole companions were her pets. Not more than twice did any living soul, except during the most recent months, pass into that ghostly place she called home. On these occasions Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Kyle, the doctor being a city physician, called upon Mrs. Sherf and won her friendship—and the doctor and his wife were her sole visitors.

From Dr. Kyle Mrs. Sherf exacted a promise that he would chloroform all the pets she owned — and almost immediately upon her death he complied with that request.

Thousands upon thousands have stepped to the threshold of that old mansion—now surrounded on all sides by imposing structures—only to be turned back by the plunging of a savage beast either against the door or a shuttered window.

Dr. Kyle announced the passing of the old lady and made known her peculiar request that the dogs be chloroformed. She was laid to rest beside her sister in one of the few remaining vacant plots in an old cemetery here.

Examination of the house revealed numerous cedar chests, filled to capacity with old relics—souvenirs, photographs and clothes worn 60 years ago—unsoiled, unfaded. Flashy, multicolored gowns, with ruffles and frills that only a leader in the day of their fashion could afford; silk dresses, neatly folded, pressed and laid away; a photograph of the original Sherf home in this city, surrounded by flower gardens that only a landscape gardener could produce; fish aquariums and bird huts—not more than a dozen of the oldest citizens can recollect that magnificent place.

Other things found among her possessions were numerous deeds to property, very valuable now, some railroad stock certificates and other valuables that would have provided her with all the luxury an elderly person could ask for.

Mrs. R. J. Shepherd Hostess.

An enjoyable meeting was held yesterday by members of the Renaissance club in the home of Mrs. R. J. Shepherd of Thompson avenue. A five course dinner was served at 6 o'clock by the hostess, aided by Mrs. H. D. Faulk, Mrs. F. W. Herche, Mrs. Henry Williams and Miss Smith. The appointments of the table were carried out in Easter effect, a color scheme of yellow and white predominating. Favors were given each guest.

The social hours were spent with fancywork and radio music.

Special guests included Mrs. C. O. Davis, Miss Agnes Pfisterer, Mrs. W. B. Dalrymple of Chester, and Mrs. Paul Kinsey of Wellsville.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, April 9, in the home of Mrs. Henry Williams of Grant street.

Miss Lowe Entertains.

Miss Mary Lowe pleasantly entertained the members of the J. J. club last evening in her home in Avondale street. Games, radio music and dancing were the diversions. In a novelty contest, trophies were presented Miss Nellie Chetwynd and Miss Marian Smith. Miss Nellie Chetwynd presided at the piano. A luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Arthur Lowe, and Miss Elsie Glenn. A large birthday cake centered the table, honoring Miss Grace Chetwynd, a member of the club, whose birthday it was. Miniature baby dolls were given as favors. Covers were arranged for Misses Grace and Nellie Chetwynd, Ruth Robinson, Marian Smith, Edith Bailey, Elsie Glenn, and Mary Lowe.

In two weeks the club will be entertained in the home of Miss Elsie Glenn of Ambrose avenue.

Amoma Class Elects Officers.

The Amoma class of the First Baptist church, meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Ibbs of Jefferson street, elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Robert Ibbs; vice president, Miss Leona Mundy; secretary, Miss Cecil Higgins; assistant secretary, Mrs. Ina Pace; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Lambright; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Geraldine Mundy; reporter, Miss Ruth Beaver; pianist, Miss Inez Wright; chairman of prayer meetings, Miss Leona Mundy; chairman of the lookout committee, Mrs. Geraldine Mundy; chairman of the social committee, Mrs. Dorsey Smith; chairman of the sick committee, Miss Leona Mundy; chairman of the flower committee, Mrs. Marie Woods; chairman of literature, Miss Edna Higby. Mrs. Charles Aley was re-elected teacher.

Following the business session, informal social hours were enjoyed, during which refreshments were served by Mrs. Ibbs, assisted by Mrs. Aley.

Club Federation Banquet.

The banquet to be given Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. by the City Federation of Women's Clubs will be served promptly at 6 o'clock, it was announced today.

Mrs. Margaret Allman of Canton, president of the Ohio Federated Clubs, a special guest, will make an address on the work being done by the federation. While here Mrs. Allman will be the guest of Mrs. Robert E. Spencer of Park boulevard.

Miss Weaver is Hostess

In her home in Pennsylvania avenue last evening, Miss Mildred Weaver pleasantly entertained the members of the Helen Gould Literary club. Roll call responses were names of famous scientists. Mrs. Alfred Stoddard's topic was "Ancient Glass," Miss Helen Lewis gave a talk on "Vitamines, What They Are and in What Foods They Are Found."

At the close of the program, a luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Dale Thompson. Covers were arranged for 16 guests.

During a short business session the club members voted to contribute $5 to the health committee of the club federation and $10 to the tornado relief fund.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Miss Elizabeth Bloor of May street.

Missionary Society Musicale

The Young Woman's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist Protestant church will entertain with a musicale Friday evening, March 27, beginning at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to attend. A silver offering will be taken.

McBride-Bevan Wedding.

Announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Margaret McBride, daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Hilton of Railroad street, to David Bevan, son of Mrs. Vincent McIntosh, also of Railroad street. The ceremony took place yesterday at high noon in the parsonage of the Second United Presbyterian church, with the pastor, Rev. J. O. Campbell, officiating.

The bride wore a traveling costume of navy blue, with hat and shoes of gray. Her corsage was of bride's roses and sweetpeas.

The young couple left last evening for an eastern honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside in the home of the bride's mother. The bridegroom is employed at the Harker pottery.

Odd Fellows Notice.

All Odd Fellows are requested to meet at the I. O. O. F. Temple West 6th street, this evening at 7 o'clock sharp, to attend the funeral services of Brothers James Waggle and Henry Tasker.

By order of Noble Grand.

Community Club Program.

The Community club of East End met last evening in the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ, when the following program, arranged by the entertainment committee, with Mrs. Hattie Powell as chairman, was presented:

Song—Assembly.
Reading—Miss Ethelyn Davis.
Duet—Misses Jessie and Virginia Cunningham.
Reading—Miss Margaret O'Rourke.
Piano solo—Miss Louella Flint.
Duet—Mrs. Edna Miller and Miss Geneva Ada.
Reading—Miss Dorothy Welsh.
Vocal solo—Mrs. Edna Miller, accompanied by Miss Louella Flint.

Following the program, a miscellaneous shower was given in honor of the recent marriage of Mrs. Harry Jackson, nee Ella Bailey. Mrs. Jackson received many gifts.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, March 31. This will be a closed business session.

Hostess To Symphony Club.

Miss Lydian Bennett was hostess last evening to the members of the Symphony club in her home in Jackson street, with Miss Thelma Ankrim as her associate.

The topic for discussion was "Hymnology." Mrs. C. R. Risinger told of the non-Christian hymns. Mrs. C. A. Ferguson discussed Hebrew music. Miss Ethel Peterson sang the 83rd Psalm. Miss Irene Firth's topic was "The New Testament and Latin Hymns. Mrs. E. E. Dornan gave the names of the early Protestant hymns and Mrs. W. A. Gerber sang a hymn in German, "God is True." Miss Ann Welsh told of Greek hymn writers and Miss Thelma Ankrim sang "From Greenlands Icy Mountains."

THE ART OF MAKING BREAKFAST TOAST
There is a certain amount of skill required in making really good breakfast toast, but the important point is the use of good bread.
Good bread makes all the difference in the world. Betty Brown bread is best for every purpose. You will find it just fine for making golden-brown toast in the morning.
It's firm, even texture, its appetizing crust, are things you will want to cheer about, once you have tried this famous bread.
Take home a loaf tonight and learn for yourself what really extra fine bread is.

RED MACK Is Coming

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Deserted By Wife In Hour of Need

Loyalty and tolerance—it seems to me that these are the two greatest factors in a successful marriage. Most wives and mothers possess loyalty, fewer of them practice tolerance towards their husbands. Of course, husbands are also defective in these respects, too. Here is a case where I think the wife is in error in failing to stand back of her husband in his hour of need:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Until a few months ago my husband and I were happy. We owned our home, a motor car, and did not owe anybody a cent. We have two lovely children. Now I am wretchedly unhappy. I have left my husband and gone to my mother's with my children. My husband went in with another man in an enterprise that took all of the money we had on hand. The other man has a very pretty wife, who won't let other women's husbands alone. I konw that my husband went to dinner with her a few times, but I don't think he made love to her. I knew about it at the time and asked him not to go out with her, but he went any way, saying that he had to for the sake of the business. A month ago there was a terrible scene between my husband and his partner in which the latter accused my husband of being a wife-stealer. My husband didn't tell me about it—some one else did. For the children's sake I didn't make a scene with him, hoping that the incident would end the affair. But with my husband and his partner in a terrible mind towards each other, their enterprise was neglected, and a few days ago it failed. Now the other man threatens to sue my husband for alienation of affections and wrecking the business. I felt that I couldn't stand it, and I couldn't stand having the children talked about by other children, so I came here to my mother's home. My husband begged me not to go, declaring that he was innocent, but he has not written me since I've been here. I'm afraid he has gone to drinking. My mother says I shouldn't go back ever, but I'm in doubt. What would you do? L. R.

As long as there is any doubt regarding your husband's innocence, your place is at his side. It is possible that he was not having an affair with the other woman, and that the other man misunderstood. I would advise you to leave your children with your mother for the time being and go back to your husband. In the eyes of the community your husband is guilty, because you have left him. Go back to him and it will help him put up a braver front. And do not let the matter ruin your future happiness. If the community insists on ostracizing you and your husband, then move to another one.

Fears Teacher-Husband is a Flirt.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 20 years of age. I married at the age of 18. My husband is a teacher. I am not sure, but I think he is flirting with one of his pupils and i tworries me night and day, although he is good to me and does everything he can for me. We live right at the schoolhouse and I watch him and it seems that every chance they get they are together, especially every evening after school. I love my husband and I don't want to do anything that will cause separation. We have only one child and he is seven months old. I think my husband is planning to take me to my father's to spend the summer so that he can take a business course, and I think he is working to get this girl too so that they can be together. Please give me your opinion on this.

WORRIED.

My dear, you are letting your thoughts dwell in dangerous channels and you are literally looking for trouble. Things don't seem right to you and yet you have no facts to prove that they are otherwise. In worrying as you are doing you are really disloyal to your husband. Go to your father's for the summer and give your husband your cheerful cooperation in the study he is planning. Since your husband is a teacher you will have to be particularly careful to watch yourself in regard to jealousy, because there will be many occasions when you might misconstrue innocent actions for disloyalty to you and your child.

Robbed of Independence by Wife's Parents.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a man of 24 and married to a girl two years younger than myself. I suppose I ought to be pleased. Her mother is always buying her dresses and this winter her father bought her a fur coat. Anything she wants they buy her. So much more money is spent every month than I earn that I don't think it is fair. I would like to see what we would do on our own income, but it is helpless. Instead of coming to me for money my wife goes to her father. Now her father has offered me a position as road salesman at a salary a good deal larger than I am earning at present. I know he would not pay any of his other salesmen so much, but would like to see his son-in-law making more money. I don't want to accept it because I prefer to be independent, but when I talk of refusing my wife won't listen to it. I know that I have a future where I am, but it is going to take time to work my way up. I don't like to appear ungrateful and make my wife think I am mean and unreasonable, but I would like to take a stand for what I believe to be right. What would you advise me to do?

TROUBLED THOMAS.

Make a positive stand for what you believe to be right. It is unfair for your wife's people to insist on taking away your independence. Of course they think they are doing you a kindness, but their point of view is wrong. Make your own way in the world and even if you do not earn so much money where you are as through your father-in-law, you will have the satisfaction of knowing you deserve what you are paid. It would not be unreasonable in the least if you refused to let your wife accept so much. Such a stand, however, would only make hard feelings and I think you will gain more in the end in the way of happiness if you overlook that part of it.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

HOUSE PASSES LOAN MEASURE

Proposal Designated to Curb Sharks Given Approval.

The Weiss-Wilken loan shark bill, designated in the house of delegates as house bill 442, was passed by the house yesterday by a vote of 64 to 29 after the measure had been attacked by a number of delegates from the floor.

The bill provides that no more than three and one-half percent per month be charged for loans of $300 or less.

Delegates Septimus Hall of Wetzel county, who on Monday had supported the bill on the amendment stage, opened the attack on its provisions when it came before the house on its passage. He declared several abuses might grow out of passage of the bill.

Delegates Weiss of Ohio county and Robinson of Harrison spoke in favor of the bill, declaring that the law was not an experiment, that it has been tried out in 20 states and has accomplished the purpose for which it was designed. Dr. Robinson read a letter from the Indiana banking department favorable to the bill and declaring it was fair both to the borrower and to the lender. "There is no limit to the amount the loan sharks can charge under the present law," he asserted.

Delegate Street interposed by saying that he had known loan sharks to charge as high as 33 percent for small loans.

Delegate King of Nicholas led the opposition to the bill. He said the present law protects the borrower against usury, pointing out that the borrower could go into courts and recover any excess of six per cent paid for the loan of money.

"If you pass this bill you open the way to usury," Mr. King declared.

In reply, Delegate Bayer of Berkley county asserted that relief could only be obtained by instituting a civil suit and the small borrower is not inclined to take such steps.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEET SCHEDULED

Plans have been completed for the Grant District Young People's conference to be held this evening in the First Presbyterian church. The meeting will open at 6:30 when supper will be served during which brief talks will be made.

Rev. A. E. Sims, pastor of the First Christian church, will deliver the principal address of the evening which will follow the supper. Others who will make addresses include Miss Mable Mosser, Newell; Homer Devit, Chester, and Herbert Mills, Pughtown. Scripture lesson will be read by James Miller of Chester.

Delegates are expected to attend from every church in the district.

WOMAN IS GIVEN PRISON SENTENCE

Mary Clarke, negress, recently of Short Creek, Brooke county, will spend the next year of her life in the state penitentiary at Moundsville. Her incarceration in the big prison began yesterday afternoon after she was found guilty in Brooke county circuit court before Judge J. B. Sommerville of shooting with intent to kill.

According to testimony given at the trial, the woman shot and seriously wounded her husband about a month ago following an argument at a negro dance near Short Creek.

SPECIAL SERMON HERE TONIGHT

Rev. B. H. Pocock, pastor of the Nazarene church, will deliver the first of a series of special sermons this evening on "How I Was Converted, Sanctified, Called To Preach and Established in Grace, or My Own Experiences." These sermons will have special importance to young converts, according to an announcement made by Rev. Pocock.

Is This To Be a Gland Age?

IN A recent press dispatch, a London physician stated that the Golden Age of Man bids fair to be the glandular age. Salvation will be taken in tablet form. He said further that the average man believes that his thoughts, actions and feelings are controlled by his mind. But it is possible to show that mind is itself under the despotic sway of the ductless glands, which generate in the system the chemical fluids on which depend health, happiness and morality.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, which is prepared in convenient tablet form, for men and women, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic. Mathew's Cut Rate Store will supply you.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau can not give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. What per cent of children finish high school?—E. H.

A. Of the students entering the first grade, 13.9 per cent graduate from high school.

Q. Why are London fogs less severe than they used to be?—F. W.

A. It is probably due to the increasing use of electricity in the place of soft coal. London fog is dry fog due principally to the condensation of aqueous vapor upon the innumerable particles floating in the air in the smoke from soft coal fires.

Q. Will a snake that is frozen stiff during the winter come to life in the spring?—J. J.

A. The Biological Survey says that this is possible. Snakes, however, that thaw quickly do not survive but if the thawing process is slow they again become quite active.

Q. How high do ocean waves get?—R. R. K.

A. Waves rarely attain a greater height than 50 feet, but they appear to be much higher when seen from a ship. The ship rolls towards the waves, hence the increasing apparent height.

Q. Does the Postmaster General come before or after the Secretary of the Navy in order of succession?—T. S. D.

A. The order is: Secretary of State, Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary of War, Attorney General, Postmaster General, Secretary of the Navy.

Q. What are the religious affiliations of the publishers and editors of the Literary Digest?—L. E. N.

A. The publisher of the Literary Digest says that practically all religious creeds are represented on the staff of the Digest.

Q. How large must a community be to become a city?—R. S.

A. The size of population is not a determining factor on regard to a city. A city is a municipal corporation possessing the power to sue and to be sued, to acquire, hold and dispose of property, to enact ordinances, to raise money by taxation and to exercise the right of eminent domain.

Q. Do poets ever compose their poetry in an inverted order of stanzas?—S. E. D.

A. Wadsworth and Edgar Allen Poe are examples of poets who occasionally wrote the last stanza of a poem, first. "We are Seven" and "The Raven" were so composed.

Q. What acid when dropped or put on iron or steel will eat it away?—B. S.

A. Hydrochloric acid, nitric acid, sulphuric acid and ferric chloride are some of the chemicals which eat iron and steel.

Q. Is the pole cat found in countries other than North America?—D. E. V.

A. A true pole cat is the largest of European martens and is found particularly in the rural districts of Great Britain. The pole cat of the Americas is the skunk and that of South Africa is a badger.

Q. How many post offices are there in the United States?—R. F. I.

A. Reporting on January 1, 1925, in all four classes, but not including substations, there were 51,113.

Q. How much does it cost for electricity for an electric curler one half hour a day?—R. M.

A. The cost of using an electric curler a specified time is dependent upon the type of curler used, and the rate per kilowatt hour for electricity in your vicinity. A local electric company informs us that the cost per half hour for a curler consuming 25 watts would be approximately one-tenth of a cent.

Q. In examinations for railway postal clerks, what is the basis for correction of papers?—H. T.

A. The Civil Service Commission says the railway postal clerk examination is now based on the intelligence tests. By this they mean that all examinations are corrected according to rights and wrongs. A certain number of errors equal 100 and deductions and credits are given accordingly. The general tests and mail tests are not the same. In correcting examinations of mail tests the rate of 6 is allowed while in general tests the rate of 4 is allowed.

QQ. When should maple trees be trimmed?—N. A. F.

A. Early June is the best time

LEVIED TAXES NOT COLLECTED

Title to Many Properties in County Clouded, Reports Show.

That title to many properties in Columbiana county are clouded has been brought to light because of the enormous amount of money remaining unpaid as special assessments against such properties. These special assessments in the main have been levied against properties for street and sewer improvements, and although they were suppose to have been paid within a five-year period, many assessments either in part or whole remain unpaid on the books of the county treasurer.

The clouding of the title develops where assessments are unpaid and the owner of the property disposes of the tract as if it was clear of all obligations when in fact such is not the case.

It has been pointed out that while special assessments have been levied against properties by municipal authorities, the latter make no effort to collect these assessments, other than to list it against the property on the county duplicate. Sometimes these assessments are paid at the usual tax paying period and sometimes they are not.

County treasurers of Ohio have declared they are not collectors of taxes, but are "receivers" of such funds. As the situation has developed this year, thousands of dollars in special assessments supposed to have been paid during the last few years are still outstanding.

Last year between $20,000 and $30,000 in personal taxes was collected after the regular tax paying period. Other thousands remain unpaid.

A plan is now being worked out in this county whereb oth special assessments and personal taxes will be collected before the June settlement. The subject has been given more than passing discussion by the county commissioners, as a rather large amount of money is due the county from assessments against property owners following inter-county highway improvements and which have not been "checked off."

To secure the collection of special city and county road assessments would give both the county and the municipalities of the county a rather large amount of money which could be used in the extension of other improvement programs. It has also been said that to have title cleared to property, owners should immediately ascertain whether assessments against the realty has been cancelled.

ROAD WIDENING WORK TO START

The state highway department is making preliminary arrangements for the widening of the Lisbon-Salem road in Centre township. Road building material has been delivered on the Y. & O. siding at the Fairground stop and trucks are now distributing this material along the road from the north corporate line of the village of Lisbon. It is not likely that this road will be closed to traffic while it is being widened, but motor car drivers will be urged to use extreme caution while driving over the sections of road where widening is in progress.

Sale of Automobile Results in Court Action Being Filed

The sale of an automobile by E. H. Althouse, of 103 East Pershing avenue, Salem, to John E. Smith June 27, last, has reached common pleas court, Smith filing an action through his attorney, K. L. Coburn, to recover $1,700 from Althouse.

The petition discloses that Smith bought from the defendant a car for $1,400. He traded in another machine at $900 and borrowed $500 from the Salem Finance company to pay the balance of the cost.

It was represented to Smith, so he says in his petition that the purchased car was a demonstrator. He also says that he later learned that the car was in a wreck on the Damascus road November 11, 1923, and that the car was owned by Simon Burson, of Dover, O., and that the speedometer had either been set back or disconnected to deceive the plaintiff. He also says that he has received no bill of sale, and that because of the damage that has been done him and the money he has been compelled to spend he seeks a judgment for $1,700.

WORD OF A FRIEND PROVES TRUE TO WARREN, O., WOMAN

Finds Relief from Kidney Trouble After Having Suffered for Two Years—Another Victory for Ka-di-ok.

MISS DOROTHY DEMPSTER

Miss Dorothy Dempster, residing at 106 South Vine street, Warren, O., and employed at the Atlas China Company Pottery at Niles, O., is glad she took the advice of friends in regard to her health, as she declares had she not done so she would not be enjoying good health today.

For two years past Miss Dempster suffered from kidney trouble, with pains across the back, was very nervous, and her rest was frequently disturbed. Her appetite was poor, and she felt all fagged out in the morning after arising. Upon the advice of friends she began taking Ka-di-ok, and the improvement was noted after the first bottle. To a Ka-di-ok representative she stated she now feels much better, no more pains in the back, appetite is good, and she sleeps all night. She has no hesitancy in recommending Ka-di-ok to her friends, as she believes in passing a good thing along the line, especially when the act is influenced by humanitarian motives.

While it may appear so to many, there is nothing remarkable about Miss Dempster's improvement in health. Ka-di-ok is a herbal remedy, a laxative tonic, and is greatly to be relied upon in stomach ailments, such as indigestion, loss of appetite, flatulency, gas on the stomach, usually causing heart pains, as well as for rheumatism, sleeplessness, bad blood, autointoxication, etc. Others should heed the experience above cited, and begin at once taking Ka-di-ok.

Ka-di-ok is sold and recommended in East Liverpool by Mathew's Cut Rate Medicine Store, 129 West Sixth street.

A Romance of the Spanish Main

CAPTAIN BLOOD

by RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS.

Captain Peter Blood is the terror of the Spaniards who sail the Spanish Main. He loves Arabella Bishop, niece of the governor of Barbadoes, who is aboard the Royal Mary which bears Lord Julian Wade to the West Indies to make peace with piracy. Lord Wade tells Arabella of Blood's reputation and that he is about to wed Madelon d'Ogeron, daughter of the Dutch governor of Tortuga. The Spanish ship, Milagrosa, sinks the Royal Mary and Arabella and Wade are taken prisoners.

"I am Don Miguel de Espinosa," he answered. "Admiral of the navies of the Catholic King."

"Will you tell me, then, why you behave like a damned pirate?" Lord Julian asked. "It will cost you dear!"

"All things are possible. Meantime it is your own lives that will cost you dear. Colonel Bishop is a rich man; and you, milord, are no doubt also rich. I will consider and fix your ransom."

"And you have the impudence to call yourself the Admiral of the navies of the Catholic King!" stormed his lordship.

"It is that I treat you English heretic dogs just as you English heretic dogs have treated Spaniards upon the seas, you robbers and thieves out of hell! I have the honesty to do it in my own name, but you, you perfidious beasts, you send your Captain Bloods, your Hagthorpes and your Morgans against us and disclaim responsibility for what they do."

"Captain Blood and the rest are not admirals of England!" cried Lord Julian.

"Are they not? How do I know? How does Spain know? Are you not liars all, you English heretics?"

"Sir!" Lord Julian's voice was harsh as a rasp, his eyes flashed. Instinctively he swung a hand to the place where his sword habitually hung. Then he shrugged and sneered: "Of course," said he, "it sorts with all I have heard of Spanish honor and all that I have seen of yours that you should insult a man who is unarmed and your prisoner."

"'Look,' said Miss Bishop, pointing, 'she is English, and she comes resolutely on.'"

The admiral's face flamed scarlet. He half raised his hand to strike. And then, restrained, perhaps, by the very words that had cloaked the retorting insult, he turned on his heel abruptly, and went out without answering.

The Milagrosa, with her consort, the Hidalga, rolling after her, steered a south by westerly course, then veered to the southeast, round Cape Tiburon, and thereafter, standing well out to sea, with the land no more than a cloudy outline to larboard, she headed directly east, and so ran straight into the arms of Captain Blood, who was making for the Windward Passage. That happened early on the following morning. After having systematically hunted his enemy in vain for a year, Don Miguel chanced upon him in this unexpected and entirely fortuitous fashion. It was also the way of Fortune that Don Miguel should thus come upon the Arabella at a time when, separated from the rest of the fleet, she was alone and at a disadvantage. It looked to Don Miguel as if the luck which so long had been on Blood's side had at last veered in his own favor.

Miss Bishop, newly risen, had come out to take the air on the quarterdeck, with his lordship in attendance, when she beheld the big red ship that had once been the Cinco Llagas out of Cadiz. The sight thrilled her curiously; it awoke in her an uplifting sense of pride that took no account of danger to herself in the encounter that must now be inevitable.

Beside her on the poop stood Lord Julian. But he shared none of her exultation. He had been in his first sea fight yesterday, and he felt that the experience would suffice him for a very considerable time.

"Look," said Miss Bishop, pointing. Did she realize, he wondered, what was afoot. Her next sentence resolved his doubt. "She is English, and she comes resolutely on. She means to fight."

"God help her, then," said his lordship gloomily. "Her captain must be mad. If they could so easily blow the Royal Mary out of the water, what will they do to this vessel? Look at that devil Don Miguel. He's utterly disgusting in his glee."

Of necessity now, under diminished sail, the advance of the Arabella was slower; but it was none the less steady. She was already within shaker shot, and they could make out the figures stirring on her forecastle and the brass guns gleaming on her prow. The gunners of the Milagrosa raised their linstocks and blew upon their smoldering matches, looking up impatiently at the admiral. But the admiral solemnly shook his head.

"Stab me!" said his lordship. "This Englishman may be gallant enough to accept battle against such odds. But there are times when discretion is a better quality than gallantry in a commander. Presently you will suffer me to place you under cover."

"I can see best from here," she answered him. And added quietly: "I am praying for this Englishman. He must be very brave."

The Arabella was advancing, now, along a course which, if continued, must carry her straight between the two Spanish ships.

But even at that moment the Admiral raised his hand; in the waist, below him, a trumpet blared, and immediately the gunner on the prow touched off his guns. As the thunder of them rolled out, his lordship saw, ahead, beyond the English ship and to larboard of her, two heavy splashes. Almost at once two successive spurts of flame leapt from the brass cannon on the Arabella's beakhead, and scarcely had the watchers on the poop seen the shower of spray where one of the shots struck the water near them than, with a rending crash and a shiver that shook the Milagrosa from stem to stern, the other came to lodge in her forecastle. To avenge that blow, the Hidalga blazed at the Englishman with both her forward guns. But, even at that short range (between two and three hundred yards) neither shot took effect.

At a hundred yards the Arabella's forward guns, which had meanwhile been reloaded, fired again at the Milagrosa, and this time smashed her bowsprit into splinters, so that for a moment she yawed wildly to port. Don Miguel swore profanely, and then, as the helm was put over to swing her back to her course, his own prow replied. But the aim was too high, and, whilst one of the shots tore through the Arabella's shrouds and scarred her mainmast, the other again went wide. And when the smoke of that discharge had lifted the English ship was found almost between the Spaniards, her bows in line with theirs and coming steadily on. At last the Arabella was right between the Spanish ships, prow to poop and poop to prow. Don Miguel spoke to the trumpeter, who had mounted the quarterdeck and stood now at the admiral's elbow. The man raised the silver bugle that was to give the signal for the broadsides of both ships. But even as he placed it to his lips, the admiral seized his arm to arrest him. Only then had he perceived what was so obvious—or should have been to an experienced sea fighter; he had delayed too long and Captain Blood had outmaneuvered him. In attempting to fire now upon the Englishman, the Milagrosa and her consort would also be firing into each other. Too late he ordered his helmsman to put the tiller hard over and swing the ship to larboard, as a preliminary to maneuvering for a less impossible position of attack. At that very moment the Arabella seemed to explode as she swept by. Eighteen guns from each of her flanks emptied themselves at that point-blank range into the hulls of the two Spanish vessels.

The Milagrosa staggered slowly ahead. Don Miguel was bawling orders wildly, and peering ever and anon through the curtain of smoke that was drifting slowly astern, in his anxiety to ascertain how it might have fared with the Hidalga.

Suddenly, and ghostly at first, through that lifting haze, loomed the outline of a ship; gradually the lines of her red hull became more and more sharply defined as she swept nearer with poles all bare save for the spread of canvas on her sprit.

WORLD'S TONIC

You cannot expect to be well while part of your body is stagnating with catarrh. That is what most of your trouble comes from. First there is inflammation of the mucus membrane that lines every part of your body exposed to the air. Blood congests—the membrane stagnates. Instead of doing its duty, it slowly poisons your whole body with foul secretion.

Sometimes your liver, or your kidneys, or your stomach, gives way first. Whatever it is, you are half sick, dragging around, miserable all the time.

World's Tonic is for that condition—the result of a vast amount of research. It is prescribed to make you well—to stimulate your organs, drive out the poisons, enliven the processes, and clear up the catarrh.

You can't know until you try it. Then what we say will be mild compared to your praise. Start out today to be well! One bottle will make a big difference.

Sold by Carnahan's, and all other first class druggists.

AFTER TEN YEARS

For ten years I had suffered from catarrhal trouble. It spread from my nose and throat until it seemed to be all through my body.

I doctored the symptoms. When my stomach suffered I took stomach medicine. My liver seemed inactive and I kept stirring it up. Sometimes I got a little relief, but these troubls came back.

Then I started taking World's Tonic. The first bottle helped me greatly, and at the end of four bottles my troubles were gone. It was a wonderfully cheap way to get well, and I owe it to you to tell you about it.

A Hint for Beginners

The cross-word puzzle diagram is merely a means of concealing words which are synonymous to those listed and which will interlock perfectly and so read equally well crosswise or downwards. Always look for the number of the synonym on the diagram. If horizontal, you must find a word to fit between that number and the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, you must fit your word between the number and the first shaded stop below.

SALVATION ARMY BUYS YOUNG CHINESE GIRLS TO SAVE THEIR HONOR

Phase of Missionary is Discussed in Bulletin Received by Adjutant John Dean.

Buying young girls as a means of saving them from being sold into lives of shame is a regular feature of Salvation Army missionary work in the densely populated cities of China.

This is emphasized in a bulletin received today by Adjutant John G. Dean, officer in charge of the Salvation Army here, from the national headquarters in New York.

China is one of 10 widely separated missionary fields of the Army in which the work is supported entirely by an annual week of self-denial on the part of Salvationists throughout the world. Self-Denial Week occurs this year from March 29 to April 5.

The buying of young girls began when Army officers became familiar with the operations of so-called procures in Pekin and the other large cities. The officers saw these girls sold like to many ornaments. The practice was either permitted or winked at by the government, and the girls themselves, being totally uneducated, either spiritually or academically, had no understanding of what was happening to them. Many felt grateful toward the procurers as a result of their promises to find them good homes and "masters."

Seeing that pleadings with the procurers was of no avail, The Army began buying the girls, appropriating as much money as was possible for the purpose, and putting them in Industrial homes. This method of rescuing girls has now become a routine part of Army missionary work in China. The girls are legally adopted by the Army, and are trained to become good wives and mothers.

The bulletin continues:

"The Girls' Industrial home at Pekin has outgrown its accommodation, and an extra home has had to be equipped. The majority of the girls in these homes are from the districts devestated by famine and flood, and a large number were rescured from sale into lives of shame. It is encouraging to recall that from the elder of these girls, two have chosen Salvation Army officership as their vocation in life, and were commissioned as officers from the last session of cadets."

In China the Salvation Army maintains 62 centers of work under the supervision of 218 commissioned officers. There is practically no opposition to the work, either on racial or religious grounds, and the people, especially the very poor, swarm to the halls to hear the message of the Gospel.

Those wishing to aid this cause may do so by sending contributions to Adjutant John G. Dean, 111 West Third street.

British Parliament Stirred by Labor's Only Representative

LONDON—Miss Ellen Wilkinson doesn't relish the idea of being Labor's only female representative in the house of commons.

"The press concentrates upon silly things, such as the color of my frock and the way I wear my hair, instead of on what I say," says Miss Wilkinson.

And no wonder. When parliament reopened this month Miss Wilkinson startled sedate members of the house by appearing in a bright green frock, her head surmounted by a mass of flaming red hair, shingled for the first time. The newspaper paragraphers haven't ceased chiding her.

Because she had tripped and fallen on a broken footpath, a young woman was granted two pair of silk stockings by the Armaugh, England, city council recently.

Branded by Jealous Husband, She Pleads for Him in Court

Branded in this fashion by her man, Mrs. Theodore Winfree loves him still. She bared her back in a San Francisco court in proof of her charge that her husband, a 21-year-old seaman in the navy, marked her with a hot iron while in a jealous rage, and beat her severely. But when the court considered sentencing her husband to jail, she flew to his side and forgave him. They kissed and left arm in arm.

—to regain Strength

—brings joy to you and your friends.

EVERY man, woman and child wants to have strength and correct weight. It means the joy of living. To be minus strength and underweight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body.

More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. aids Nature in building them by the million! There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today. It will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

S.S.S. Makes You Feel Like Yourself Again

COMMON SENSE IN SMALL DOSES

Oh, I've seen the wooden cistern;
And the cistern made of tin;
But I've never seen a cistern
That a skeeter wasn't in.

Immunized, those who fear typhoid need not.

"Follow the Swallow"—old fashioned chaser.

For the tourist who is susceptible to typhoid fever, the well by the roadside isn't to be trusted.

If one has tuberculosis, it is better to be without funds among friends, than to be without friends among funds.

Disregarding the presence or absence of smallpox in his vicinity, the man who has been vaccinated is protected perpetually.

And in spring we folks, Alas!
Must swallow teas of sassafras;
We drench ourselves without a reason—
It's just the custom of the season.

To maintain perennial health, spring house cleaning and the annual bath are both insufficient.

That doctor who, without an examination, says: "Oh, you've got a little malaria"—or, "you're just a little bilious," is too lazy to take the trouble to find out what really is the matter with you.

For the cistern raises skeeters while the skeeter raises bumps.

To maintain good health the main requisite is the water main.

Through the studies of Drs. Dick and Dick, the cause of scarlet fever is now definitely known. Immunization against the disease and specific treatment for it follow as a matter of course.

I was called to see a patient
And I ordered rest in bed;
So she called another doctor
And he gave her pills of bread.

Immeunized against smallpox, typhoid fever, diphtheria and scarlet fever with a pure water and a clean milk supply, there seems little occasion for illness among children.

Blood may be thicker than water but it's no thicker in the spring than it is in the fall.

And most of our woes,
We must confess,
Are caused by nothing
But carelessness;
Ignoring Dame Nature,
We do as we please,
Depending on doctors
To cure the disease.

Among bottle-fed babies and bucket-fed calves, the infant mortality is frightfully high.

Senators Are Selected to Repeat In American League Race

Walsh Picks Cobb's Tigers to Provide Nats Competition

Believes Detroit is One of Strongest Clubs in Baseball, But at the Same Time, a Trifle Uncertain; Red Sox Named for Cellar Berth.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 25.—After due deliberation and a vague sense of unease in the vicinity of the abdomen, the writer has selected the Washington Senators as the best ball club in the American league for the season of 1925, in much the same manner that he might decide one pea in a pod is better than half a dozen others. There happens to be eight clubs in the American league and six of them figure as actual contenders. The best thing about this business of per-race penant picking is that no one remembers the selections in October.

The remaining contenders, any one of which may rise up to confound me in subsequent months, are the Detroit Tigers, the New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians, the Athletics and the St. Louis Browns. The teams are named in the following order, not because they are in duty bound to observe the order of march but because I happen to believe they will finish that way:

1—Washington.
2—Detroit.
3—New York.
4—St. Louis.
5—Philadelphia.
6—Cleveland.
7—Chicago.
8—Boston.

The only selection at which I feel absolute ease is that of the Boston Red Sox. If they run better than eighth at the wire, it will be up to all concerned to tear up their dope sheets and eat the pieces. The White Sox are a different matter. They finished last in 1924 but didn't belong there, and, with the popular Collins in command, may forget the past and make a fool out of the present.

The Senators have the impetus of last year's victory behind them and are much improved in pitching and reserve infield material. If Peckinpaugh carries on, I don't see how the Senators can lose.

Perhaps the Tigers might arrange the matter, for it is no secret that Cobb has assembled one of the strongest clubs in baseball. Just what he will do with it remains with the immediate future. It is the general understanding that it could have played better baseball during the last several years. That makes them an uncertain pre-race proposition.

It is the writer's judgment that the Yankees shot their bolt when they didn't win last year. The club is no younger than the law allows and the pitching that carried it to three straight pennants is no longer there. Shocker will or should win plenty of games for Huggins but Pennock is not in the best of condition and Shawkey and Jones are uncertainties.

The Browns, a great hitting club, are due for a comeback with Sisler himself again. To the success of the team, the difference between Sisler in condition or out means the difference between a real contender and a chronic also ran. They are placed above the Athletics, who I am pleased to regard with misgivings.

It is the same club that came with a rush last year, plus Left Groves. If that young man is as good as they say he is, it will be hard to keep the Athletics out of third place; yet the club lacks steadiness and cohesion and this race promises to be to the eternal swift.

Cleveland, with its patchy infield and uncertain pitching expects to finish in the first division. I don't think it will, for the reason stated. In an ordinary year, the Indians would be dangerous but this one figures to be about as ordinary as a rubber collar at the charity ball.

"Who Said I'm About Through?"

Mr. Roger Peckinpaugh, veteran shortstop of the world's champion Washington team has just turned as he raises the query. His attitude indicates that the thought is soon to be erased from some gentleman's mind. Peckinpaugh injured his leg in the world's series but says that so far it has given every indication that it is o. k. again. Photo from Washingon camp at Tampa, Fla.

Gibbons Will Battle Wills

NEW YORK, March 25.—Predictions were being made today following the state athletic commission's edict on Jack Dempsey that Harry Wills and Tom Gibbons, leading challengers for the heavyweight title, would be matched within 24 hours. The plan is to have the contenders meet for the benefit of the local Milk Fund in May and the privilege of enjoying a clear field to a match with the champion.

Gibbons already has gone on record as being willing to take on Wills as a preliminary to a title bout but Wills has held off because he claimed he was entitled to a match with Dempsey without further ado.

It was Wills' challenge, filed a week previous to that of Gibbons, which caused the board to declare Dempsey ineligible in this state because of his failure to accept it within the specified time limit. This action means that Dempsey is unlikely to defend his title in the East, if at all.

West Virginia Star Seeks Third Letter

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 25.—Having already earned two letters during the present collegiate year Aaron Oliker, popular Mountaineer football and basketball athlete, is seeking his third "W. V." He is an outfielder and Coach Rodgers has been playing him in the right sector this week. Oliker reported for baseball his freshman year and again last spring, but this is the first season that he has made a serious bid for a varsity position. He has improved wonderfully during the past two years and other candidates cannot afford to reckon without giving him consideration.

Another West Virginia football man making his presence felt on the diamond is Mike Hardy of Shardy, Pa. The young halfback, who made such rapid progress on the gridiron last fall, looks good at first base and Rodgers looks for him to improve as the opening of the season nears.

Both Oliker and Hardy have been showing good form at the plate.

Two Indoor Baseball Engagements Tonight

Two indoor baseball contests are scheduled tonight at the Y. M. C. A.

Laughlin 5 and Crockery City will clash at 7:30. The E. M. Knowles and Decorators teams play at 8:30.

The Knowles-Decorators game is one of the two moved ahead from Friday night.

Sound made by booming guns to announce the beginning of a two minute silence for Armistice Day in England did not reach some parts of the country until people had begun their tribute, and clocks will be used as announcers hereafter.

HERE ARE THREE ALL-STAR GRADE SCHOOL FIVES; ALL SHOW STRENGTH

First Team:—F. Small, Central A. F. Feit, Central A. C. Heath, Garfield. G. Wotring, Central A. G. Menge, Sixth.

Second Team:—F. Dyke, Lincoln. F. Lindell, Central B. C. Dorsey, Sixth. G. Congrove, Central A. G. McConville, Lincoln.

Third Team:—F. Anthony, Sixth. F. Witherow, Lincoln. C. Anderson, Central A. G. Barnhart, Sixth. G. Skidmore, Lincoln.

Honorable Mention:—Forwards: Blazer, Central B; Chiturn, Washington; Ward, Garfield, Centers—Kapp, Pleasant Heights; Hall, Central B; Guards:—Dearth, Central B; Boy, Pleasant Teights; Green, Washington.

To Feit and Small go the forward positions. Both are exceptionally good shots, can pass, and display more basketball knowledge than many older players. Heath, of Garfield, gets the center job. Playing with a weak five he displayed more ability than any center in the tournament. Menge, of Sixth, and Wotring, of Central, get the guard posts. They possess rare passing ability and form the nucleus of a capable defense.

However, were any two of the three teams named above to meet in actual outcome on the basket court, the outcome would be samewhat of a question, for both the second and third fives rank almost equally with the first.

Toronto Club Wants Games.

The Young Men's baseball team, of the Church of Christ, Toronto, has organized and is seeking games with teams in the Ohio valley, in the 18 to 25 years old class. Arrangements for games can be made by communicating with Brayton Eddy, manager, 412 Third street, Toronto.

M. P. Passers Cinch Court League Race

Defeat Lutherans, Nearest Rivals, 27 to 21, in Thrilling Clash on High School Court.

Getting a strangle hold on the enemy in the final quarter of their battle last night on the high school court, a clash that proved a thriller for three full periods, the Methodist Protestant passers tossed their rivals, the Lutherans, to the mat for the victory that practically won them the league championship. The score was 27 to 21.

Neither team had any better than a five point margin in the first three quarters. In the last period the Protestants developed their big punch, outplaying the Lutherans and putting the decision on ice.

Carey of the M. P.'s was first to score, dropping in a field goal from the side. Kimes sent one in from the center for the Lutherans knotting the count. Mackey of the leaders scored on a foul and Kimes evened up in similar manner for the Lutherans who a second later went into the lead with a field goal by Kimes. Mackey evened it up with a double decker. Schneidmiller sent the Lutherans ahead with a foul. Wilson evened the score. G. Woessner scored from the free line and the Lutherans led, 7 to 6, at the end of the first period.

Kimes was first to tally in the second period, dropping in a field goal. Wilson cut the Lutheran lead with a foul. Kimes made his foul line chance count for the Lutherans. Carey and Weikart scored from the free mark, putting their team within a point of the Lutherans. Mackey's field goal put the M. P. passers in the lead and Wilson's two-pointer increased the margin.

But Schneidmiller scored twice in succession from the foul mark, tying the count, 12-12, at the end of the half.

The Protestants jumped into the lead at the start of the third period. Mackey displayed a classy brand of foul shooting at this stage of the contest, scoring four straight. Schneidmiller counted on a foul for the Lutherans, now three points behind. Mackey registered a double decker. Kimes kept the Lutherans in the running with a field goal. Mackey proceeded to shoot his fifth straight foul.

Kimes, who, apparently, was the only member of the Lutheran quint able to locate the basket, dropped in a field goal and the score was 19 to 17 in favor of the M. P. quint when the third period ended.

The M. P. lads opened the final lap with a field goal which Todd scored after a bit of pretty pass work. Wilson scored another two-pointer for the league leaders. And Todd practically cinched the contest with a third. Wilson scored from the foul line.

Kimes revived the fading hopes of the Lutherans with a field goal. G. Woessner dropped in his only field goal of the game and Todd scored the final point of the contest from the free mark.

The winners, collectively, played a fine article of ball throughout. Mackey, as usual, was the scoring star.

Kimes was the outstanding performer on the Lutheran side. Woessner and Kibble also performed well.

In the preliminary contest the Park Boulevards easily won from the First Presbyterians, 33 to 13.

The lineups:

First Presby.		Park Boulevards.
C. Allison	F.	Barnes
Cooper	F.	Crawford
McVey	C.	Kirkham
D. Allison	G.	McKee

HADDOCK TOPS TEN PIN RIVALS

Rolls Score of 537 in Tourney Matches at American.

Rolling 537, Bud Haddock topped rivals in the opening matches of the ten pin tournament last night on the American alleys.

Scores ranged from 468 to 537 in the list of the first five bowlers in the singles.

Following Haddock was Creed Morris, with 518. Morris also rolled single game high score of 203. Steve Kaskas finished third with 480; Peter Pan fourth with 477, and Cy Young fifth with 468.

Lutherans.		First M. P.
Kimes	F.	Mackey

Foul goals—Mackey 7, Wilson 3, Todd, Weikart, Carey, Schneidmiller 4, Kimes 2, G. Woessner.

Referee, Davies; timer, Price; scorer, Brown.

Takkenberg, the Dutchman who is somersaulting his way over the 900 miles between Amsterdam, Holland, and Marseilles, France, estimates that his journey will be covered by 2,000,000 somersaults.

Grade Girls In Tourney

First round of play in the girls' elementary grade school basketball tournament will get under way on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the high school court.

Two contests are scheduled for Friday afternoon. Two more will be played on Friday night at 7 o'clock.

The semi-finals will be reached on Saturday morning at 10 and the championship battle will occur at 3 in the afternoon.

Pleasant Heights will tackle Garfield and Washington will meet McKinley in the Friday afternoon games. The night contests bring into action Sixth Street against Central and Lincoln against Horace Mann-Neville.

Rival Sextets Play For School Honors

Sophomore and Senior girls of the high school interclass league will clash this afternoon on the school court for the league championship.

In the first half of the season the Seniors carried off the honors. The second year entry grabbed the laurels in the second half. The winner of this afternoon's tilt will be awarded the crown for the season.

TOKYO READY FOR PARLEY ON DISARMAMENT

Japan Opposes Limit on Aircraft and Submarines.

OUTLINES PLANS

Invitation is Not Expected Before Fall of Year.

TOKYO, March—Behind an almost impenetrable veil of official reticence Japan is preparing for the day when she will be called upon, probably at the invitation of the United States Government, to participate in a new conference to consider the question of international disarmament.

At the present time Japan does not expect an invitation to be forthcoming for several months, possibly not until the Autumn of this year. But the invitation, when it does come will find Japan with a well-defined program of arms limitation which according to semi-official spokesmen, will represent the "last word" of the Japanese government in the matter.

Ostensibly, Japan is willing to accept an invitation to such a conference and ready to co-operate with the other powers in the matter of arms reduction. The one definite statement forthcoming from official sources is that Japan "will give sympathetic consideration to any invitation to an arms limitation parley in conformity with her earnest desire to contribute to the peace of the world." Beyond that rather generalized statement no official pronouncement has been made by anyone authorized to speak for the Japanese government.

No Statement.

There have been, from time to time, statements by such high officials as Admiral Hyo Takarabe, Minister of Marine, and others regarding various phases of the disarmament question. In all such cases, however, the Foreign Office and other authorized sources of government information have taken pains to point out that these statements represent the personal views of the individual making them. It has been steadfastly maintained that the question of a new disarmament conference never has been officially considered by the Cabinet and therefore no definite policy has been decided upon.

It has been made clearly evident, however, that Japan believes that an arms conference would have small chance of success unless the convening of a formal conference were preceded by a discussion of agenda. It is the prevailing opinion here that virtually all the powers invited to a conference will insist upon knowing in advance what schemes of arms reduction or limitation are likely to be proposed. Certainly, it has been strongly intimated, Japan will be reluctant to join in any conference the exact purposes of which are not known to her.

So far as Japan's own program for further limitation of armaments is concerned, very little authentic information is available. It has been indicated, however, that Japan does not expect the subject of limitation of aircraft to have a place on the conference agenda. Since the problem of land armaments is not likely to be discussed that would limit the conference to a consideration of auxiliary naval craft.

More Submarines.

In this connection it is believed that Japan will be reluctant to agree to any extensive reduction of submarines and destroyers. In the field of light cruisers the Japanese view probably would be slightly more liberal.

Submarines and destroyers, naval experts have declared, are not offensive weapons in the hands of the Japanese, because of the limits of their cruising radius. As an adjunct to her national defense equipment, Japan regards an adequate complement of submarines and destroyers as necessary and would look with disfavor upon any scheme that would reduce these weapons below what she regards as her defensive requirements.

Experts of the Japanese navy, it is not denied, have been at work for several months drafting a program of limitation of armaments to which Japan would be willing to agree. What the details of this program are is a carefully guarded secret about which all speculation along specific lines would be futile.

LEGAL NOTICE.

Sealed proposals will be received at the Office of the Auditor of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, until twelve o'clock noon on April 17th, 1925, for the purchase of bonds of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, in the aggregate sum of $4254.40, dated April 15th, 1925; said bonds will be seven in number and numbered from one to seven, both inclusive. The first of said bonds shall be of the denomination of $654.40 and the balance of said bonds will be of the denomination of $600.00 and all will draw interest at the rate of 6% per annum, payable semi-annually on the fifteenth days of April and October of each year upon presentation and surrender of the interest coupons to be attached to said bonds. Said bonds shall be due and payable as follows:

Date of Maturity	Number	Amount
April 15th, 1927	1	$654.40
April 15th, 1928	2	600.00
April 15th, 1929	3	600.00
April 15th, 1930	4	600.00
April 15th, 1931	5	600.00
April 15th, 1932	6	600.00
April 15th, 1933	7	600.00

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of providing a fund for the purchase of equipment of the Fire Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, and shall be issued under authority of the laws of Ohio and of Section 3939 of the General Code of Ohio and under authority and in accordance with a certain ordinance of the said City of East Liverpool, Ohio, entitled "An Ordinance authorizing the issuance of bonds to provide a fund for the purchase of equipment for the Fire Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio;" said ordinance was passed on the 2nd day of March, 1925; said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidder for not less than par and accrued interest. All bids must state the number of bonds bid for and gross amount of bid and accrued interest to date of delivery and all bids to be accompanied by a certified check payable to the Treasurer of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, for two per cent of the amount of bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted the bidder will receive and pay for said bonds as may be issued as before set forth within ten days from the time of award; said check to be retained by the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, if said condition is not fulfilled.

Said City of East Liverpool, Ohio, reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Bids should be sealed and endorsed "Bids for Fire Department Equipment bonds of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio."

Some of the News.
Man, His Days Are as Grass
The French Save.
Earth, Big Alma Mater.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

A professor named Fullerton has hanged himself after teaching philosophy to young ladies for a long time. There is no philosophy that will make us philosophize about our own troubles.

Edith Gould Wainwright, daughter of the late Geodge Gould, granddaughter of Jay Gould, who left one hundred millions to amuse lawyers hired by his heirs is writ'ng her interesting and important life story.

It is her intention to prove that happiness is not in money, but in the soul of man. Epictetus said it, but could not prove it, for he never had any money.

Edith Gould knows what she is talking about. The best fun she ever had, as she will tell her young friends, was doing her own housework after she ran away to be married, and before she became reconciled to her annoyed parents.

Reporters, traveling among ruins spread over the earth by the recent tornado, advise that many men and women are praying. They pray for strength to take care of those that are ill or ruined by the great storm, and for strength to rebuild their vanished homes.

Those that pray include probably many that had done little praying until the arrival of the tornado.

"As for man, his days are as grass. As a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone and the place thereof shall know it no more."

Paris bankers are distressed because the French people, especialy the peasants, hoard coins of gold and silver.

Laws were passed to control the gold supply, that the bank of France might have a big gold reserve, but the French people still have two thousand million francs in gold and silver coins hidden away.

That does not please the bankers, and makes financing more difficult for the highly intelligent and efficient French government.

But that hoarding of precious metals should be a warning to speculators against trying to knock down the price of the franc.

Whoever gambles on the belief that the French people will allow their currency to become worthless, doesn't know the French people or their history.

Harvard will spend $12,000,000 to improve the study of agriculture. That's sensible.

English-speaking nations study Latin and Greek. The Romans studied Greek. The Greek philosophers studied the Egyptian language and hieroglyphics. Millions are spent teaching many kinds of knowledge little used after the student leaves school.

It is about time to begin studying seriously old Mother Earth, the original alma mater from which we all spring and upon which we depend absolutely during life and to which we all return.

Today in Jerusalem the aged Lord Balfour will officiate at the opening and dedication of the new Jewish university.

Representatives of the Arabs, who outnumber the Jews ten to one in the Holy Land hate Balfour for his leadership in restoring Jerusalem to the Jews. They proclaim a strike against Jerusalem, against Balfour, and will try to exclude him from the Christian holy places.

The strange thing, according to press agency dispatches, is that a group of orthodox Jews in Jerusalem, under the leadership of the Patriarch of Jerusalem, refuses to meet Lord Balfour, and will help the Arabs to exclude him from the Christian holy places if they can. It is hard to please everybody.

However, the practical British government has ordered sufficient British troops, including the Ninth Queen's Royal Lancers, now in Egypt, to be ready for emergencies.

A few machine guns will enable Balfour to see the Christian holy places if he wants to. It would be interesting to get the real opion of that sarcastic old gentleman. But he won't give them.

SENATE PASSES GUILFORD PARK BILL; ITS FATE UP TO DONAHEY

Game Association Representatives Confer With Governor.

Measure Carries Appropriations Totalling $47,300.

Fate of the proposed Guilford Park bill, passed by the house of representatives last week, and the state senate yesterday, rests today in the hands of Governor A. V. Donahey.

The measure, which authorizes the purchase of not more than 500 acres of ground in the vicinity of Guilford dam as the site of a state park at an expense not to exceed $32,000, was passed by the senate by a vote of 28 to 0, yesterday afternoon. An additional $15,300 appropriation is made for closing the gap in the dam and providing for temporary improvements to the park.

Governor Donahey, in a conference with members of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association, a few weeks ago, promised his support of the bill in the event of its passage by the legislature. John L. King, Salem, president of the association, and Attorney Frank E. Grosshans, of this city, a member of the legislative committee, left last night for Columbus where they will endeavor to arrange a conference with the chief executive to urge that he sign the measure.

Options on Land.

The bill, which now seems certain to be approved in view of the governor's previous promises, brings to an end the campaign launched by the Fish and Game association more than eight years ago to have a state fish hatchery established in Columbiana county. The dam, which was built about 60 years ago for the purpose of providing the Big Sandy canal with its water supply, makes an ideal site for a lake. Little labor will be neces-

BARTH IS NAMED ROTARY DELEGATE

The board of directors of the Rotary club, at a meeting yesterday afternoon, elected Secretary H. B. Barth, delegate, and Attorney F. L. Wells, alternate, to the international Rotary convention which will be held in Cleveland on June 15-19, inclusive.

A large delegation of local Rotarians will attend the convention. A committee, headed by Attorney F. L. Wells, of Wellsville, is arranging for the convention so far as the East Liverpool club is concerned. According to plans, the Cleveland meeting—the 16th international convention—will be the largest in the history of Rotary.

Seven Killed, Five Hurt, Four Missing In Oil Explosion

MAN IS SAVAGE, SAYS DARROW

BOSTON, Mar. 25. — A gloomy picture of civilization was painted by Clarence S. Darrow, Chicago attorney who defended Loeb and Lecpold, in an interview today. Here is the picture:

"Civilization is becoming top heavy.

SIMMS ESTATE SELLS MARKET ST. HOLDINGS

L. T. Capehart and Son Purchase Business Structure.

WILL OCCUPY IT

Simms Printing Co. Will Retain Quarters on First Floor.

L. T. Capehart and Son, tinners and roofers, have purchased from the J. H. Simms estate the two-story frame building on lower Market street, known as the old Tribune building. The consideration was private.

The deal not only includes the building, which formerly housed the morning newspaper, but also the vacant lot at the corner of Second and Market streets, having a frontage of 80 feet on second street and extending 130 feet through to Center alley.

The new owners who assume possession today, will occupy the basement part of the building as a tin and repair shop. The Simms Printing Company will retain use of the first floor. No change will be made in the occupants of the two flats on the second floor, part of which was used as the editorial department for the Morning Tribune before the paper was purchased by the East Liverpool Pub lishing Co.

The building was erected by J. H. Simms, founder of The Tribune, in 1900.

L. T. Capehart & Son, the new owners have been located in the Matthew Anderson building, Rural Lane and Dresden avenue for about 19 years.

WAGGLE FUNERAL HERE THURSDAY

Funeral services for the late James Waggle, retired blacksmith, who according to County Coroner Dr. J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, met death by the "accidental discharge of a shotgun" at his home Monday afternoon, will be conducted in the late residence, 402 Ridgeway avenue, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, of which Mr. Waggle was a member, will officiate. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Britain Believes Time Ripe; No Fear of Land Problem.

England is Prepared to Underwrite German Proposals.

BY HARRY FLORY.

LONDON, March 25.—The British government believes, it was learned unofficially today, that sufficient progress has been made on the question of security to justify President Coolidge in calling a disarmament conference without fear of the land armament problem causing difficulty.

The unofficial opinion followed a statement in the house of commons last night by Austen Chamberlain, foreign secertary in which he said, in effect that Great Britain was ready to underwrite any proposals which Germany might make looking toward permanent peace in Europe.

Chamberlain outlined the "liquid" proposals which Germany was prepared to make. These were:

A special treaty guaranteeing security to France.

A mutual understanding with all powers interested in the Rhine.

Await France's Decision.

The Allies have practically agreed to hold a pact conference, it was learned. France has suggested, however, that diplomatic exchanges might accomplish the same result without a conference. France is said to have agreed to the German "liquid" offers with modifications as a basis of discussion. Chamberlain applied the word "liquid" to the German proposals, explaining that they were not intended to be concrete.

29 MORE ADMIT RIOTING COUNT

Pleas of Guilty are Entered in Niles Case.

WARREN, O., March 25. — Twenty-nine persons indicted on a charge of rioting in connection with the Klan and anti-Klan disorders at Niles last November when martial law was declared by Governor Donahey, today entered pleas of guilty when arraigned before Judge James Thomas of Portsmouth.

Each of the 29 was fined $300 and costs with $250 of this amount suspended depending upon the "good behavior" of the men. This brings the total number of cases disposed of up to 46, leaving 20 more to come before the court.

Judge Thomas commended both counsel and clients for the entering of guilty pleas and advised the men to return to their homes "and live as American citizens should live."

"Should the Ku Klux Klan desire to parade in your city, let them do so. They have the right under the law to parade and you have no right to interfere," he added.

Peter Trouck, 50, Is Killed by Train At Washingtonville

Peter Trouck, aged about 50, Washingtonville laborer, was killed yesterday when run down by a Pittsburgh, Lisbon and Western railroad freight train, between Washingtonville and Greenford, Mahoning county.

Members of the train crew assert that Trouck was either asleep on the track or had fallen between the ties. His body was badly mangled. He is said to have been out of work for several weeks.

The body was removed to the Crowell and Woods morgue at Leetonia, but was later taken to the Eells morgue, in Lisbon. Trouck resided in Lisbon until a short time ago, when he went to Washingtonville in search of employment.

ACTRESS' HIDDEN ROMANCE HINTED

BOSTON, Mar. 25.—What is said to be a hidden romance in the life of "Lotta" Crabtree, once the finest comedienne and the premier spinster of the American stage, was revealed today. Announcement was made that Miss Ida M. Blankenburg of Tulsa, Okla., had filed a claim against the $4,000,000 estate of the late internationally famous actress. Miss Blankenburg states that she is the daughter of the woman the stage knew as a spinster.

Florin G. Arey, an attorney, representing the Oklahoma claimant to the Crabtree fortune, was en route to Tulsa today to take oral testimony. There was nothing in the papers to indicate the details of the alleged romance.

Contributions Pour Into Red Cross Office Here.

THREE CHECKS

Express Company Will Transport Donations Free of Charge.

Contributions for the relief of sufferers in tornado-swept Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee began to pour into Red Cross headquarters here today.

Three checks received during the morning totalled $40. The contributors were Mrs. Adeline S. Martin, $25; Mrs. J. H. Brookes, $10, and Mrs. B. C. Simms, $5. The money will be turned over to W. E. Dunlap, cashier of the First National Bank, treasurer of the Red Cross.

Thousands of persons in the storm-torn communities are homeless. Hundreds are in need of medical care.

While the Red Cross will conduct no campaign for funds here, contributions will be accepted. The money will be forwarded to the national Red Cross organization.

C. W. Heffernan, and R. W. Newby, American Railway Express agents in East Liverpool and Wellsville, respectively, today announced that the company will transport free of charge any donation of clothing or other supplies to the stricken areas, when such donations are consigned to the Amer-

BENDER BILL RESCINDS COUNCIL'S DRY AGENT FEE PAYMENT SYSTEM

Ardent Prohibition Supporter's Measure, Assailing Plan in Effect in Courts of Justices of Peace as Well as Mayors, Adopted by Vote of 29 to 1 in State Senate.

PROPOSAL NOW GOES TO HOUSE; ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE O. K.'S PLAN

Legislation Provides That Any Village, City or Township Which Employs Prohibition Agents Shall Fix Salary for Them, But no Limit is Placed on Amount of Compensation.

East Liverpool's fine-splitting dry detective ordinance, blamed for the inter-city raiders' war last January, which had a tragic culmination, is doomed, if the Bender bill, passed by the state senate yesterday, becomes a law.

The measure, adopted by the upper branch by a vote of 29 to 1, now goes to the house. If approved there, its fate will rest in the hands of Gov. Donahey.

The proposal, if enacted, will sound the death knell of the councilmanic legislation, repeal of which was asked in a petition signed by 2,865 electors, whose request was refused by the solons.

The Bender bill prohibits the fee splitting practice in courts of mayors and justices of peace.

The passage of the measure with only one dissenting vote—that of Senator J. Lowry Miller of Middletown—was one of the surprises of the senate session. A battle had occurred earlier in the session, when an attempt was made to drive alleged crooked justices out of business by a different method.

Constables on Salary Basis.

This happened when the bill of Senator George H. Bender, designed to restrict jurisdiction of justices and mayors to their own townships or villages, was killed in the temperance committee, and an effort to relieve the committee of it was defeated by one vote.

When the anti-fee splitting measure came up yesterday Senator Bender, ardent dry, but foe of commercialized enforcement, was the only man who rose to speak. He said his piece, and nobody else arose. The roll call then showed 29 votes in favor.

Strikes at Root of Evil.

"This bill strikes at the root of the evil in enforcement of prohibition," Senator Bender declared. "It stops the division of swag among the justices and their constables. It will mean more for honest law enforcement than anything we've done.

"The bill puts constables on a salary basis, to be fixed by the township or village they work out of. The bill takes away no power from the justices and constables. It merely prevents them from piling up huge prof-

12 Tentative Jurors Are Seated in Trial Of Youthful Slayer

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Dorothy Ellingson, a product of the age in which she happened to be born, an unwilling victim of heredity and environment.

This is the picture that is to be presented to the jury that will sit in judgment on the youthful "jazz baby" being tried for the murder of her mother.

Gradually the strategy of the defense is unfolded under the long and careful questioning of prospective jurors.

As the case was resumed today, 12 tentative jurors sat in the jury box. Two of them were women. The men ranged in age from 22 to 55.

Counsel for state and defense were hopeful a jury might be secured before the day is done, but they were not sanguine. The state had exhausted but one of its 10 peremptory challenges and the defense had 17 of the 20 allowed by the law remaining.

Odd Mix-up Means U. S. Officer Must Change Signature

WASHINGTON, March 25. — John M. Goldesberry, newly appointed district attorney for the northern district of Oklahoma, will have to change his signature as a result of an odd mix-up in connection with his appointment, the department of justice ruled.

Because of a telegraphic error, President Coolidge sent his nomination to the senate as John "W" Goldesberry,' and it was confirmed that way. The senate had adjourned before the mistake was discovered, so it could not be rectified.

The question was raised as to whether a recess appointment of John M. Goldesberry was not necessary in order to make his acts legal, but the department of justice decided if he would sign his name "John W. (M.) Goldesberry" everything would be legal and shipshape.

MAYOR ORDERS RAILS REMOVED

Drafts Letter Preliminary to Improvement of Mulberry Street.

Mayor Brown today was preparing to draft a letter to The Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company, requesting that they remove their rails and ties from Mulberry street immediately.

In compliance with a motion adopted by council at their last meeting, the mayor about 10 days ago wrote to J. H. Maxwell, president of the company, asking that the rails be removed. Mr. Maxwell, in a reply inquired whether the rails alone were to be removed. The traction company president urged that the ties be permitted to remain in the ground to provide a better job of street surfacing.

"Council has decided that the ties must come up," the mayor said today. "Personally I believe that the best results would be obtained if the ties were allowed to remain as the new-made ground is bound to settle after the street is surfaced. However, council, is the judge in this matter and Legislation looking toward the surtheir orders will be carried out.

PAUL HUNE WILL ERECT THREE-STORY WAREHOUSE AND APARTMENT BUILDING

Structure Will be Placed on Diamond Alley Site Swept by Fire on Feb. 22.

Paul Hune, wholesale confectioner, will erect a three-story brick warehouse and apartment building on the Diamond alley site of the two-story frame structure which was badly damaged in the business district fire on February 22, it was announced today.

Work of razing the frame structure will be started immediately. The proposed new building, plans for which are now being prepared, will cover a ground space of 22½ feet on Diamond alley, extending 48 feet to a private alley back of the old Grand opera house building. It will adjoin the proposed two-story brick and concrete warehouse which the Milligan Hardware & Supply company will erect at the northwest corner of Diamond and Crook alleys.

Two store rooms will be situated on the ground floor of the new building, the stairway ascending from the center. The second floor will be used for storage purposes. Two apartments of three rooms and a bath each will be provided on the third floor.

Mr. Hune now occupies the two-

Some of the News.
Man, His Days Are as Grass
The French Save.
Earth, Big Alma Mater.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

A professor named Fullerton has hanged himself after teaching philosophy to young ladies for a long time. There is no philosophy that will make us philosophize about our own troubles.

Edith Gould Wainwright, daughter of the late Geodge Gould, granddaughter of Jay Gould, who left one hundred millions to amuse lawyers hired by his heirs is writ'ng her interesting and important life story.

It is her intention to prove that happiness is not in money, but in the soul of man. Epictetus said it, but could not prove it, for he never had any money.

Edith Gould knows what she is talking about. The best fun she ever had, as she will tell her young friends, was doing her own housework after she ran away to be married, and before she became reconciled to her annoyed parents.

Reporters, traveling among ruins spread over the earth by the recent tornado, advise that many men and women are praying. They pray for strength to take care of those that are ill or ruined by the great storm, and for strength to rebuild their vanished homes.

Those that pray include probably many that had done little praying until the arrival of the tornado.

"As for man, his days are as grass. As a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone and the place thereof shall know it no more."

Paris bankers are distressed because the French people, especialy the peasants, hoard coins of gold and silver.

Laws were passed to control the gold supply, that the bank of France might have a big gold reserve, but the French people still have two thousand million francs in gold and silver coins hidden away.

That does not please the bankers, and makes financing more difficult for the highly intelligent and efficient French government.

But that hoarding of precious metals should be a warning to speculators against trying to knock down the price of the franc.

Whoever gambles on the belief that the French people will allow their currency to become worthless, doesn't know the French people or their history.

Harvard will spend $12,000,000 to improve the study of agriculture. That's sensible.

English-speaking nations study Latin and Greek. The Romans studied Greek. The Greek philosophers studied the Egyptian language and hieroglyphics. Millions are spent teaching many kinds of knowledge little used after the student leaves school.

It is about time to begin studying seriously old Mother Earth, the original alma mater from which we all spring and upon which we depend absolutely during life and to which we all return.

Today in Jerusalem the aged Lord Balfour will officiate at the opening and dedication of the new Jewish university.

Representatives of the Arabs, who outnumber the Jews ten to one in the Holy Land hate Balfour for his leadership in restoring Jerusalem to the Jews. They proclaim a strike against Jerusalem, against Balfour, and will try to exclude him from the Christian holy places.

The strange thing, according to press agency dispatches, is that a group of orthodox Jews in Jerusalem, under the leadership of the Patriarch of Jerusalem, refuses to meet Lord Balfour, and will help the Arabs to exclude him from the Christian holy places if they can. It is hard to please everybody.

However, the practical British government has ordered sufficient British troops, including the Ninth Queen's Royal Lancers, now in Egypt, to be ready for emergencies.

A few machine guns will enable Balfour to see the Christian holy places if he wants to. It would be interesting to get the real opion of that sarcastic old gentleman. But he won't give them.

SENATE PASSES GUILFORD PARK BILL; ITS FATE UP TO DONAHEY

Game Association Representatives Confer With Governor.

Measure Carries Appropriations Totalling $47,300.

Fate of the proposed Guilford Park bill, passed by the house of representatives last week, and the state senate yesterday, rests today in the hands of Governor A. V. Donahey.

The measure, which authorizes the purchase of not more than 500 acres of ground in the vicinity of Guilford dam as the site of a state park at an expense not to exceed $32,000, was passed by the senate by a vote of 28 to 0, yesterday afternoon. An additional $15,300 appropriation is made for closing the gap in the dam and providing for temporary improvements to the park.

Governor Donahey, in a conference with members of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association, a few weeks ago, promised his support of the bill in the event of its passage by the legislature. John L. King, Salem, president of the association, and Attorney Frank E. Grosshans, of this city, a member of the legislative committee, left last night for Columbus where they will endeavor to arrange a conference with the chief executive to urge that he sign the measure.

Options on Land.

The bill, which now seems certain to be approved in view of the governor's previous promises, brings to an end the campaign launched by the Fish and Game association more than eight years ago to have a state fish hatchery established in Columbiana county. The dam, which was built about 60 years ago for the purpose of providing the Big Sandy canal with its water supply, makes an ideal site for a lake. Little labor will be neces-

According to plans, the Cleveland meeting—the 16th international convention—will be the largest in the history of Rotary.

Odd Mix-up Means U. S. Officer Must Change Signature

WASHINGTON, March 25. — John M. Goldesberry, newly appointed district attorney for the northern district of Oklahoma, will have to change his signature as a result of an odd mix-up in connection with his appointment, the department of justice ruled.

Because of a telegraphic error, President Coolidge sent his nomination to the senate as John "W" Goldesberry,' and it was confirmed that way. The senate had adjourned before the mistake was discovered, so it could not be rectified.

The question was raised as to whether a recess appointment of John M. Goldesberry was not necessary in order to make his acts legal, but the department of justice decided if he would sign his name "John W. (M.) Goldesberry" everything would be legal and shipshape.

MAYOR ORDERS RAILS REMOVED

Drafts Letter Preliminary to Improvement of Mulberry Street.

Mayor Brown today was preparing to draft a letter to The Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company, requesting that they remove their rails and ties from Mulberry street immediately.

In compliance with a motion adopted by council at their last meeting, the mayor about 10 days ago wrote to J. H. Maxwell, president of the company, asking that the rails be removed. Mr. Maxwell, in a reply inquired whether the rails alone were to be removed. The traction company president urged that the ties be permitted to remain in the ground to provide a better job of street surfacing.

"Council has decided that the ties must come up," the mayor said today. "Personally I believe that the best results would be obtained if the ties were allowed to remain as the new-made ground is bound to settle after the street is surfaced. However, council, is the judge in this matter and Legislation looking toward the sur- their orders will be carried out. facing of Mulberry street will be introduced at Friday night's session of council.

PAUL HUNE WILL ERECT THREE-STORY WAREHOUSE AND APARTMENT BUILDING

Structure Will be Placed on Diamond Alley Site Swept by Fire on Feb. 22.

Paul Hune, wholesale confectioner, will erect a three-story brick warehouse and apartment building on the Diamond alley site of the two-story frame structure which was badly damaged in the business district fire on February 22, it was announced today.

Work of razing the frame structure will be started immediately. The proposed new building, plans for which are now being prepared, will cover a ground space of 22½ feet on Diamond alley, extending 48 feet to a private alley back of the old Grand opera house building. It will adjoin the proposed two-story brick and concrete warehouse which the Milligan Hardware & Supply company will erect at the northwest corner of Diamond and Crook alleys.

Two store rooms will be situated on the ground floor of the new building, the stairway ascending from the center. The second floor will be used for storage purposes. Two apartments of three rooms and a bath each will be provided on the third floor.

Mr. Hune now occupies the two-

DELEGATES TO ST. PAUL CONCLAVE WILL BE ELECTED AT KIWANIS MEET

Business Session Will Follow Noon Luncheon on Thursday — Plan Visit to Leetonia.

Thursday's meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Larkins annex, Market street, will be strictly a business one.

Delegates and alternates to the international Kiwanis convention to be held in St. Paul, next June, will be named. The club is entitled to two delegates and an equal number of alternates. Chairman of the various club committees will be asked to make a report of their work during the first quarter of the year.

The club will also discuss its proposed trip to Leetonia next Tuesday evening. A special Y. & O. car has been chartered. At least 50 members are expected to make the trip. The program will be given by the local club men. Frank Jones is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The attendance prize on Thursday will be furnished by Olen Dawson. Dr. Clyde Larkins, Walter B. Hill, Dr. James Jackson and Cyril Taylor have been added to the reception committee.

GREAT TRADE CONFLICT NEAR

U. S. Not Alarmed as Exporting Nations Plan Clash.

WASHINGTON, March 25—A "great trade conflict" is impending between the chief exporting nations of the world, but American business men can look forward to it with confidence.

This prediction was made by the department of commerce today simultaneous with the publication of an analysis of foreign trade, which showed that the exporters of the United States are rapidly forging ahead in the great competitive markets of South America and the Far East.

Julius Klein, director of foreign trade, called attention to an increase of $430,000,000 in America's foreign trade last year as compared with 1923, and gains in the early months of 1925.

Manufacturers Will Benefit.

These gains have been offset to a certain extent by increasing doubts as to the dangers of competition from our European rivals, Klein said. So much mis-information, however, has been circulated on the subject, inspired in some cases by our rivals themselves, that a calm, dispassionate view of the actual facts should be taken.

Klein believes that manufacturers of this country will reap a wide benefit from increased purchasing power of the competitive markets of Latin-America, Asia, Oceania and Africa, which took imports last year of $6,000,000,000, or more than double the 1913 figure. A continued expansion of these markets is anticipated in view of the tendency for improvement in living standards.

"The significant feature of this stimulated purchasing power is the fact that requirements are in a large measure for the newer products of American ingenuity," Klein declared. He enumerated automobiles, electrical specialties, motion picture films, labor saving machinery, ready-made clothes and office equipment.

day in commenting on Chamberlain's statement.

The majority in commons appears to have accepted Chamberlain's declaration with enthusiasm. The question now is, commons was asking, whether France will accede to the suggestions. Chamberlain, in effect, said Great Britain would underwrite any security promises Germany would make, especially regarding its eastern frontier.

Great stress is being laid on Chamberlain's statement that since the war, "Europe has been divided into two camps and unless its restless fears are discontinued, Europe will again march to an armageddon."

It is probable an inter-allied conference will be the next step toward European security, providing France sees fit to accept the German offer as a basis af discussion.

France's decision is expected to influence the stand of her allies, Poland and Czech-Slovakia.

Prepare for Conference

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25. — Great Britain and the United States are working in close harmony toward the staging of another arms limitation conference in Washington within a year.

All doubts on this score were dispelled today by two significant moves, one in London and one in Washington.

In London, the Baldwin ministry came out unreservedly in favor of a security pact for Europe that will embrace every first class power and provide mutual guarantees against armed conflict for at least a generation.

In Washington, President Coolidge has directed Secretary of State Kellogg, himself fresh from London and peculiarly acquainted with British views, to begin the groundwork of preparation for a second arms conference. This groundwork consists principally of considering an agenda of aims and purposes which can be submitted quietly and unofficially to the powers interested.

sary to close the gap which was opened when the canal failed. Since that time a greater part of the land has been under cultivation. About three years ago, the Fish and Game association obtained options on the property. These options were turned over to the state.

The Guilford park will be the only state park in the eastern part of the Buckeye state, and this fact was one of the strongest arguments in favor of the measure, sponsored in the house by Representative Ralph W. Emmons and in the senate by Harry M. Carpenter, Steubenville.

Plan to Improve Roads.

The site is located in Hanover township, about three miles from the Lincoln highway and about two miles from the Cox Highway at Winona. The county commissioners are expected to take steps within the near future to improve the roads from the Lincoln highway on the south and the Cox highway on the north to the state park.

The dam will be closed as soon as possible. It has been estimated that it will require at least a year for the big pond to fill and to permit it to be stocked with fish. It is fed by several fresh water streams, which tests have shown contained no pollution.

A meeting of the State Fish and Game Protective association will be held within the next few weeks to discuss the state park question. The governor has 10 days in which to either sign or veto the measure or permit it to become a law without his signature.

DEATH ROLL

5 DIE, 40 HURT IN RAIL WRECK

French Senator Among Victims of Bordeaux Express Crash.

POITIERS, France, March 25.—The death toll in the wreck of the Bordeaux express today was increased to six, when railroad officials announced that there were five unidentified bodies. Senator Pedobidou was the sixth victim and 40 were seriously injured.

French soldiers returning from Morocco rescued a wealthy unidentified Spaniard from drowning when the engine and seven coaches derailed and two of the cars rolled into the river Clain.

PARIS, March 25.—Twenty-three victims of the Bordeaux express wreck arrived at the Austerlitz station here at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Others of the more seriously injured had been treated at the Poitiers hospital, it was learned.

Relief Work Under Way.

BENTON, Ills., March 25.—With relief work placed solely in the hands of the Aemrican Red Cross and reconstruction well under way in southern Illinois' tornado-torn cities, efforts were directed today toward rural rehabilitation throughout the entire storm area.

At Murphysboro, the burden of all relief work in Indiana, Illinois and Missouri was officially shifted from temporary societies to the Red Cross at a mass meeting of civilians and rescue crews and announcement was made that administrative offices for the tri-state operations would be established at Murphysboro.

Branch bases will be set up in each stricken city and village where staffs of trained workers will be stationed. Every disaster sufferer in the stricken area was guaranteed individual help by Henry M. Baker, Red Cross disaster director. "The Red Cross will never leave until this is done," he said.

At West Frankfort, 300 representatives of Southern Illinois towns confered and similarly placed the responsibility of rehabilitation with the Red Cross. A crew of 50 welfare workers was ordered to West Frankfort.

Today a cavaran was touring the entire storm area in the three states. It consisted of a train carrying complete commissary and sleeping quarters for 50 workers. Automobiles followed the train.

These workers will clean up the hundreds of farms leveled in the storm path without charge to tenants.

Girl's Body Found In Swamp; Search For Missing Man

NEWPORT, Vt., March 25.—Search of the dismal corners of Coventry swamp for the body of Charles H. Hutchins, 29, was under way today following the discovery in the swamp of the body of Miss Edith M. Young, 24, a stenographer.

The couple disappeared four months ago. The finding of the body of Miss Young came at the hour set by Vermont courts to hear the divorce suit brought by Mrs. Hutchins, charging desertion by her husband, manager of a local creamery.

Ted Corliss, a trapper, found the body of the girl.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—Industrial and railroad stocks rebounded sharply in early trading today. There was practically no stock for sale at the level of prices quoted at yesterday's close, and buyers were compelled to bid from 1 to 4 points higher for the industrial market leaders and a maximum of two points higher for the railroad stocks at the opening. These price gains were extended in the first hour of trading. The rallies in general electric and cast iron pipe, compared with yesterday's low prices, extended to ten points:, in American can and Baldwin about five points; American Car and Foundry six points; Sears Roebuck five points; Maxwell Motors five points; Northern Pacific, Atchison and other railroad stocks one to 2 1-2 points.

Buying of stocks to cover commitments appearing simultaneously with investment buying of considerable proportions, relieved pressure on most sections of the market.

There was some hesitancy in the railroad list, however, due to disappointment over the February earnings reports of large railroad systems. Railroad shares fell back into an irregular position after short covering had been completed and in some cases dipped below yesterday's closing prices. Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and the northwestern rails received further attention from bearish traders and Rock Island tumbled a point or two from its higher opening price.

Pan-American was an aggressive leader in the oil stocks, its rise being due to persistent rumors of impending Standard Oil control of the American properties of the American. American sugar sold higher on rumors of probable inauguration of dividends in May. St. Paul stocks and bonds responded with higher prices to the expectation of a brief and effective receivership period for the road and the favorable reports of current freight traffic over its lines. Motor stocks were steady, with Maxwell stock spurting about three points.

Market activity slowed up in the second hour and prices showed a slightly downward tendency. Most of the outside markets were reactionary, wheat losing in both the Chicago and Winnipeg markets. Cotton was fairly steady. Call money renewals 3½ per cent.

Aims to Live 100

Pittsburgher Uses a Pure Herb Remedy to Keep His Blood Young and the Youthful Fires Burning.

"I am near 60 years, but I feel as young as I did at 30. I take a cupful of Bulgarian Herb Tea once or twice a week. It keeps me healthy and strong and makes me feel young again," said H. H. Von Schlick, manufacturer of Bulgarian Herb Tea.

If you are constipated or have rheumatism, liver, kidney or stomach trouble, don't wait another day. You need vigor and energy to perform your work. You need my great pure herb tonic to bring you back to health and happiness. Why not feel 10 to 30 years younger?

Why, just to break up a bad cold quickly, Bulgarian Herb Tea is worth ten times its price. The rich herb juices, taken hot at bedtime, heat up the chilled blood, stimulate the circulation and aid nature to cast the poison germs out of your system.

Go to your druggist and ask for Bulgarian Herb Tea, in the red and yellow box—75c. $1.25.

Note:—Many people live on farms and in small towns, where there is no drug store. They need this great medicine and should have it, so I will send by mail by large five months' treatment for $1.25. Address me, H. H. Von Schlick, President, Dept. M., 831 Locust street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

its out of so-called law enforcement."

Senator Bender then pulled out a copy of the American Issue, publication of the Anti-Saloon League, which opposed his previous justice restriction bill and declared that the Anti-Saloon League favored his anti-fee-splitting measure.

"Let me read from this publication," he said. "It tells here that the Bender bill abolishing the splitting of fees is up for a third reading. 'This bill goes at the fee-splitting evil in the right way,' says the American Issue. I merely read this to set you right on where they stand."

Aim of Measure.

The bill, according to competent authorities, will practically put an end to commercialized enforcement of prohibition, as it has been seen in Ohio since the passage of the Miller act. Whether it will be acted on in the house cannot be predicted, but considerable pressure will be brought by city members.

It provides that any village, city or township which employs prohibition agents shall fix a salary for them. No limit is set on the salary, but it is left up to the village or township, on the theory that its taxpayers will guard its treasury, and not give them too much.

The bill repeals the section of the Miller law which declared that village councils or township trustees could set apart a certain portion of the fines by liquor law violators as the compensation for the arresting officers.

The house took a step toward eliminating dishonest enforcement officials today when the judiciary committee reported favorably the other Bender bill recommended by the Anti-Saloon League, which gives 5 per cent of the voters in a political subdivision power to bring up any official for removal trial before common pleas court. This bill has passed the senate.

Approve Investigation Plan.

COLUMBUS, March 25.—Plans for legislative investigation of the extent to which communistic, socialistic and atheistic teachings have permeated the state supported universities, especially Ohio State university, Columbus, Ohio university, Athens and Miami university, Oxford, were approved today by the senate rules committee.

Senator Edwards, Licking, was scheduled to sponsor the resolution calling for the investigation, according to plans of the committee which will be introduced this afternoon.

Legislative leaders are confident that the investigation will prove equally as important in unearthing the "boring in" tactics of radical propagandists as the famous Luck investigation in New York.

Appropriations Bill Reported.

COLUMBUS, Mar. 25.—Total appropriations of $71,265,259.45 are carried in the general appropriation bill as reported today for passage by the senate finance committee.

The total is a reduction of $3,723,513.65 from the aggregate of $74,988,773.10 carried in the bill when it passed the house, senator Carpenter, Jefferson county, chairman of the senate committee, explained.

The reduction is accounted for by elimination of all definite appropriations in the bill for state highway maintenance and repairs, and the substitution of a provision appropriating the state's share of the proceeds of the gas tax and auto tag fees for this purpose.

Newman Erb, Wealthy Railroad President, Dies in New York

NEW YORK, March 25.—Newman Erb, millionaire railroad president and copper magnate, died in Roosevelt hospital today, following an operation. He was 75 years old.

Erb was rushed to the hospital Sunday morning when his condition became critical and a delicate operation was performed. He died at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

BANDIT PICKS SEVEN JURORS

Gerald Chapman Directs His Own Defense.

HARTFORD, Conn., March 25.—Gerald Chapman, notorious mail bandit, continued to direct his own defense today on the second day of his trial here charged with the slaying of Policeman James Skelly of New Britain, last October 12. Completion of the jury was expected today by both sides.

As soon as Chapman's handcuffs were removed by the two husky guards who accompany the prisoner to court, Chapman slipped quickly into his chair and talked earnestly to counsel. When the first talesman was called Chapman rested his hands under his chin and trained cold blue eyes on him testingly.

Seven talesmen were quickly examined and eliminated, two drawing challenges from the defense. Lengthy conferences between Chapman and Groehl, preceded each challenge.

The streets surrounding the red brick court house where the bandit is being tried were jammed with curious throngs before the opening of court.

With the report that "Dutch" Anderson, Chapman's pal, who escaped from Atlanta federal prison after Chapman's successful dash for freedom, was in town, a "pilot" was added to the convoy conducting Chapman from the state prison to the court house.

The type of venire men represented in both panels assures Chapman of a "fair trial," according to State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn.

Rump Investigation Into Alleged Trust Operations Abroad

WASHINGTON, March 25.—A "rump" investigation into alleged trust operation of American firms abroad was launched today by the senatorial farm bloc.

The senate group formally called on the federal trade commission for information concerning the nature of combinations formed in foreign territory by American business interests. The request was contained in a letter to the commission, signed by 16 western senators.

The farm bloc members charged American firms with dumping their surplus factory outputs in foreign markets at prices much cheaper than demanded from home consumption. This action, the senators contended, constitutes a violation of the Pomerene export trade act, the anti-trust law for American firms dealing abroad. They also charged this practice has resulted in profiteering at home.

Famous Teapot Dome Trial at Cheyenne Will Close Today

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Mar 25.—The Teapot Dome Equity suit, the most momentous oil litigation ever instituted in the United States swung into its last lap today as George P. Hoover, of Washington, and Martin W. Littleton of New York, defense counsel, argued points of law and lack of conspiracy, respectively, in behalf of Harry F. Sinclair's mammouth oil company, and Owen J. Roberts planned to close the government's case in a summing up late this afternoon.

Hoover will discuss the fundamental principles of law applicable to the issues at stake, while Littleton's oratory is expected to center around an attack upon congress as a result of that body's action in demanding the anulment of a lease which, he will argue, was consummated under an act passed by the legislative body itself. Early plans called for the allotment of two hours' time to Hoover, one and one-half hours to Littleton and a similar period to Roberts, which would bring the famous trial to a close late this afternoon.

GREAT TRADE CONFLICT NEAR

U. S. Not Alarmed as Exporting Nations Plan Clash.

WASHINGTON, March 25—A "great trade conflict" is impending between the chief exporting nations of the world, but American business men can look forward to it with confidence.

This prediction was made by the department of commerce today simultaneous with the publication of an analysis of foreign trade, which showed that the exporters of the United States are rapidly forging ahead in the great competitive markets of South America and the Far East.

Julius Klein, director of foreign trade, called attention to an increase of $430,000,000 in America's foreign trade last year as compared with 1923, and gains in the early months of 1925.

Manufacturers Will Benefit.

These gains have been offset to a certain extent by increasing doubts as to the dangers of competition from our European rivals, Klein said. So much mis-information, however, has been circulated on the subject, inspired in some cases by our rivals themselves, that a calm, dispassionate view of the actual facts should be taken.

Klein believes that manufacturers of this country will reap a wide benefit from increased purchasing power of the competitive markets of Latin-America, Asia, Oceania and Africa, which took imports last year of $6,000,000,000, or more than double the 1913 figure. A continued expansion of these markets is anticipated in view of the tendency for improvement in living standards.

"The significant feature of this stimulated purchasing power is the fact that requirements are in a large measure for the newer products of American ingenuity," Klein declared. He enumerated automobiles, electrical specialties, motion picture films, labor saving machinery, ready-made clothes and office equipment.

day in commenting on Chamberlain's statement.

The majority in commons appears to have accepted Chamberlain's declaration with enthusiasm. The question now is, commons was asking, whether France will accede to the suggestions. Chamberlain, in effect, said Great Britain would underwrite any security promises Germany would make, especially regarding its eastern frontier.

Great stress is being laid on Chamberlain's statement that since the war, "Europe has been divided into two camps and unless its restless fears are discontinued, Europe will again march to an armageddon."

It is probable an inter-allied conference will be the next step toward European security, providing France sees fit to accept the German offer as a basis af discussion.

France's decision is expected to influence the stand of her allies, Poland and Czech Slovakia.

Prepare for Conference

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25. — Great Britain and the United States are working in close harmony toward the staging of another arms limitation conference in Washington within a year.

All doubts on this score were dispelled today by two significant moves, one in London and one in Washington.

In London, the Baldwin ministry came out unreservedly in favor of a security pact for Europe that will embrace every first class power and provide mutual guarantees against armed conflict for at least a generation.

In Washington, President Coolidge has directed Secretary of State Kellogg, himself fresh from London and peculiarly acquainted with British views, to begin the groundwork of preparation for a second arms conference. This groundwork consists principally of considering an agenda of aims and purposes which can be submitted quietly and unofficially to the powers interested.

sary to close the gap which was opened when the canal failed. Since that time a greater part of the land has been under cultivation. About three years ago, the Fish and Game association obtained options on the property. These options were turned over to the state.

The Guilford park will be the only state park in the eastern part of the Buckeye state, and this fact was one of the strongest arguments in favor of the measure, sponsored in the house by Representative Ralph W. Emmons and in the senate by Harry M. Carpenter, Steubenville.

Plan to Improve Roads.

The site is located in Hanover township, about three miles from the Lincoln highway and about two miles from the Cox Highway at Winona. The county commissioners are expected to take steps within the near future to improve the roads from the Lincoln highway on the south and the Cox highway on the north to the state park.

The dam will be closed as soon as possible. It has been estimated that it will require at least a year for the big pond to fill and to permit it to be stocked with fish. It is fed by several fresh water streams, which tests have shown contained no pollution.

A meeting of the State Fish and Game Protective association will be held within the next few weeks to discuss the state park question. The governor has 10 days in which to either sign or veto the measure or permit it to become a law without his signature.

Burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetey, Wellsville.

5 DIE, 40 HURT IN RAIL WRECK

French Senator Among Victims of Bordeaux Express Crash.

POITIERS, France, March 25.—The death toll in the wreck of the Bordeaux express today was increased to six, when railroad officials announced that there were five unidentified bodies. Senator Pedobidou was the sixth victim and 40 were seriously injured.

French soldiers returning from Morocco rescued a wealthy unidentified Spaniard from drowning when the engine and seven coaches derailed and two of the cars rolled into the river Clain.

PARIS, March 25.—Twenty-three victims of the Bordeaux express wreck arrived at the Austerlitz station here at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Others of the more seriously injured had been treated at the Poitiers hospital, it was learned.

Relief Work Under Way.

BENTON, Ills., March 25.—With relief work placed solely in the hands of the Aemrican Red Cross and reconstruction well under way in southern Illinois' tornado-torn cities, efforts were directed today toward rural rehabilitation throughout the entire storm area.

At Murphysboro, the burden of all relief work in Indiana, Illinois and Missouri was officially shifted from temporary societies to the Red Cross at a mass meeting of civilians and rescue crews and announcement was made that administrative offices for the tri-state operations would be established at Murphysboro.

Branch bases will be set up in each stricken city and village where staffs of trained workers will be stationed. Every disaster sufferer in the stricken area was guaranteed individual help by Henry M. Baker, Red Cross disaster director. "The Red Cross will never leave until this is done," he said.

At West Frankfort, 300 representatives of Southern Illinois towns conferred and similarly placed the responsibility of rehabilitation with the Red Cross. A crew of 50 welfare workers was ordered to West Frankfort.

Today a cavaran was touring the entire storm area in the three states. It consisted of a train carrying complete commissary and sleeping quarters for 50 workers. Automobiles followed the train.

These workers will clean up the hundreds of farms leveled in the storm path without charge to tenants.

Girl's Body Found In Swamp; Search For Missing Man

NEWPORT, Vt., March 25.—Search of the dismal corners of Coventry swamp for the body of Charles H. Hutchins, 29, was under way today following the discovery in the swamp of the body of Miss Edith M. Young, 24, a stenographer.

The couple disappeared four months ago. The finding of the body of Miss Young came at the hour set by Vermont courts to hear the divorce suit brought by Mrs. Hutchins, charging desertion by her husband, manager of a local creamery.

Ted Corliss, a trapper, found the body of the girl.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—Industrial and railroad stocks rebounded sharply in early trading today. There was practically no stock for sale at the level of prices quoted at yesterday's close, and buyers were compelled to bid from 1 to 4 points higher for the industrial market leaders and a maximum of two points higher for the railroad stocks at the opening. These price gains were extended in the first hour of trading. The rallies in general electric and cast iron pipe, compared with yesterday's low prices, extended to ten points:, in American can and Baldwin about five points; American Car and Foundry six points; Sears Roebuck five points; Maxwell Motors five points; Northern Pacific, Atchison and other railroad stocks one to 2 1-2 points.

Buying of stocks to cover commitments appearing simultaneously with investment buying of considerable proportions, relieved pressure on most sections of the market.

There was some hesitancy in the railroad list, however, due to disappointment over the February earnings reports of large railroad systems. Railroad shares fell back into an irregular position after short covering had been completed and in some cases dipped below yesterday's closing prices. Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and the northwestern rails received further attention from bearish traders and Rock Island tumbled a point or two from its higher opening price.

Pan-American was an aggressive leader in the oil stocks, its rise being due to persistent rumors of impending Standard Oil control of the American properties of the American. American sugar sold higher on rumors of probable inauguration of dividends in May. St. Paul stocks and bonds responded with higher prices to the expectation of a brief and effective receivership period for the road and the favorable reports of current freight traffic over its lines. Motor stocks were steady, with Maxwell stock spurting about three points.

Market activity slowed up in the second hour and prices showed a slightly downward tendency. Most of the outside markets were reactionary, wheat losing in both the Chicago and Winnipeg markets. Cotton was fairly steady. Call money renewals 3½ per cent.

Aims to Live 100

Pittsburgher Uses a Pure Herb Remedy to Keep His Blood Young and the Youthful Fires Burning.

"I am near 60 years, but I feel as young as I did at 30. I take a cupful of Bulgarian Herb Tea once or twice a week. It keeps me healthy and strong and makes me feel young again," said H. H. Von Schlick, manufacturer of Bulgarian Herb Tea.

If you are constipated or have rheumatism, liver, kidney or stomach trouble, don't wait another day. You need vigor and energy to perform your work. You need my great pure herb tonic to bring you back to health and happiness. Why not feel 10 to 30 years younger?

Why, just to break up a bad cold quickly, Bulgarian Herb Tea is worth ten times its price. The rich herb juices, taken hot at bedtime, heat up the chilled blood, stimulate the circulation and aid nature to cast the poison germs out of your system.

Go to your druggist and ask for Bulgarian Herb Tea, in the red and yellow box—75c. $1.25.

Note:—Many people live on farms and in small towns, where there is no drug store. They need this great medicine and should have it, so I will send by mail by large five months' treatment for $1.25. Address me, H. H. Von Schlick, President, Dept. M., 831 Locust street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Fine-Splitting

its out of so-called law enforcement."

Senator Bender then pulled out a copy of the American Issue, publication of the Anti-Saloon League, which opposed his previous justice restriction bill and declared that the Anti-Saloon League favored his anti-fee-splitting measure.

"Let me read from this publication," he said. "It tells here that the Bender bill abolishing the splitting of fees is up for a third reading. 'This bill goes at the fee-splitting evil in the right way,' says the American Issue. I merely read this to set you right on where they stand."

Aim of Measure.

The bill, according to competent authorities, will practically put an end to commercialized enforcement of prohibition, as it has been seen in Ohio since the passage of the Miller act. Whether it will be acted on in the house cannot be predicted, but considerable pressure will be brought by city members.

It provides that any village, city or township which employs prohibition agents shall fix a salary for them. No limit is set on the salary, but it is left up to the village or township, on the theory that its taxpayers will guard its treasury, and not give them too much.

The bill repeals the section of the Miller law which declared that village councils or township trustees could set apart a certain portion of the fines by liquor law violators as the compensation for the arresting officers.

The house took a step toward eliminating dishonest enforcement officials today when the judiciary committee reported favorably the other Bender bill recommended by the Anti-Saloon League, which gives 5 per cent of the voters in a political subdivision power to bring up any official for removal trial before common pleas court. This bill has passed the senate.

Approve Investigation Plan.

COLUMBUS, March 25.—Plans for legislative investigation of the extent to which communistic, socialistic and atheistic teachings have permeated the state supported universities, especially Ohio State university, Columbus, Ohio university, Athens and Miami university, Oxford, were approved today by the senate rules committee.

Senator Edwards, Licking, was scheduled to sponsor the resolution calling for the investigation, according to plans of the committee which will be introduced this afternoon.

Legislative leaders are confident that the investigation will prove equally as important in unearthing the "boring in" tactics of radical propagandists as the famous Luck investigation in New York.

Appropriations Bill Reported.

COLUMBUS, Mar. 25.—Total appropriations of $71,265,259.45 are carried in the general appropriation bill as reported today for passage by the senate finance committee.

The total is a reduction of $3,723,513.65 from the aggregate of $74,988,773.10 carried in the bill when it passed the house, senator Carpenter, Jefferson county, chairman of the senate committee, explained.

The reduction is accounted for by elimination of all definite appropriations in the bill for state highway maintenance and repairs, and the substitution of a provision appropriating the state's share of the proceeds of the gas tax and auto tag fees for this purpose.

Newman Erb, Wealthy Railroad President, Dies in New York

NEW YORK, March 25.—Newman Erb, millionaire railroad president and copper magnate, died in Roosevelt hospital today, following an operation. He was 75 years old.

Erb was rushed to the hospital Sunday morning when his condition became critical and a delicate operation was performed. He died at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

BANDIT PICKS SEVEN JURORS

Gerald Chapman Directs His Own Defense.

HARTFORD, Conn., March 25.—Gerald Chapman, notorious mail bandit, continued to direct his own defense today on the second day of his trial here charged with the slaying of Policeman James Skelly of New Britain, last October 12. Completion of the jury was expected today by both sides.

As soon as Chapman's handcuffs were removed by the two husky guards who accompany the prisoner to court, Chapman stipped quickly into his chair and talked earnestly to counsel. When the first talesman was called Chapman rested his hands under his chin and trained cold blue eyes on him testingly.

Seven talesmen were quickly examined and eliminated, two drawing challenges from the defense. Lengthy conferences between Chapman and Groehl, preceded each callenge.

The streets surrounding the red brick court house where the bandit is being tried were jammed with curious throngs before the opening of court.

With the report that "Dutch" Anderson, Chapman's pal, who escaped from Atlanta federal prison after Chapman's successful dash for freedom, was in town, a "pilot" was added to the convoy conducting Chapman from the state prison to the court house.

The type of venire men represented in both panels assures Chapman of a "fair trial," according to State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn.

Rump Investigation Into Alleged Trust Operations Abroad

WASHINGTON, March 25.—A "rump" investigation into alleged trust operation of American firms abroad was launched today by the senatorial farm bloc.

The senate group formally called on the federal trade commission for information concerning the nature of combinations formed in foreign territory by American business interests. The request was contained in a letter to the commission, signed by 16 western senators.

The farm bloc members charged American firms with dumping their surplus factory outputs in foreign markets at prices much cheaper than demanded from home consumption. This action, the senators contended, constitutes a violation of the Pomerene export trade act, the anti-trust law for American firms dealing abroad. They also charged this practice has resulted in profiteering at home.

Famous Teapot Dome Trial at Cheyenne Will Close Today

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Mar 25.—The Teapot Dome Equity suit, the most momentous oil litigation ever instituted in the United States swung into its last lap today as George P. Hoover, of Washington, and Martin W. Littleton of New York, defense counsel, argued points of law and lack of conspiracy, respectively, in behalf of Harry F. Sinclair's mammouth oil company, and Owen J. Roberts planned to close the government's case in a summing up late this afternoon.

Hoover will discuss the fundamental principles of law applicable to the issues at stake, while Littleton's oratory is expected to center around an attack upon congress as a result of that body's action in demanding the anulment of a lease which, he will argue, was consummated under an act passed by the legislative body itself. Early plans called for the allotment of two hours' time to Hoover, one and one-half hours to Littleton and a similar period to Roberts, which would bring the famous trial to a close late this afternoon.

MURDER TRIAL OPENS MONDAY

James Gagliardi to Face Court for Alleged Slaying.

James Gagliardi, of Wellsville, charged with murder in the first degree in connection with the slaying of Rocco Benvento, of this city, will go on trial next Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock in common pleas court.

Between 15 and 20 witnesses have been subpoenaed by the state to testify in the case. Probably as many will be called by the defense, it is said.

The state will be represented by Prosecuting Attorney Robert Brookes and his assistant, John E. Bauknecht. The court has assigned former Prosecutor J. C. Hanley of East Liverpool and Attorney George T. Farrell of Lisbon, to represent Gagliardi.

Of the 75 names drawn from the jury wheel for this case, all but 10 have been served by Sheriff George Wright and Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter. These few, it was announced, were out of the county and consequently out of the jurisdiction of the court.

Class No. 13 to Meet

Mrs. Rodney Boso will be hostess to members of Sunday school class No. 13 of the First Methodist Protestant church on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at her home in Center street.

Plans will be completed for the apron, cap and bake sale which will be held by the class on Saturday afternoon in the Haugh building.

Coterie Meeting Thursday.

The Calendar Coterie of the Second Presbyterian church will convene on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church basement.

The hostesses will include Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. Fred Lowmiller, Mrs. Fred Gluth and Mrs. Harry Hartford.

Getting Too Fat? Try This—Reduce

Roots and Herbs Used in Medicine.

The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass., is recognized as the greatest user of roots and herbs in the world. Over half a million pounds are used annually in manufacturing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. These herbs are gathered with the greatest care at the season of the year when the medicinal elements which they contain are at their best. This, in part, accounts for the wonderful efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in restoring ailing women to health and strength.

PARK WORKERS MEET THURSDAY

Final instructions for the Hammond park dollar tag day, which will be observed her Saturday, will be outlined to team captains and their workers at a meeting on Thursday night in the city hall council chamber.

Basing their predictions on attendances at previous meetings and words of encouragement for the project, members of the executive committee today advanced the assertion that Thursday's gathering will bring together one of the most representative bodies of Wellsville citizens ever assembled for any civic cause.

Never in the history of the city, the executive committee declares, has so capable an organization, representing as it does, so many and varied organizations, been formed for the purpose of advancing civic welfare.

The buttons for the tag sale are expected to arrive today from Rochester, N. Y., and these, with receipts and badges will probably be ready for distribution tomorrow evening.

The commission, through Secretary Grattan V. Dugan, today announced the receipt of a commendatory expression on the park drive from S. E. Daw, superintendent of schools, who says:

"As the park is the property of the city, I feel that your plan of asking all citizens to share in its improvement and upkeep is highly commendable. Most progressive cities have a program for development of parks as a part of their growth and expansion. Any city which fails to make provision for the promotion of public health and wholesome outdoor recreation is lacking in wisdom and foresight. The small cost to each individual citizen of fitting the park as a place for wholesome recreation, will be returned many times in the form of healthy, happy children and a cleaner, better community.

"I bespeak a hearty response from our citizens in this worthy undertaking.

"Respectfully yours,

First Quiets—Then Ends A Cough

That terrible "hack", "hack", "hack", that almost drives you frantic and strains your whole body can be quieted in a jiffy by taking a swallow now and then of that fine old medicine, Kemp's Balsam. It cuts the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membrane and takes away that constant desire to cough, cough, cough. Only 30 cents at all stores.

For that Cough! KEMP'S BALSAM

Is Holding His Own

"Ten years ago I received such wonderful help from your medicine for my stomach trouble that I have recommended it to hundreds of other sufferers. Recently a friend of mine whose brother in a distant city was stricken with acute indigestion and was not expected to live, got his brother to take a bottle on my advice. I have just received word that his brother was holding his own, and I am confident that Mayr's Wonderful Remedy will entirely restore him." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Jesse D. Holloway and druggists everywhere.

"Sightseers" will lunch at each booth.

Wife Asks Divorce

Claiming that her husband deserted her March 6, 1925, Sadie Moore, through her attorney, W. A. O'Grady, has filed an action for divorce against William A. Moore, residing in Buckeye avenue, near Twenty-second street.

Mrs. Moore recites in her petition that she was marreid to Moore March 16, 1914, and that they have four children. She also declares that Moore has left his family and has failed to establish any credit for the support of his wife and children.

Auxiliary To Hold Euchre.

Arrangements have been completed for the euchre which will be held on Thursday evening by the Ladies' Auxiliary to Corporal Duty post, No. 180, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in the post headquarters in upper Main street. The euchre will start at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Stoffel Hostess.

Members of the Silverweb Fancywork club will convene on Friday night at the home of Mrs. Louis Stoffel, Tenth street.

Plan Dinner Saturday.

Knights and Ladies of the Golden Eagle will entertain at a roast beef dinner on Saturday evening in their lodge rooms, Ninth and Main streets. Members and their friends will attend.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Saint of France.

Wide, restless grey like two bewildered birds
Here eyes were troubled with some nameless quest:
She had heard voices, and she could not rest;
She had heard voices crying without words.
And she rose up, and left her father's herd,
And took the path to the hill's blazing crest
And stood, a crimson cross against the west
An instant, and her eyes were homing birds.

She had found peace: and when she came to die
She heard the voices calling her again—
The crackling faggots smouldering on the sky,
And she had made a miracle of pain.
But people who were come to see her die
Remembered only fire and the sky.

Husband Compelled To Wash Clothes of The Star Boarder

FITCHBURG, Mass.—Doing all the chamber work, washing the star boarder's clothes and preparing and serving his meals, all in an endeavor to keep peace in the family, was too much for Gaudias Boucher.

So Boucher is suing his wife, Pamelia, for divorce, alleging unfaithfulness.

Eugene Bonin, of Lowell, was named by Boucher in his testimony in probate court as the "star boarder."

Mrs. Boucher has filed a cross suit for divorce.

Offers City Land.

BUCYRUS—Daniel Aumiller, retired farmer, has offered to deed to the city 30 acres of land, 12 acres within the corporation and the remaining 18 adjacent to it, for park purposes and a public playground. The land is in the southwestern part of the city.

Ireland ships its higher quality food to other countries and buys less expensive products for its own tables.

KIDNEYS MUST HAVE PLENTY OF WATER

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irriate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obligating you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, cobined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Mayor Assailed.

ELYRIA—Mrs. Mae Friday, councilwoman, attacked Mayor Harry Hinckson at a meeting of city council. She declared that enforcement of the traffic ordinance was practically nullified by the action of the mayor in suspending all, or most of, the fines.

"Woodshed Walloping" for Joy-riders

East Liverpool, which has been suffering from an epidemic of automobile thefts since January 1, during which period 50 cars have been taken from their parking places, used for joy rides and then abandoned, might curb the practice if the example of a Philadelphia court official were emulated.

According to a press dispatch today, an old fashioned "woodshed walloping" was the remedy meted out to two 14-year-old Philadelphia boys for taking liberties with a motor car recently which was not their own.

After a wild ride in an automobile belonging to a clergyman, the boys were sentenced to parental chastisement by the juvenile court judge. The sentences were executed by the respective fathers with the aid of a razor strop and a leather belt, while the probation officer looked on.

If the "woodshed walloping" idea were more popular in some East Liverpool homes, there would be less loafing in poolrooms and on street corners on the part of cigarette-smoking school boys who are on the alert for some means of "killing time" and usually turn their attention to parked automobiles.

In other words, the police worries will be lessened if parents resort to the old fashioned, but effective method, of punishing reckless youths.

Strong Children

Theodore Marangos, aged 3, living on the fifth floor of a New York tenement, caused a traffic jam and a near-riot in his street the other day. And all quite innocently.

Little Theodore, feeling the spring in his veins, had opened the window and crawled out onto the ledge in the warm sunshine. He looked down, and the prospect looked good to him. He would go exploring in the only region available. He dangled his fat little legs over the edge and started down the wall, hanging on with his hands. But somehow there were not enough footholds on that particular wall, so he just dangled. He wasn't scared. But he couldn't manage to get either up or down.

Somebody below saw him, and yelled. Soon the whole neighborhood was yelling. Men rushed up five flights of stairs, smashed open the door, jumped to the window and pulled Theodore in. He had been hanging there 10 minutes and was a bit tired. But not dismayed. He stubbornly refused to cry, as a baby should under such conditions.

"Me strong as Dumpsey!" he declared stoutly.

A certain other lad, aged 8, of pure American parentage, must have a strain of kinship to the little immigrants' child. When remonstrated with for carrying heavy loads of coal, wood, etc., he invariably answers: "But I've go to do it. Don't you know I've got to make myself strong?"

And the children are strong. Despite all the tales of deterioration, the newest generation of American stock, both imported and domestic, is growing up more vigorous than the last generation, with a surprising amount of physical and moral courage.

As Others See Us in Films

An authority on the American moving picture industry stated recently that now every film we are seeing here in America is sent right over to Europe so that "the people there are seeing exactly just what we are seeing, the best films made." This statement was supposed to be an answer to the often heard complaint that undesirable American films were being shown abroad. It rally answers that statement only by saying that American films abroad are just as good as American films at home. And movie critics have been saying lately that films are very much improved in the last year or two.

Perhaps the reason why American tourists abroad are ashamed of the American movies they see in foreign cities is that when away from home memory idealizes all things American. This idealization is then considerably jarred by pictures which portray American life as revolving around wild parties, exaggerated night life, wild west shooting frays and similar trite movie scenes. Such things are not typical of America. Seen in this country, they are merely amusing of boresome according to the mood of the spectator. Seen in a foreign land, they are shocking because they are false.

If tourists want more truthful portrayals of all-round American life in the pictures they see abroad, they should start the demand in their native land.

Incomes Preferred

A British judge has suggested a new line of speculation by ruling that if betting winnings are profits, and therefore assessable for income tax returns, the income tax officials would have to grant a rebate when losses occurred.

A British newspaper immediately carries the idea only a little farther and suggests that a logical reasoning from that basis would require the government to refund to a man who had lost his job the amount of income tax he would have paid had he held it.

Without bothering to locate the flaw in such attractive logic, any income tax payer in this country, with the reduced rates now in effect, would rather have the job and the income than any such tax refund.

Having set four husbands adrift, one of our leading movie ladies starts in appropriately by marryng her fifth in mid-ocean.

PARIS, March 25.—Gambling houses are operated here under goverment license. The most luxurious of the lot is on the Rue de la Paix over Dunhill's tobacco shop. My cicerone was an American whom I suspect is a runner for the establishment.

The visitor must sign a police card giving his name, year he was born, occupation and other intimate details. The card goes to the prefect of police. Formal dress is required. The place is known as a club and regulations are strict.

A police official stands at each table. Loud talk is forb n. The patron may not take a drink at the gaming table. He must go to the bar in another part of the establishment. Women are not permitted in gambling rooms, although there is a reception room where they may wait for those who gamble.

A ten course dinner with wine and cigars is served free. So far as I could determine there was not an American at the tables. The stakes are high and under the brilliant lights was a sea of pale faces.

The croupiers interested me. Every pocket in their clothes is sewed up. Each night before they leave they are searched by an inspector. They are not permitted to have cuffs on their trousers. Their pay in tips is high for France. They average $30 a night.

I saw the son of a famous Parisian jeweler lose $2 000 at baccarat in about two seconds. He fainted. If a patron has extremely heavy losses he is not permitted to leave the building alone. He is followed to the sidewalk. The idea is to prevent suicide on the premises.

There are about 22 of these clubs in Paris. The proprietors grow rich by exacting the unfailing rake-off.

On a sunny day Paris flowers are out in gay habiliments. But on rainy days the drabness is reflected in dress. Consequently when I wore a light suit under leaden skies my American friends told me I was a mild affront to the French. I hope diplomatic relations will not be strained.

In an absent-minded moment I dropped a telegramme pneumatic in a mail box at my hotel. I told the concierge about it, hoping that when the mail carrier came and opened the box he would be able to retrieve it. Instead the concierge took a long ruler and patiently fished every letter out of the box. The last one was mine. He dropped the rest back into the slot. In America such tampering would, if discovered, send a man to jail. The concierge made no effort at secrecy.

The muffled footbeats of market horses at midnight is somehow stoothing. In the front seat the driver is almost invariably sound asleep. His horse knows the way. And you soon learn to love these animals. There is so much patient resignation about them as they plod along with their carts of carrots, cabbages and other vegetables.

A regular Normandy rain struck Paris today. It was slanting and as opacue as a curtain In a neighboring courtyard an old man with a fan-like beard has been sitting on a bench for two hours. I called a floor waiter to find out why he exposed himself to the torrents. "He always sits out in the rain," he replied. But he did not know the reason why. Paris—ever unexplainable.

The farm peasant resembles a balloon about to soar. His blue blouse is heavily starched and puffs out from his body. The collars and cuffs are embroidered. His body is gnarled from unceasing toil. He seems a pastel of woe.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A Code to Govern Aviation.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Within the next few weeks there will be promulgated an American aeronautical safety code which is calculated to do for air travel what the Hoover conference sought to do for safety on the streets and highways of the country.

The code has already been drawn up in the form of reports from ten committees composed of specialists, including the foremost engineering and aviation experts in America. The work of drafting the code was done under the auspices of the bureau of standards and the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Back in 1920 these two bodies were selected by the engineering standards committee as the organization most competent to draw up a set of rules that would not only standardize the construction of aircraft as to material tests of durability and safety qualities, but also regulate every phase of aerial navigation.

The committees have been at work on the problem during the last year in a quiet, unobtrusive, but very effective way, and the mass of proposals that they have formulated is the best answer to the oft-heard charge that the country has been asleep on the vital question of military and commercial aviation.

The engineering standards committee will convene next month with a view to the adoption of the aeronautical safety code. There may be minor changes, but the general expectation is that the code as now drafted by the various committees will stand and become the basis for a national law of the air.

For a long time the feeling has been abroad that because of constant experimentation and the absence of clearly defined standards of construction and safeguards for air travel, this country has been paying too heavy a price in constantly recurring fatalities. After a survey of these and a comparison of them with the minimum hazard incident to aerial travel, the conclusion was reached that a body of rules similar to the code now proposed was the most urgent requirement for a developing national air policy.

Coming at a time when the question of aircraft is looming large before the country, the formulation of an aeronautical safety code has much significance. The sponsor organizations are confident that it will make for extensive developments in military and commercial aviation in the years immediately ahead and that it will take flying definitely and for all time out of the experimental stage.

The code is primarily intended to promote safety in the air and to reduce the risk to the minimum by providing that every machine that leaves the ground is as mechanically perfect as possible under any given set of conditions and also that the pilot must in every case be able to pass the strictest mental and physical examination.

An Official Handbook.

It will, however, do much more than bring a greater element of safety into flying. By fixing definite standards of construction as well as tests, manufacturers of aircraft will have for the first time an official handbook setting forth specifications in accordance with the code. With such a handbook the problem of production in time of emergency would be more than half solved and the spending of gigantic sums for nothing more than mere experimentation by amateur builders, as happened during the World war, would be avoided.

Perhaps the most important aspect of the air code is the extent to which its adoption will serve to develop commercial aviation in the United States. As compared with other large countries, this country has lagged woefully behind in aerial transportation, notwithstanding the fact that America led the world in the development of flying and although American aviators have made a path around the globe. Except for the air mail service, which is establishing new records every day, little or nothing has yet been done by this country to make the airplane subserve the needs of commerce. We have nothing comparable to the big European companies doing an international business in passenger and freight carrying.

American capital has at all times been ready to develop transportation by air and to establish lanes of commerce through the clouds, but it is faced with a condition of chaos as far as laws and regulations are concerned. The public has no guarantee of protection. The merest tyro in the art of flying can "take off," take passengers and take his chances. The condition resembles that which would exist on the railroads if an ordinary mechanic could take a train and run it as best he could on a road without a protected right-of-way, without block signals and without an orderly dispatching system. This situation has reacted seriously on public sentiment as regards civil aeronautics.

The lack of development in this field is in no way due to unwillingness on the part of the American public to patronize such air routes as such. As a matter of fact, Americans constitute a very considerable part of the passenger traffic of European companies.

In order to assure that every phase of the subject would be covered in the proposed code, the whole field of mechanical and inventive genius was combed. Industry responded wholeheartedly and put its experts at the disposal of the bureau of standards and the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Various bureaus of the government interested in aviation delegated experts to the committees engaged in drafting the code. The bureau of standards itself furnished several, while the army air service, the bureau of aeronautics of the navy department, the air mail service, the weather bureau, the United States coast guard and the national advisory committee for aeronautics participated actively in the work.

Ten Subjects Considered.

The reports submittted took up the following 10 major subjects: Airplane structure, power plants, signalling equipment, airdromes and airways, traffic and pilotage rules, balloons, airships and parachutes.

One of the most interesting sections of the code deals with the question of the safety of the public. It is specifically set forth that airplanes must always avoid large assemblages of people.. This provision is interesting in view of an incident that occurred in Washington a few years ago. During the unveiling of the Lincoln Memorial one of the airplanes, in course of its maneuvering, came so close to the ground that it all but precipitated a panic among the throng of people assembled on the scene of the celebration. In fact, there was talk at the time of disciplining the aviator in charge of the machine.

The precautions taken against such an occurrence are so detailed in the new code that defininte altitude limits are fixed which depend in each instance on the size of the town or community over which the plane in flight may be moving. For instance, flight over small villages or towns must not be at a height less than 1,000 feet; while the flight over cities with a dimension of 10 miles across the thickly populated sections must not be at a height less than five thousand feet.

Another important provision is that relating to right-of-way. To appreciate the significance of this provision it is only necessary to recall that some of the worst tragedies of the air, both here and on the European battlefields during the World war, were caused by the collision of two airplanes, resulting in most cases in instantaneous explosion.

The committee on traffic and pilotage stipulated 1,500 feet as the safety zone which two planes in flight must maintain between each other to avoid "dangerous proximity." No aircraft must pass another by diving below it or climbing above it. Two planes approaching head on must pass each other by swerving in all cases to the right. In the case where one plane overtakes another, the overtaking plane must pass on the right. Airships always have the right of way over airplanes because of the much greater mobility of the heavier-than-air craft. So exhaustive are the regulations on this particular question of right-of-way as almost to preclude the danger of collision, if the pilot follows the air code.

The code provides that airways and airdromes be mapped out and co-ordinated with the same regularity as the railroad lines and their terminals are mapped out today. Airdromes at regular intervals, with the proper facilities for aircraft maintenance, are among the prime requisites in any program looking to the development of commercial aeronautics. It was, therefore, recommended that a first or second class airdrome should be available at important centers 200 miles apart and emergency airdromes at distances not greater than 25 miles along the line of flight on an airway. Radio towers are to be constructed in conjunction with airdromes in order that fuller use may be made of radio communication as an instrument of safety.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 25.—A belle in early life—social queen at middle age; then, to the bitter end, a recluse, a miser—for almost 40 years the most mysterious human being in a great city.

That is the outline of the story of love and loneliness, luxury and drudgery, social prominence and then a wilful outcast.

It began 83 years ago in Germany, took for its second scene New York city, and climaxed in this city.

Bertha Sherf, who in her maiden life was Bertha Elffle, is dead at her home here, in a once aristocratic quarter. For 40 years Bertha Sherf lived in that house, alone much of the time, except for the companionship she found in a dozen dogs, numerous cats and canaries. Seldom did she leave its protecting roof—and never did any one know why she preferred to live in seclusion.

Bertha Sherf came to Knoxville, a very young girl, when her parents moved from the great metropolis. She was beautiful, many times being termed the town's most popular young lady. After a gay debutante season she met, was wooed and won by John Sherf, then a rising young man. They were happy and prospered rapidly.

Sherf built Knoxville's finest hotel in the days immediately following the Civil war, and he acquired much other property amassing what was then considered a sizable fortune.

Then the Sherfs decided to conquer other fields and they moved to Columbus, Ga., where they started hotels booming, still retaining their holdings in the Tennesse city. Shortly thereafter John Sherf died and was buried in Columbus.

Bertha Sherf returned to her adopted city and called upon a sister, her only remaining relative, to come from Chicago to live with her. Mrs. Augusta Gratz, the sister, was among the leaders of Chicago's "500" 40 years ago. But little is known of her here.

The two sisters, then under 50, moved into one of the Sherf properties and there remained together until Mrs. Gratz died some years ago.

From that time on Bertha Sherf's sole companions were her pets. Not more than twice did any living soul, except during the most recent months, pass into that ghostly place she called home. On these occasions Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Kyle the doctor being a city physician, called upon Mrs. Sherf and won her friendship—and the doctor and his wife were her sole visitors.

From Dr. Kyle Mrs. Sherf exacted a promise that he would chloroform all the pets she owned — and almost immediately upon her death he complied with that request.

Thousands upon thousands have stepped to the threshold of that old mansion—now surrounded on all sides by imposing structures—only to be turned back by the plunging of a savage beast either against the door or a shuttered window.

Dr. Kyle announced the passing of the old lady and made known her peculiar request that the dogs be chloroformed. She was laid to rest beside her sister in one of the few remaining vacant plots in an old cemetery here.

Examination of the house revealed numerous cedar chests, filled to capacity with old relics—souvenirs, photographs and clothes worn 60 years ago—unsoiled, unfaded. Flashy, multi-colored gowns, with ruffles and frills that only a leader in the day of their fashion could afford; silk dresses, neatly folded, pressed and laid away; a photograph of the original Sherf home in this city, surrounded by flower gardens that only a landscape gardener could produce; fish aquariums and bird huts—not more than a dozen of the oldest citizens can recollect that magnificent place.

Other things found among her possessions were numerous deeds to property, very valuable now, some railroad stock certificates and other valuables that would have provided her with all the luxury an elderly person could ask for.

For a long time the feeling has been abroad that because of constant experimentation and the absence of clearly defined standards of construction and safeguards for air travel, this country has been paying too heavy a price in constantly recurring fatalities. After a survey of these and a comparison of them with the minimum hazard incident to aerial travel, the conclusion was reached that a body of rules similar to the code now proposed was the most urgent requirement for a developing national air policy.

Coming at a time when the question of aircraft is looming large before the country, the formulation of an aeronautical safety code has much significance. The sponsor organizations are confident that it will make for extensive developments in military and commercial aviation in the years immediately ahead and that it will take flying definitely and for all time out of the experimental stage.

The code is primarily intended to promote safety in the air and to reduce the risk to the minimum by providing that every machine that leaves the ground is as mechanically perfect as possible under any given set of conditions and also that the pilot must in every case be able to pass the strictest mental and physical examination.

An Official Handbook.

It will, however, do much more than bring a greater element of safety into flying. By fixing definite standards of construction as well as tests, manufacturers of aircraft will have for the first time an official handbook setting forth specifications in accordance with the code. With such a handbook the problem of production in time of emergency would be more than half solved and the spending of gigantic sums for nothing more than mere experimentation by amateur builders, as happened during the World war, would be avoided.

Perhaps the most important aspect of the air code is the extent to which its adoption will serve to develop commercial aviation in the United States. As compared with other large countries, this country has lagged woefully behind in aerial transportation, notwithstanding the fact that America led the world in the development of flying and although American aviators have made a path around the globe. Except for the air mail service, which is establishing new records every day, little or nothing has yet been done by this country to make the airplane subserve the needs of commerce. We have nothing comparable to the big European companies doing an international business in passenger and freight carrying.

American capital has at all times been ready to develop transportation by air and to establish lanes of commerce through the clouds, but it is faced with a condition of chaos as far as laws and regulations are concerned. The public has no guarantee of protection. The merest tyro in the art of flying can "take off," take passengers and take his chances. The condition resembles that which would exist on the railroads if an ordinary mechanic could take a train and run it as best he could on a road without a protected right-of-way, without block signals and without an orderly dispatching system. This situation has reacted seriously on public sentiment as regards civil aeronautics.

The lack of development in this field is in no way due to unwillingness on the part of the American public to patronize such air routes as such. As a matter of fact, Americans constitute a very considerable part of the passenger traffic of European companies.

In order to assure that every phase of the subject would be covered in the proposed code, the whole field of mechanical and inventive genius was combed. Industry responded wholeheartedly and put its experts at the disposal of the bureau of standards and the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Various bureaus of the government interested in aviation delegated experts to the committees engaged in drafting the code. The bureau of standards itself furnished several, while the army air service, the bureau of aeronautics of the navy department, the air mail service, the weather bureau, the United States coast guard and the national advisory committee for aeronautics participated actively in the work.

Ten Subjects Considered.

The reports submittted took up the following 10 major subjects: Airplane structure, power plants, signalling equipment, airdromes and airways, traffic and pilotage rules, balloons, airships and parachutes.

One of the most interesting sections of the code deals with the question of the safety of the public. It is specifically set forth that airplanes must always avoid large assemblages of people. This provision is interesting in view of an incident that occurred in Washington a few years ago. During the unveiling of the Lincoln Memorial one of the airplanes, in course of its maneuvering, came so close to the ground that it all but precipitated a panic among the throng of people assembled on the scene of the celebration. In fact, there was talk at the time of disciplining the aviator in charge of the machine.

The precautions taken against such an occurrence are so detailed in the new code that definite altitude limits are fixed which depend in each instance on the size of the town or community over which the plane in flight may be moving. For instance, flight over small villages or towns must not be at a height less than 1,000 feet; while the flight over cities with a dimension of 10 miles across the thickly populated sections must not be at a height less than five thousand feet.

Another important provision is that relating to right-of-way. To appreciate the significance of this provision it is only necessary to recall that some of the worst tragedies of the air, both here and on the European battlefields during the World war, were caused by the collision of two airplanes, resulting in most cases in instantaneous explosion.

The committee on traffic and pilotage stipulated 1,500 feet as the safety zone which two planes in flight must maintain between each other to avoid "dangerous proximity." No aircraft must pass another by diving below it or climbing above it. Two planes approaching head on must pass each other by swerving in all cases to the right. In the case where one plane overtakes another, the overtaking plane must pass on the right. Airships always have the right of way over airplanes because of the much greater mobility of the heavier-than-air craft. So exhaustive are the regulations on this particular question of right-of-way as almost to preclude the danger of collision, if the pilot follows the air code.

The code provides that airways and airdromes be mapped out and co-ordinated with the same regularity as the railroad lines and their terminals are mapped out today. Airdromes at regular intervals, with the proper facilities for aircraft maintenance, are among the prime requisites in any program looking to the development of commercial aeronautics. It was, therefore, recommended that a first or second class airdrome should be available at important centers 200 miles apart and emergency airdromes at distances not greater than 25 miles along the line of flight on an airway. Radio towers are to be constructed in conjunction with airdromes in order that fuller use may be made of radio communication as an instrument of safety.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 25.—A belle in early life—social queen at middle age; then, to the bitter end, a recluse, a miser—for almost 40 years the most mysterious human being in a great city.

That is the outline of the story of love and loneliness, luxury and drudgery, social prominence and then a wilful outcast.

It began 83 years ago in Germany, took for its second scene New York city, and climaxed in this city.

Bertha Sherf, who in her maiden life was Bertha Eiffle, is dead at her home here, in a once aristocratic quarter. For 40 years Bertha Sherf lived in that house, alone much of the time, except for the companionship she found in a dozen dogs, numerous cats and canaries. Seldom did she leave its protecting roof—and never did any one know why she preferred to live in seclusion.

Bertha Sherf came to Knoxville, a very young girl, when her parents moved from the great metropolis. She was beautiful, many times being termed the town's most popular young lady. After a gay debutante season she met, was wooed and won by John Sherf, then a rising young man. They were happy and prospered rapidly.

Sherf built Knoxville's finest hotel in the days immediately following the Civil war, and he acquired much other property, amassing what was then considered a sizable fortune.

Then the Sherfs decided to conquer other fields and they moved to Columbus, Ga., where they started hotels booming, still retaining their holdings in the Tennesse city. Shortly thereafter John Sherf died and was buried in Columbus.

Bertha Sherf returned to her adopted city and called upon a sister, her only remaining relative, to come from Chicago to live with her. Mrs. Augusta Gratz, the sister, was among the leaders of Chicago's "500" 40 years ago. But little is known of her here.

The two sisters, then under 50, moved into one of the Sherf properties and there remained together until Mrs. Gratz died some years ago.

From that time on Bertha Sherf's sole companions were her pets. Not more than twice did any living soul, except during the most recent months, pass into that ghostly place she called home. On these occasions Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Kyle the doctor being a city physician, called upon Mrs. Sherf and won her friendship—and the doctor and his wife were her sole visitors.

From Dr. Kyle Mrs. Sherf exacted a promise that he would chloroform all the pets she owned — and almost immediately upon her death he complied with that request.

Thousands upon thousands have stepped to the threshold of that old mansion—now surrounded on all sides by imposing structures—only to be turned back by the plunging of a savage beast either against the door or a shuttered window.

Dr. Kyle announced the passing of the old lady and made known her peculiar request that the dogs be chloroformed. She was laid to rest beside her sister in one of the few remaining vacant plots in an old cemetery here.

Examination of the house revealed numerous cedar chests, filled to capacity with old relics—souvenirs, photographs and clothes worn 60 years ago—unsoiled, unfaded. Flashy, multicolored gowns, with ruffles and frills that only a leader in the day of their fashion could afford; silk dresses, neatly folded, pressed and laid away; a photograph of the original Sherf home in this city, surrounded by flower gardens that only a landscape gardener could produce; fish aquariums and bird huts—not more than a dozen of the oldest citizens can recollect that magnificent place.

Other things found among her possessions were numerous deeds to property, very valuable now, some railroad stock certificates and other valuables that would have provided her with all the luxury an elderly person could ask for.

Mrs. R. J. Shepherd Hostess.

An enjoyable meeting was held yesterday by members of the Renaissance club in the home of Mrs. R. J. Shepherd of Thompson avenue. A five course dinner was served at 6 o'clock by the hostess, aided by Mrs. H. D. Faulk, Mrs. F. W. Herche, Mrs. Henry Williams and Miss Smith. The appointments of the table were carried out in Easter effect, a color scheme of yellow and white predominating. Favors were given each guest.

The social hours were spent with fancywork and radio music.

Special guests included Mrs. C. O. Davis, Miss Agnes Pfisterer, Mrs. W. B. Dalrymple of Chester, and Mrs. Paul Kinsey of Wellsville.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, April 9, in the home of Mrs. Henry Williams of Grant street.

Miss Lowe Entertains.

Miss Mary Lowe pleasantly entertained the members of the J. J. club last evening in her home in Avondale street. Games, radio music and dancing were the diversions. In a novelty contest, trophies were presented Miss Nellie Chetwynd and Miss Marian Smith. Miss Nellie Chetwynd presided at the piano. A luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Arthur Lowe, and Miss Elsie Glenn. A large birthday cake centered the table, honoring Miss Grace Chetwynd, a member of the club, whose birthday it was. Miniature baby dolls were given as favors. Covers were arranged for Misses Grace and Nellie Chetwynd, Ruth Robinson, Marian Smith, Edith Bailey, Elsie Glenn, and Mary Lowe.

In two weeks the club will be entertained in the home of Miss Elsie Glenn of Ambrose avenue.

Amoma Class Elects Officers.

The Amoma class of the First Baptist church, meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Ibbs of Jefferson street, elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Robert Ibbs; vice president, Miss Leona Mundy; secretary, Miss Cecil Higgins; assistant secretary, Mrs. Ina Pace; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Lambright; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Geraldine Mundy; reporter, Miss Ruth Beaver; pianist, Miss Inez Wright; chairman of prayer meetings, Miss Leona Mundy; chairman of the lookout committee, Mrs. Geraldine Mundy; chairman of the social committee, Mrs. Dorsey Smith; chairman of the sick committee, Miss Leona Mundy; chairman of the flower committee, Mrs. Marie Woods; chairman of literature, Miss Edna Higby. Mrs. Charles Aley was re-elected teacher.

Following the business session, informal social hours were enjoyed, during which refreshments were served by Mrs. Ibbs, assisted by Mrs. Aley.

Club Federation Banquet.

The banquet to be given Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. by the City Federation of Women's Clubs will be served promptly at 6 o'clock, it was announced today.

Mrs. Margaret Allman of Canton, president of the Ohio Federated Clubs, a special guest, will make an address on the work being done by the federation. While here Mrs. Allman will be the guest of Mrs. Robert E. Spencer of Park boulevard.

Miss Weaver is Hostess

In her home in Peunsylvania avenue last evening, Miss Mildred Weaver pleasantly entertained the members of the Helen Gould Literary club. Roll call responses were names of famous scientists. Mrs. Alfred Stoddard's topic was "Ancient Glass," Miss Helen Lewis gave a talk on "Vitamines, What They Are and in What Foods They Are Found."

At the close of the program, a luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Dale Thompson. Covers were arranged for 16 guests.

During a short business session the club members voted to contribute $5 to the health committee of the club federation and $10 to the tornado relief fund.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Miss Elizabeth Bloor of May street.

Missionary Society Musicale

The Young Woman's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist Protestant church will entertain with a musicale Friday evening, March 27, beginning at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to attend. A silver offering will be taken.

McBride-Bevan Wedding.

Announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Margaret McBride, daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Hilton of Railroad street, to David Bevan, son of Mrs. Vincent McIntosh, also of Railroad street. The ceremony took place yesterday at high noon in the parsonage of the Second United Presbyterian church, with the pastor, Rev. J. O. Campbell, officiating.

The bride wore a traveling costume of navy blue, with hat and shoes of gray. Her corsage was of bride's roses and sweetpeas.

Odd Fellows Notice.

All Odd Fellows are requested to meet at the I. O. O. F. Temple West 6th street, this evening at 7 o'clock sharp, to attend the funeral services of Brothers James Waggle and Henry Tasker.

Community Club Program.

The Community club of East End met last evening in the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ, when the following program, arranged by the entertainment committee, with Mrs. Hattie Powell as chairman, was presented:

Song—Assembly.
Reading—Miss Ethelyn Davis.
Duet—Misses Jessie and Virginia Cunningham.
Reading—Miss Margaret O'Rourke.
Piano solo—Miss Louella Flint.
Duet—Mrs. Edna Miller and Miss Geneva Ada.
Reading—Miss Dorothy Welsh.
Vocal solo—Mrs. Edna Miller, accompanied by Miss Louella Flint.

Following the program, a miscellaneous shower was given in honor of the recent marriage of Mrs. Harry Jackson, nee Ella Bailey. Mrs. Jackson received many gifts.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, March 31. This will be a closed business session.

Hostess To Symphony Club.

Miss Lydian Bennett was hostess last evening to the members of the Symphony club in her home in Jackson street, with Miss Thelma Ankrim as her associate.

The topic for discussion was "Hymnology." Mrs. C. R. Risinger told of the non-Christian hymns. Mrs. C. A. Ferguson discussed Hebrew music. Miss Ethel Peterson sang the 83rd Psalm. Miss Irene Firth's topic was "The New Testament and Latin Hymns. Mrs. E. E. Dornan gave the names of the early Protestant hymns and Mrs. W. A. Gerber sang a hymn in German, "God is True." Miss Ann Welsh told of Greek hymn writers and Miss Thelma Ankrim sang "From Greenlands Icy Mountains."

Following the program, refreshments were served.

Final preparations are being made by Mrs. Charles Risinger, and a committee, for the music week to be openened with special services in the church.

In two weeks the club will be entertained in the home of Mrs. W. A. Gerber of Ravine street.

THE ART OF MAKING BREAKFAST TOAST
There is a certain amount of skill required in making really good breakfast toast, but the important point is the use of good bread.
Good bread makes all the difference in the world. Betty Brown bread is best for every purpose. You will find it just fine for making golden-brown toast in the morning.
It's firm, even texture, its appetizing crust, are things you will want to cheer about, once you have tried this famous bread.
Take home a loaf tonight and learn for yourself what really extra fine bread is.

RED MACK Is Coming

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Deserted By Wife In Hour of Need

Loyalty and tolerance—it seems to me that these are the two greatest factors in a successful marriage. Most wives and mothers possess loyalty, fewer of them practice tolerance towards their husbands. Of course, husbands are also defective in these respects, too. Here is a case where I think the wife is in error in failing to stand back of her husband in his hour of need:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Until a few months ago my husband and I were happy. We owned our home, a motor car, and did not owe anybody a cent. We have two lovely children. Now I am wretchedly unhappy. I have left my husband and gone to my mother's with my children. My husband went in with another man in an enterprise that took all of the money we had on hand. The other man has a very pretty wife, who won't let other women's husbands alone. I know that my husband went to dinner with her a few times, but I don't think he made love to her. I knew about it at the time and asked him not to go out with her, but he went any way, saying that he had to for the sake of the business. A month ago there was a terrible scene between my husband and his partner in which the latter accused my husband of being a wife-stealer. My husband didn't tell me about it—some one else did. For the children's sake I didn't make a scene with him, hoping that the incident would end the affair. But with my husband and his partner in a terrible mind towards each other, their enterprise was neglected, and a few days ago it failed. Now the other man threatens to sue my husband for alienation of affections and wrecking the business. I felt that I couldn't stand it, and I couldn't stand having the children talked about by other children, so I came here to my mother's home. My husband begged me not to go, declaring that he was innocent, but he has not written me since I've been here. I'm afraid he has gone to drinking. My mother says I shouldn't go back ever, but I'm in doubt. What would you do? L. R.

As long as there is any doubt regarding your husband's innocence, your place is at his side. It is possible that he was not having an affair with the other woman, and that the other man misunderstood. I would advise you to leave your children with your mother for the time being and go back to your husband. In the eyes of the community your husband is guilty, because you have left him. Go back to him and it will help him put up a braver front. And do not let the matter ruin your future happiness. If the community insists on ostracizing you and your husband, then move to another one.

Fears Teacher-Husband is a Flirt.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 20 years of age. I married at the age of 18. My husband is a teacher. I am not sure, but I think he is flirting with one of his pupils and i tworries me night and day, although he is good to me and does everything he can for me. We live right at the schoolhouse and I watch him and it seems that every chance they get they are together, especially every evening after school. I love my husband and I don't want to do anything that will cause separation. We have only one child and he is seven months old. I think my husband is planning to take me to my father's to spend the summer so that he can take a business course, and I think he is working to get this girl too so that they can be together. Please give me your opinion on this.

WORRIED.

My dear, you are letting your thoughts dwell in dangerous channels and you are literally looking for trouble. Things don't seem right to you and yet you have no facts to prove that they are otherwise. In worrying as you are doing you are really disloyal to your husband. Go to your father's for the summer and give your husband your cheerful cooperation in the study he is planning. Since your husband is a teacher you will have to be particuarly careful to watch yourself in regard to jealousy, because there will be many occasions when you might misconstrue innocent actions for disloyalty to you and your child.

Robbed of Independence by Wife's Parents.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a man of 24 and married to a girl two years younger than myself. I suppose I ought to be pleased. Her mother is always buying her dresses and this winter her father bought her a fur coat. Anything she wants they buy her. So much more money is spent every month than I earn that I don't think it is fair. I would like to see what we would do on our own income, but it is helpless. Instead of coming to me for money my wife goes to her father. Now her father has offered me a position as read salesman at a salary a good deal larger than I am earning at present. I know he would not pay any of his other salesmen so much, but would like to see his son-in-law making more money. I don't want to accept it because I prefer to be independent, but when I talk of refusing my wife won't listen to it. I know that I have a future where I am, but it is going to take time to work my way up. I don't like to appear ungrateful and make my wife think I am mean and unreasonable, but I would like to take a stand for what I believe to be right. What would you advise me to do?

TROUBLED THOMAS.

Make a positive stand for what you believe to be right. It is unfair for your wife's people to insist on taking away your independence. Of course they think they are doing you a kindness, but their point of view is wrong. Make your own way in the world and even if you do not earn so much money where you are as through your father-in-law, you will have the satisfaction of knowing you deserve what you are paid. It would not be unreasonable in the least if you refused to let your wife accept so much. Such a stand, however, would only make hard feelings and I think you will gain more in the end in the way of happiness if you overlook that part of it.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

FOR ITCHING TORTURE
Use Antiseptic Liquid Zemo

There is one remedy that seldom fails to stop itching torture and relieve skin irritation, and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy.

Any druggist can supply you with Zemo, which generally overcomes skin diseases. Eczema, Itch, Pimples, Rashes, Blackheads, in most cases quickly give way to Zemo. Frequently, minor blemishes disappear overnight. Itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is a safe, antiseptic liquid that may be applied at any time, for it does not show. Trial bottle 35c, large size $1.00. Zemo Soap, 25c. All druggists.

Operation of the Swedish State Railways during 1924 has been considered so satisfactory that the minister of communications recently approached the government railway office with a view to lowering rates.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. F. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Deserted By Wife In Hour of Need

Loyalty and tolerance—it seems to me that these are the two greatest factors in a successful marriage. Most wives and mothers possess loyalty, fewer of them practice tolerance towards their husbands. Of course, husbands are also defective in these respects, too. Here is a case where I think the wife is in error in failing to stand back of her husband in his hour of need:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Until a few months ago my husband and I were happy. We owned our home, a motor car, and did not owe anybody a cent. We have two lovely children. Now I am wretchedly unhappy. I have left my husband and gone to my mother's with my children. My husband went in with another man in an enterprise that took all of the money we had on hand. The other man has a very pretty wife, who won't let other women's husbands alone. I know that my husband went to dinner with her a few times, but I don't think he made love to her. I knew about it at the time and asked him not to go out with her, but he went any way, saying that he had to for the sake of the business. A month ago there was a terrible scene between my husband and his partner in which the latter accused my husband of being a wife-stealer. My husband didn't tell me about it—some one else did. For the children's sake I didn't make a scene with him, hoping that the incident would end the affair. But with my husband and his partner in a terrible mind towards each other, their enterprise was neglected, and a few days ago it failed. Now the other man threatens to sue my husband for alienation of affections and wrecking the business. I felt that I couldn't stand it, and I couldn't stand having the children talked about by other children, so I came here to my mother's home. My husband begged me not to go, declaring that he was innocent, but he has not written me since I've been here. I'm afraid he has gone to drinking. My mother says I shouldn't go back ever, but I'm in doubt. What would you do? L. R.

As long as there is any doubt regarding your husband's innocence, your place is at his side. It is possible that he was not having an affair with the other woman, and that the other man misunderstood. I would advise you to leave your children with your mother for the time being and go back to your husband. In the eyes of the community your husband is guilty, because you have left him. Go back to him and it will help him put up a braver front. And do not let the matter ruin your future happiness. If the community insists on ostracizing you and your husband, then move to another one.

Fears Teacher-Husband is a Flirt.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 20 years of age. I married at the age of 18. My husband is a teacher. I am not sure, but I think he is flirting with one of his pupils and i tworries me night and day, although he is good to me and does everything he can for me. We live right at the schoolhouse and I watch him and it seems that every chance they get they are together, especially every evening after school. I love my husband and I don't want to do anything that will cause separation. We have only one child and he is seven months old. I think my husband is planning to take me to my father's to spend the summer so that he can take a business course, and I think he is working to get this girl too so that they can be together. Please give me your opinion on this.

WORRIED.

My dear, you are letting your thoughts dwell in dangerous channels and you are literally looking for trouble. Things don't seem right to you and yet you have no facts to prove that they are otherwise. In worrying as you are doing you are really disloyal to your husband. Go to your father's for the summer and give your husband your cheerful cooperation in the study he is planning. Since your husband is a teacher you will have to be particularly careful to watch yourself in regard to jealousy, because there will be many occasions when you might misconstrue innocent actions for disloyalty to you and your child.

Robbed of Independence by Wife's Parents.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a man of 24 and married to a girl two years younger than myself. I suppose I ought to be pleased. Her mother is always buying her dresses and this winter her father bought her a fur coat. Anything she wants they buy her. So much more money is spent every month than I earn that I don't think it is fair. I would like to see what we would do on our own income, but it is helpless. Instead of coming to me for money my wife goes to her father. Now her father has offered me a position as road salesman at a salary a good deal larger than I am earning at present. I know he would not pay any of his other salesmen so much, but would like to see his son-in-law making more money. I don't want to accept it because I prefer to be independent, but when I talk of refusing my wife won't listen to it. I know that I have a future where I am, but it is going to take time to work my way up. I don't like to appear ungrateful and make my wife think I am mean and unreasonable, but I would like to take a stand for what I believe to be right. What would you advise me to do?

TROUBLED THOMAS.

Make a positive stand for what you believe to be right. It is unfair for your wife's people to insist on taking away your independence. Of course they think they are doing you a kindness, but their point of view is wrong. Make your own way in the world and even if you do not earn so much money where you are as through your father-in-law, you will have the satisfaction of knowing you deserve what you are paid. It would not be unreasonable in the least if you refused to let your wife accept so much. Such a stand, however, would only make hard feelings and I think you will gain more in the end in the way of happiness if you overlook that part of it.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead o serious lung trouble. You can stop them ow with Creomulsion, an emulsified creote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion s a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed nembranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

HOUSE PASSES LOAN MEASURE

Proposal Designated to Curb Sharks Given Approval.

The Weiss-Wilken loan shark bill, designated in the house of delegates as house bill 443, was passed by the house yesterday by a vote of 64 to 29 after the measure had been attacked by a number of delegates from the floor.

The bill provides that no more than three and one-half percent per month be charged for loans of $300 or less.

Delegates Septimus Hall of Wetzel county, who on Monday had supported the bill on the amendment stage, opened the attack on its provisions when it came before the house on its passage. He declared several abuses might grow out of passage of the bill.

Delegates Weiss of Ohio county and Robinson of Harrison spoke in favor of the bill, declaring that the law was not an experiment, that it has been tried out in 20 states and has accomplished the purpose for which it was designed. Dr. Robinson read a letter from the Indiana banking department favorable to the bill and declaring it was fair both to the borrower and to the lender. "There is no limit to the amount the loan sharks can charge under the present law," he asserted.

Delegate Street interposed by saying that he had known loan sharks to charge as high as 33 percent for small loans.

Delegate King of Nicholas led the opposition to the bill. He said the present law protects the borrower against usury, pointing out that the borrower could go into courts and recover any excess of six per cent paid for the loan of money.

"If you pass this bill you open the way to usury," Mr. King declared.

In reply, Delegate Bayer of Berkley county asserted that relief could only be obtained by instituting a civil suit and the small borrower is not inclined to take such steps.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEET SCHEDULED

Plans have been completed for the Grant District Young People's conference to be held this evening in the First Presbyterian church. The meeting will open at 6:30 when supper will be served during which brief talks will be made.

Rev. A. E. Sims, pastor of the First Christian church, will deliver the principal address of the evening which will follow the supper. Others who will make addresses include Miss Mable Mosser, Newell; Homer Devit, Chester, and Herbert Mills, Pughtown. Scripture lesson will be read by James Miller of Chester.

Delegates are expected to attend from every church in the district.

WOMAN IS GIVEN PRISON SENTENCE

Mary Clarke, negress, recently of Short Creek, Brooke county, will spend the next year of her life in the state penitentiary at Moundsville. Her incarceration in the big prison began yesterday afternoon after she was found guilty in Brooke county circuit court before Judge J. B. Sommerville of shooting with intent to kill.

According to testimony given at the trial, the woman shot and seriously wounded her husband about a month ago following an argument at a negro dance near Short Creek.

SPECIAL SERMON HERE TONIGHT

Rev. B. H. Pocock, pastor of the Nazarene church, will deliver the first of a series of special sermons this evening on "How I Was Converted, Sanctified, Called To Preach and Established in Grace, or My Own Experiences." These sermons will have special importance to young converts, according to an announcement made by Rev. Pocock.

Mrs. David Craig Hostess.

Mrs. David Craig was hostess to members of the executive committee of the First Presbyterian church Sunday school last evening at her home in Indiana avenue.

Assessments Appealed.

Number of residents living in the vicinity of Hookstown appeared recently before the board of reviewers at Beaver when the question of property assessment was aired. Many taxpayers of the county appealed the assessment levied by assessors in making their annual appraisement.

Conduct Liquor Raid.

Brooke county authorities conducted a raid yesterday on the farm of Benny Murphy, four miles east of Wellsburg. A five gallon keg was found by the officers and a quantity of what was purported to be moonshine taken as evidence. Murphy gave bond for his appearance Friday evening.

Banquet Plans Arranged.

Plans have been completed for the banquet to be given the cast that took part in recent minstrel under the auspices of the Chester Volunteer fire department tomorrow evening in the basement of the United Presbyterian church.

Rebekahs to Meet.

Members of Rock Springs Rebekah lodge No. 161, met last evening in the I. O. O. F.K. of P. hall, Fifth street and Carolina avenue. Degree team practice followed the business session.

P. H. C. Meeting.

Good Luck Circle No. 360, Protected Home Circle, will meet this evening in the I. O. O. F.K. of P. hall. Routine business will be transacted. Number of members plan to attend the initiation ceremonies to be held tomorrow evening in Midland, Pa.

Class Members to Meet.

Members of the Loyal Sons class of the First Christian church will meet tomorrow evening at the home of Earl Wilson in Church street. Regular program will be carried out.

To Entertain Class.

Mrs. Robert Malyn will be hostess to her Sunday school class tomorrow evening in the First Christian church. Following the business session a social hour will be enjoyed during which refreshments will be served.

Cottage Prayer Meeting.

Cottage prayer meeting will be held tomorrow evening in the home of Robert Walters in Indiana avenue. These meetings are in preparation for revival services which will open Sunday in the First Christian church.

Cast Rehearsing.

Cast of the playlet "Cheer Up," which will be presented next week under the auspices of Crescent chapter No. 49, Order of Eastern Star, are holding rehearsals every evening in the Masonic temple, First street. The piece will be staged in the Chester theatre.

Prayer Services Tonight.

Pastors will be in charge of the mid-week prayer services this evening in the local churches with the exception of the First Presbyterian and United Presbyterian churches where pulpit vacancies exist.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau can not give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. What per cent of children finish high school?—E. H.

A. Of the students entering the first grade, 13.9 per cent graduate from high school.

Q. Why are London fogs less severe than they used to be?—F. W.

A. It is probably due to the increasing use of electricity in the place of soft coal. London fog is dry fog due principally to the condensation of aqueous vapor upon the innumerable particles floating in the air in the smoke from soft coal fires.

Q. Will a snake that is frozen stiff during the winter come to life in the spring?—J. J.

A. The Biological Survey says that this is possible. Snakes, however, that thaw quickly do not survive but if the thawing process is slow they again become quite active.

Q. How high do ocean waves get?—R. R. K.

A. Waves rarely attain a greater height than 50 feet, but they appear to be much higher when seen from a ship. The ship rolls towards the waves, hence the increasing apparent height.

Q. Does the Postmaster General come before or after the Secretary of the Navy in order of succession?—T. S. D.

A. The order is: Secretary of State, Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary of War, Attorney General, Postmaster General, Secretary of the Navy.

Q. What are the religious affiliations of the publishers and editors of the Literary Digest?—L. E. N.

A. The publisher of the Literary Digest says that practically all religious creeds are represented on the staff of the Digest.

Q. How large must a community be to become a city?—R. S.

A. The size of population is not a determining factor on regard to a city. A city is a municipal corporation possessing the power to sue and to be sued, to acquire, hold and dispose of property, to enact ordinances, to raise money by taxation and to exercise the right of eminent domain.

Q. Do poets ever compose their poetry in an inverted order of stanzas?—S. E. D.

A. Wadsworth and Edgar Allen Poe are examples of poets who occasionally wrote the last stanza of a poem, first. "We are Seven" and "The Raven" were so composed.

Q. What acid when dropped or put on iron or steel will eat it away?—B. S.

A. Hydrochloric acid, nitric acid, sulphuric acid and ferric chloride are some of the chemicals which eat iron and steel.

Q. Is the pole cat found in countries other than North America?—D. E. V.

A. A true pole cat is the largest of European martens and is found particularly in the rural districts of Great Britain. The pole cat of the Americas is the skunk and that of South Africa is a badger.

Q. How many post offices are there in the United States?—R. F. I.

A. Reporting on January 1, 1925, in all four classes, but not including sub-stations, there were 51,113.

Q. How much does it cost for electricity for an electric curler one half hour a day?—R. M.

A. The cost of using an electric curler a specified time is dependent upon the type of curler used, and the rate per kilowatt hour for electricity in your vicinity. A local electric company informs us that the cost per half hour for a curler consuming 25 watts would be approximately one-tenth of a cent.

Q. In examinations for railway postal clerks, what is the basis for correction of papers?—H. T.

A. The Civil Service Commission says the railway postal clerk examination is now based on the intelligence tests. By this they mean that all examinations are corrected according to rights and wrongs. A certain number of errors equal 100 and deductions and credits are given accordingly. The general tests and mail tests are not the same. In correcting examinations of mail tests the rate of 6 is allowed while in general tests the rate of 4 is allowed.

HOUSE PASSES LOAN MEASURE

Proposal Designated to Curb Sharks Given Approval.

The Weiss-Wilkon loan shark bill, designated in the house of delegates as house bill 443, was passed by the house yesterday by a vote of 64 to 29 after the measure had been attacked by a number of delegates from the floor.

The bill provides that no more than three and one-half percent per month be charged for loans of $300 or less.

LEVIED TAXES NOT COLLECTED

Title to Many Properties in County Clouded, Reports Show.

That title to many properties in Columbiana county are clouded has been brought to light because of the enormous amount of money remaining unpaid as special assessments against such properties. These special assessments in the main have been levied against properties for street and sewer improvements, and although they were suppose to have been paid within a five-year period, many assessments either in part or whole remain unpaid on the books of the county treasurer.

The clouding of the title develops where assessments are unpaid and the owner of the property disposes of the tract as if it was clear of all abligations when in fact such is not the case.

It has been pointed out that while special assessments have been levied against properties by municipal authorities, the latter make no effort to collect these assessments, other than to list it against the property on the county duplicate. Sometimes these assessments are paid at the usual tax paying period and sometimes they are not.

County treasurers of Ohio have declared they are not collectors of taxes, but are "receivers" of such funds. As the situation has developed this year, thousands of dollars in special assessments supposed to have been paid during the last few years are still outstanding.

Last year between $20,000 and $30,000 in personal taxes was collected after the regular tax paying period. Other thousands remain unpaid.

A plan is now being worked out in this county whereb oth special assessments and personal taxes will be collected before the June settlement. The subject has been given more than passing discussion by the county commissioners, as a rather large amount of money is due the county from assessments against property owners following inter-county highway improvements and which have not been "checked off."

To secure the collection of special city and county road assessments would give both the county and the municipalities of the county a rather large amount of money which could be used in the extension of other improvement programs. It has also been said that to have title cleared to property, owners should immediately ascertain whether assessments against the realty has been cancelled.

ROAD WIDENING WORK TO START

The state highway department is making preliminary arrangements for the widening of the Lisbon-Salem road in Centre township. Road building material has been delivered on the Y. & O. siding at the Fairground stop and trucks are now distributing this material along the road from the north corporate line of the village of Lisbon. It is not likely that this road will be closed to traffic while it is being widened, but motor car drivers will be urged to use extreme caution while driving over the sections of road where widening is in progress.

Sale of Automobile Results in Court Action Being Filed

The sale of an automobile by E. H. Althouse, of 103 East Pershing avenue, Salem, to John E. Smith June 27, last, has reached common pleas court, Smith filing an action through his attorney, K. L. Coburn, to recover $1,700 from Althouse.

The petition discloses that Smith bought from the defendant a car for $1,400. He traded in another machine at $900 and borrowed $500 from the Salem Finance company to pay the balance of the cost.

It was represented to Smith, so he says in his petition that the purchased car was a demonstrator. He also says that he later learned that the car was in a wreck on the Damascus road November 11, 1923, and that the car was owned by Simon Burson, of Dover, O., and that the speedometer had either been set back or disconnected to deceive the plaintiff. He also says that he has received no bill of sale, and that because of the damage that has been done him and the money he has been compelled to spend he seeks a judgment for $1,700.

WORD OF A FRIEND PROVES TRUE TO WARREN, O., WOMAN

MISS DOROTHY DEMPSTER

Miss Dorothy Dempster, residing at 106 South Vine street, Warren, O., and employed at the Atlas China Company Pottery at Niles, O., is glad she took the advice of friends in regard to her health, as she declares had she not done so she would not be enjoying good health today.

For two years past Miss Dempster suffered from kidney trouble, with pains across the back, was very nervous, and her rest was frequently disturbed. Her appetite was poor, and she felt all fagged out in the morning after arising. Upon the advice of friends she began taking Ka-di-ok, and the improvement was noted after the first bottle. To a Ka-di-ok representative she stated she now feels much better, no more pains in the back, appetite is good, and she sleeps all night. She has no hesitancy in recommending Ka-di-ok to her friends, as she believes in passing a good thing along the line, especially when the act is influenced by humanitarian motives.

While it may appear so to many, there is nothing remarkable about Miss Dempster's improvement in health. Ka-di-ok is a herbal remedy, a laxative tonic, and is greatly to be relied upon in stomach ailments, such as indigestion, loss of appetite, flatulency, gas on the stomach, usually causing heart pains, as well as for rheumatism, sleeplessness, bad blood, auto-intoxication, etc. Others should heed the experience above cited, and begin at once taking Ka-di-ok.

Ka-di-ok is sold and recommended in East Liverpool by Mathew's Cut Rate Medicine Store, 129 West Sixth street.

CAPTAIN BLOOD

by RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS.

Captain Peter Blood is the terror of the Spaniards who sail the Spanish Main. He loves Arabella Bishop, niece of the governor of Barbadoes, who is aboard the Royal Mary which bears Lord Julian Wade to the West Indies to make peace with piracy. Lord Wade tells Arabella of Blood's reputation and that he is about to wed Madelon d'Ogeron, daughter of the Dutch governor of Tortuga. The Spanish ship, Milagrosa, sinks the Royal Mary and Arabella and Wade are taken prisoners.

"Will you tell me, then, why you behave like a damned pirate?" Lord Julian asked. "It will cost you dear!"

"All things are possible. Meantime it is your own lives that will cost you dear. Colonel Bishop is a rich man; and you, milord, are no doubt also rich. I will consider and fix your ransom."

"And you have the impudence to call yourself the Admiral of the navies of the Catholic King!" stormed his lordship.

"It is that I treat you English heretic dogs just as you English heretic dogs have treated Spaniards upon the seas, you robbers and thieves out of hell! I have the honesty to do it in my own name, but you, you perfidious beasts, you send your Captain Bloods, your Hagthorpes and your Morgans against us and disclaim responsibility for what they do."

"Captain Blood and the rest are not admirals of England!" cried Lord Julian.

"Are they not? How do I know? How does Spain know? Are you not liars all, you English heretics?"

"Sir!" Lord Julian's voice was harsh as a rasp, his eyes flashed. Instinctively he swung a hand to the place where his sword habitually hung. Then he shrugged and sneered: "Of course," said he, "it sorts with all I have heard of Spanish honor and all that I have seen of yours that you should insult a man who is unarmed and your prisoner."

"'Look,' said Miss Bishop, pointing, 'she is English, and she comes resolutely on.'"

The admiral's face flamed scarlet. He half raised his hand to strike. And then, restrained, perhaps, by the very words that had cloaked the retorting insult, he turned on his heel abruptly, and went out without answering.

The Milagrosa, with her consort, the Hidalga, rolling after her, steered a south by westerly course, then veered to the southeast, round Cape Tiburon, and thereafter, standing well out to sea, with the land no more than a cloudy outline to larboard, she headed directly east, and so ran straight into the arms of Captain Blood, who was making for the Windward Passage. That happened early on the following morning. After having systematically hunted his enemy in vain for a year, Don Miguel chanced upon him in this unexpected and entirely fortuitous fashion. It was also the way of Fortune that Don Miguel should thus come upon the Arabella at a time when, separated from the rest of the fleet, she was alone and at a disadvantage. It looked to Don Miguel as if the luck which so long had been on Blood's side had at last veered in his own favor.

Miss Bishop, newly risen, had come out to take the air on the quarterdeck, with his lordship in attendance, when she beheld the big red ship that had once been the Cinco Llagas out of Cadiz. The sight thrilled her curiously; it awoke in her an uplifting sense of pride that took no account of danger to herself in the encounter that must now be inevitable.

Beside her on the poop stood Lord Julian. But he shared none of her exultation. He had been in his first sea fight yesterday, and he felt that the experience would suffice him for a very considerable time.

"Look," said Miss Bishop, pointing. Did she realize, he wondered, what was afoot. Her next sentence resolved his doubt. "She is English, and she comes resolutely on. She means to fight."

"God help her, then," said his lordship gloomily. "Her captain must be mad. If they could so easily blow the Royal Mary out of the water, what will they do to this vessel? Look at that devil Don Miguel. He's utterly disgusting in his glee."

Of necessity now, under diminished sail, the advance of the Arabella was slower; but it was none the less steady. She was already within shaker shot, and they could make out the figures stirring on her forecastle and the brass guns gleaming on her prow. The gunners of the Milagrosa raised their linstocks and blew upon their smoldering matches, looking up impatiently at the admiral. But the admiral solemnly shook his head.

"Stab me!" said his lordship. "This Englishman may be gallant enough to accept battle against such odds. But there are times when discretion is a better quality than gallantry in a commander. Presently you will suffer me to place you under cover."

"I can see best from here," she answered him. And added quietly: "I am praying for this Englishman. He must be very brave."

The Arabella was advancing, now, along a course which, if continued, must carry her straight between the two Spanish ships.

But even at that moment the Admiral raised his hand; in the waist, below him, a trumpet blared, and immediately the gunner on the prow touched off his guns. As the thunder of them rolled out, his lordship saw, ahead, beyond the English ship and to larboard of her, two heavy splashes. Almost at once two successive spurts of flame leapt from the brass cannon on the Arabella's beakhead, and scarcely had the watchers on the poop seen the shower of spray where one of the shots struck the water near them than, with a rending crash and a shiver that shook the Milagrosa from stem to stern, the other came to lodge in her forecastle. To avenge that blow, the Hidalga blazed at the Englishman with both her forward guns. But, even at that short range (between two and three hundred yards) neither shot took effect.

At a hundred yards the Arabella's forward guns, which had meanwhile been reloaded, fired again at the Milagrosa, and this time smashed her bowsprit into splinters, so that for a moment she yawed wildly to port. Don Miguel swore profanely, and then, as the helm was put over to swing her back to her course, his own prow replied. But the aim was too high, and, whilst one of the shots tore through the Arabella's shrouds and scarred her mainmast, the other again went wide. And when the smoke of that discharge had lifted the English ship was found almost between the Spaniards, her bows in line with theirs and coming steadily on. At last the Arabella was right between the Spanish ships, prow to poop and poop to prow. Don Miguel spoke to the trumpeter, who had mounted the quarterdeck and stood now at the admiral's elbow. The man raised the silver bugle that was to give the signal for the broadsides of both ships. But even as he placed it to his lips, the admiral seized his arm to arrest him. Only then had he perceived what was so obvious—or should have been to an experienced sea fighter; he had delayed too long and Captain Blood had outmaneuvered him. In attempting to fire now upon the Englishman, the Milagrosa and her consort would also be firing into each other. Too late he ordered his helmsman to put the tiller hard over and swing the ship to larboard, as a preliminary to maneuvering for a less impossible position of attack. At that very moment the Arabella seemed to explode as she swept by. Eighteen guns from each of her flanks emptied themselves at that point-blank range into the hulls of the two Spanish vessels.

The Milagrosa staggered slowly ahead. Don Miguel was bawling orders wildly, and peering ever and anon through the curtain of smoke that was drifting slowly astern, in his anxiety to ascertain how it might have fared with the Hidalga.

Suddenly, and ghostly at first, through that lifting haze, loomed the outline of a ship; gradually the lines of her red hull became more and more sharply defined as she swept nearer with poles all bare save for the spread of canvas on her sprit.

EVIED TAXES OT COLLECTED

itle to Many Properties in County Clouded, Reports Show.

That title to many properties in lumbiana county are clouded has en brought to light because of the ormous amount of money remain- unpaid as special assessments ainst such properties. These spe- l assessments in the main have en levied against properties for eet and sewer improvements, and hough they were suppose to have en paid within a five-year period, ny assessments either in part or hole remain unpaid on the books of e county treasurer.

The clouding of the title develops here assessments are unpaid and e owner of the property disposes of e tract as if it was clear of all ab- ations when in fact such is not the se.

It has been pointed out that while ecial assessments have been levied ainst properties by municipal au- orities, the latter make no effort to llect these assessments, other than list it against the property on the unty duplicate. Sometimes these sessments are paid at the usual tax ying period and sometimes they are t.

County treasurers of Ohio have de ared they are not collectors of taxes, t are "receivers" of such funds. As e situation has developed this year, ousands of dollars in special assess- ents supposed to have been paid ring the last few years are still out- anding.

Last year between $20,000 and $30,- 0 in personal taxes was collected ter the regular tax paying period. her thousands remain unpaid.

A plan is now being worked out in is county whereb oth special as- sments and personal taxes will be llected before the June settlement. e subject has been given more than ssing discussion by the county com- ssioners, as a rather large amount money is due the county from as- sments against property owners llowing inter-county highway im- ovements and which have not been hecked off."

To secure the collection of special ty and county road assessments ould give both the county and the unicipalities of the county a rather rge amount of money which could e used in the extension of other im- rovement programs. It has also been ald that to have title cleared to prop- rty, owners should immediately as- ertain whether assessments against e realty has been cancelled.

Sale of Automobile Results in Court Action Being Filed

The sale of an automobile by E. H. Althouse, of 103 East Pershing ave- nue, Salem, to John E. Smith June 27, last, has reached common pleas court, Smith filing an action through his attorney, K. L. Coburn, to recover $1,700 from Althouse.

The petition discloses that Smith bought from the defendant a car for $1,400. He traded in another machine at $900 and borrowed $500 from the Salem Finance company to pay the balance of the cost.

It was represented to Smith, so he says in his petition that the purchased car was a demonstrator. He also says that he later learned that the car was in a wreck on the Damascus road No- vember 11, 1923, and that the car was owned by Simon Burson, of Dover, O., and that the speedometer had either been set back or disconnected to deceive the plaintiff. He also says that he has received no bill of sale, and that because of the damage that has been done him and the money he has been compelled to spend he seeks a judgment for $1,700.

WORD OF A FRIEND PROVES TRUE TO WARREN, O., WOMAN

MISS DOROTHY DEMPSTER

Miss Dorothy Dempster, residing at 106 South Vine street, Warren, O., and employed at the Atlas China Company Pottery at Niles, O., is glad she took the advice of friends in regard to her health, as she declares had she not done so she would not be enjoying good health today.

For two years past Miss Demps- ter suffered from kidney trouble, with pains across the back, was very nervous, and her rest was frequently disturbed. Her appetite was poor, and she felt all fagged out in the morning after arising. Upon the advice of friends she began taking Ka-di-ok, and the improvement was noted after the first bottle. To a Ka-di-ok repre- sentative she stated she now feels much better, no more pains in the back, appetite is good, and she sleeps all night. She has no hesi- tancy in recommending Ka-di-ok to her friends, as she believes in passing a good thing along the line, especially when the act is in- fluenced by humanitarian motives.

While it may appear so to many, there is nothing remarkable about Miss Dempster's improvement in health. Ka-di-ok is a herbal remedy, a laxative tonic, and is greatly to be relied upon in stomach ailments, such as indiges- tion, loss of appetite, flatulency, gas on the stomach, usually causing heart pains, as well as for rheuma- tism, sleeplessness, bad blood, auto- intoxication, etc. Others should heed the experience above cited, and begin at once taking Ka-di-ok.

Ka-di-ok is sold and recommended in East Liverpool by Mathew's Cut Rate Medicine Store, 129 West Sixth street.

A Romance of the Spanish Main
CAPTAIN BLOOD
by RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Ker- rigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS.

Captain Peter Blood is the ter- ror of the Spaniards who sail the Spanish Main. He loves Arabella Bishop, niece of the governor of Barbadoes, who is aboard the Royal Mary which bears Lord Jul- ian Wade to the West Indies to make peace with piracy. Lord Wade tells Arabella of Blood's reputation and that he is about to wed Madelon d'Ogeron, daughter of the Dutch governor of Tortuga. The Spanish ship, Milagrosa, sinks the Royal Mary and Arabella and Wade are taken prisoners.

"I am Don Miguel de Espinosa," he answered. "Admiral of the na- vies of the Catholic King."

"Will you tell me, then, why you behave like a damned pirate?" Lord Julian asked. "It will cost you dear!"

"All things are possible. Mean- time it is your own lives that will cost you dear. Colonel Bishop is a rich man; and you, milord, are no doubt also rich. I will consider and fix your ransom."

"And you have the impudence to call yourself the Admiral of the na- vies of the Catholic King!" stormed his lordship.

"It is that I treat you English heretic dogs just as you English heretic dogs have treated Span- iards upon the seas, you robbers and thieves out of hell! I have the honesty to do it in my own name, but you, you perfidious beasts, you send your Captain Bloods, your Hagthorpes and your Morgans against us and disclaim responsibil- ity for what they do."

"Captain Blood and the rest are not admirals of England!" cried Lord Julian.

"Are they not? How do I know? How does Spain know? Are you not liars all, you English heretics?"

"Sir!" Lord Julian's voice was harsh as a rasp, his eyes flashed. Instinctively he swung a hand to the place where his sword habitual- ly hung. Then he shrugged and sneered: "Of course," said he, "it sorts with all I have heard of Span- ish honor and all that I have seen of yours that you should insult a man who is unarmed and your pris- oner."

"'Look,' said Miss Bishop, point- ing, 'she is English, and she comes resolutely on.'"

The admiral's face flamed scar- let. He half raised his hand to strike. And then, restrained, per- haps, by the very words that had cloaked the retorting insult, he turned on his heel abruptly, and went out without answering.

The Milagrosa, with her consort, the Hidalga, rolling after her, steered a south by westerly course, then veered to the southeast, round Cape Tiburon, and thereafter, standing well out to sea, with the land no more than a cloudy outline to larboard, she headed directly east, and so ran straight into the arms of Captain Blood, who was making for the Windward Passage. That happened early on the follow- ing morning. After having syste- matically hunted his enemy in vain for a year, Don Miguel chanced upon him in this unexpected and entirely fortuitous fashion. It was also the way of Fortune that Don Miguel should thus come upon the Arabella at a time when, separated from the rest of the fleet, she was alone and at a disadvantage. It looked to Don Miguel as if the luck which so long had been on Blood's side had at last veered in his own favor.

Miss Bishop, newly risen, had come out to take the air on the quarterdeck, with his lordship in at- tendance, when she beheld the big red ship that had once been the Cinco Llagas out of Cadiz. The sight thrilled her curiously; it awoke in her an uplifting sense of pride that took no account of dan- ger to herself in the encounter that must now be inevitable.

Beside her on the poop stood Lord Julian But he shared none of her exultation. He had been in his first sea fight yesterday, and he felt that the experience would suf- fice him for a very considerable time.

"Look," said Miss Bishop, point- ing. Did she realize, he wondered, what was afoot Her next sentence resolved his doubt. "She is Eng- lish, and she comes resolutely on. She means to fight."

"God help her, then," said his lordship gloomily. "Her captain must be mad. If they could so eas- ily blow the Royal Mary out of the water, what will they do to this vessel? Look at that devil Don Mi- guel. He's utterly disgusting in his glee."

Of necessity now, under dimin- ished sail, the advance of the Ara- bella was slower; but it was none the less steady. She was already within shaker shot, and they could make out the figures stirring on her forecastle and the brass guns gleaming on her prow. The gun- ners of the Milagrosa raised their linstocks and blew upon their smol- dering matches, looking up impa- tiently at the admiral. But the ad- miral solemnly shook his head.

"Stab me!" said his lordship "This Englishman may be gallant enough to accept battle against such odds. But there are times when discretion is a better quality than gallantry in a commander. Presently you will suffer me to place you under cover."

"I can see best from here," she answered him. And added quietly: "I am praying for this Englishman. He must be very brave."

The Arabella was advancing, now, along a course which, if con- tinued, must carry her straight be- tween the two Spanish ships.

But even at that moment the Ad- miral raised his hand; in the waist, below him, a trumpet blared, and immediately the gunner on the prow touched off his guns. As the thunder of them rolled out, his lordship saw, ahead, beyond the English ship and to larboard of her, two heavy splashes. Almost at once two successive spurts of flame leapt from the brass cannon on the Arabella's beakhead, and scarcely had the watchers on the poop seen the shower of spray where one of the shots struck the water near them than, with a rend- ing crash and a shiver that shook the Milagrosa from stem to stern, the other came to lodge in her fore- castle. To avenge that blow, the Hidalga blazed at the Englishman with both her forward guns. But, even at that short range (between two and three hundred yards) nei- ther shot took effect.

At a hundred yards the Arabel- la's forward guns, which had mean- while been reloaded, fired again at the Milagrosa, and this time smashed her bowsprit into splin- ters, so that for a moment she yawed wildly to port. Don Miguel swore profanely, and then, as the helm was put over to swing her back to her course, his own prow replied. But the aim was too high, and, whilst one of the shots tore through the Arabella's shrouds and scarred her mainmast, the other again went wide. And when the smoke of that discharge had lifted the English ship was found almost between the Spaniards, her bows in line with theirs and coming stead- ily on. At last the Arabella was right between the Spanish ships, prow to poop and poop to prow. Don Miguel spoke to the trumpeter, who had mounted the quarterdeck and stood now at the admiral's el- bow. The man raised the silver bu- gle that was to give the signal for the broadsides of both ships. But even as he placed it to his lips, the admiral seized his arm to arrest him. Only then had he perceived what was so obvious — or should have been to an experienced sea fighter; he had delayed too long and Captain Blood had outmaneu- vered him. In attempting to fire now upon the Englishman, the Mi- lagrosa and her consort would also be firing into each other. Too late he ordered his helmsman to put the tiller hard over and swing the ship to larboard, as a preliminary to maneuvering for a less impossible position of attack. At that very moment the Arabella seemed to ex- plode as she swept by. Eighteen guns from each of her flanks emp- tied themselves at that point-blank range into the hulls of the two Spanish vessels.

The Milagrosa staggered slowly ahead. Don Miguel was bawling orders wildly, and peering ever and anon through the curtain of smoke that was drifting slowly astern, in his anxiety to ascertain how it might have fared with the Hidalga.

Suddenly, and ghostly at first, through that lifting haze, loomed the outline of a ship; gradually the lines of her red hull became more and more sharply defined as she swept nearer with poles all bare save for the spread of canvas on her sprit.

Live Dinosaur Hunted

Much has been written of the dinosaurs of past ages, but Gayne Dexter, an Australian explorer, is organizing an expedition to hunt a live one in Lake Esquel, in the Andes. Star shells will be used to light up the lake said to be the home of the monster, which has been previously sought by the late Clementi Onelli, Curator of the Buenos Aires zoo, who searched in vain however two years ago.

Why Should You Suffer?

Hundreds of people right in this town have found quick relief and positive help by the use of this famous prescription. Hundreds of others suffer-along, all dragged down, worn out before they commence, getting along with aches and pains, simply because they are not profiting by their neighbor's experience and taking the remarkable

WORLD'S TONIC

You cannot expect to be well while part of your body is stagnating with catarrh. That is what most of your trouble comes from. First there is inflammation of the mucus membrane that lines every part of your body exposed to the air. Blood congests—the membrane stagnates. Instead of doing its duty, it slowly poisons your whole body with foul secretion.

Sometimes your liver, or your kidneys, or your stomach, gives way first. Whatever it is, you are half sick, dragging around, miserable all the time.

World's Tonic is for that condition—the result of a vast amount of research. It is prescribed to make you well—to stimulate your organs, drive out the poisons, enliven the processes, and clear up the catarrh.

You can't know until you try it. Then what we say will be mild compared to your praise. Start out today to be well! One bottle will make a big difference.

Sold by Carnahan's, and all other first class druggists.

AFTER TEN YEARS

For ten years I had suffered from catarrhal trouble. It spread from my nose and throat until it seemed to be all through my body.

I doctored the symptoms. When my stomach suffered I took stomach medicine. My liver seemed inactive and I kept stirring it up. Sometimes I got a little relief, but these troubls came back.

Then I started taking World's Tonic. The first bottle helped me greatly, and at the end of four bottles my troubles were gone. It was a wonderfully cheap way to get well, and I owe it to you to tell you about it.

A Hint for Beginners

The cross-word puzzle diagram is merely a means of concealing words which are synonymous to those listed and which will interlock perfectly and so read equally well crosswise of downwards. Always look for the number of the synonym on the diagram. If horizontal, you must find a word to fit between that number and the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, you must fit your word between the number and the first shaded stop below.

SALVATION ARMY BUYS YOUNG CHINESE GIRLS TO SAVE THEIR HONOR

Phase of Missionary is Discussed in Bulletin Received by Adjutant John Dean.

Buying young girls as a means of saving them from being sold into lives of shame is a regular feature of Salvation Army missionary work in the densely populated cities of China.

This is emphasized in a bulletin received today by Adjutant John G. Dean, officer in charge of the Salvation Army here, from the national headquarters in New York.

China is one of 10 widely separated missionary fields of the Army in which the work is supported entirely by an annual week of self-denial on the part of Salvationists throughout the world. Self-Denial Week occurs this year from March 29 to April 5.

The buying of young girls began when Army officers became familiar with the operations of so-called procures in Pekin and the other large cities. The officers saw these girls sold like to many ornaments. The practice was either permitted or winked at by the government, and the girls themselves, being totally uneducated, either spiritually or academically, had no understanding of what was happening to them. Many felt grateful toward the procurers as a result of their promises to find them good homes and "masters."

Seeing that pleadings with the procurers was of no avail, The Army began buying the girls, appropriating as much money as was possible for the purpose, and putting them in Industrial homes. This method of rescuing girls has now become a routine part of Army missionary work in China. The girls are legally adopted by the Army, and are trained to become good wives and mothers.

The bulletin continues:

"The Girls' Industrial home at Pekin has outgrown its accommodation, and an extra home has had to be equipped. The majority of the girls in these homes are from the districts devestated by famine and flood, and a large number were rescued from sale into lives of shame. It is encouraging to recall that from the elder of these girls, two have chosen Salvation Army officership as their vocation in life, and were commissioned as officers from the last session of cadets."

In China the Salvation Army maintains 62 centers of work under the supervision of 218 commissioned officers. There is practically no opposition to the work, either on racial or religious grounds, and the people, especially the very poor, swarm to the halls to hear the message of the Gospel.

Those wishing to aid this cause may do so by sending contributions to Adjutant John G. Dean, 111 West Third street.

British Parliament Stirred by Labor's Only Representative

LONDON—Miss Ellen Wilkinson doesn't relish the idea of being Labor's only female representative in the house of commons.

"The press concentrates upon silly things, such as the color of my frock and the way I wear my hair, instead of on what I say," says Miss Wilkinson.

And no wonder. When parliament reopened this month Miss Wilkinson startled sedate members of the house by appearing in a bright green frock, her head surmounted by a mass of flaming red hair, shingled for the first time. The newspaper paragraphers haven't ceased chiding her.

Because she had tripped and fallen on a broken footpath, a young woman was granted two pair of silk stockings by the Armaugh, England, city council recently.

SALVATION ARMY BUYS YOUNG CHINESE GIRLS TO SAVE THEIR HONOR

Phase of Missionary is Discussed in Bulletin Received by Adjutant John Dean.

Buying young girls as a means of saving them from being sold into lives of shame is a regular feature of Salvation Army missionary work in the densely populated cities of China.

This is emphasized in a bulletin received today by Adjutant John G. Dean, officer in charge of the Salvation Army here, from the national headquarters in New York.

China is one of 10 widely separated missionary fields of the Army in which the work is supported entirely by an annual week of self-denial on the part of Salvationists throughout the world. Self-Denial Week occurs this year from March 29 to April 5.

The buying of young girls began when Army officers became familiar with the operations of so-called procures in Pekin and the other large cities. The officers saw these girls sold like to many ornaments. The practice was either permitted or winked at by the government, and the girls themselves, being totally uneducated, either spiritually or academically, had no understanding of what was happening to them. Many felt grateful toward the procurers as a result of their promises to find them good homes and "masters."

Seeing that pleadings with the procurers was of no avail, The Army began buying the girls, appropriating as much money as was possible for the purpose, and putting them in Industrial homes. This method of rescuing girls has now become a routine part of Army missionary work in China. The girls are legally adopted by the Army, and are trained to become good wives and mothers.

The bulletin continues:

"The Girls' Industrial home at Pekin has outgrown its accommodation, and an extra home has had to be equipped. The majority of the girls in these homes are from the districts devestated by famine and flood, and a large number were rescued from sale into lives of shame. It is encouraging to recall that from the elder of these girls, two have chosen Salvation Army officership as their vocation in life, and were commissioned as officers from the last session of cadets."

In China the Salvation Army maintains 62 centers of work under the supervision of 218 commissioned officers. There is practically no opposition to the work, either on racial or religious grounds, and the people, especially the very poor, swarm to the halls to hear the message of the Gospel.

Branded by Jealous Husband, She Pleads for Him in Court

Branded in this fashion by her man, Mrs. Theodore Winfree loves him still. She bared her back in a San Francisco court in proof of her charge that her husband, a 21-year-old seaman in the navy, marked her with a hot iron while in a jealous rage, and beat her severely. But when the court considered sentencing her husband to jail, she flew to his side and forgave him. They kissed and left arm in arm.

—to regain Strength

—brings joy to you and your friends.

EVERY man, woman and child wants to have strength and correct weight. It means the joy of living. To be minus strength and underweight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body.

More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. aids Nature in building them by the million! There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today. It will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

COMMON SENSE IN SMALL DOSES

Oh, I've seen the wooden cistern;
And the cistern made of tin;
But I've never seen a cistern
That a skeeter wasn't in.

Immunized, those who fear typhoid need not.

"Follow the Swallow"—old fashioned chaser.

For the tourist who is susceptible to typhoid fever, the well by the roadside isn't to be trusted.

The healthy babe's
At his mother's breast—
The doctor's treating
All the rest.

More famous last words: "Why I never felt better in my life—I don't need any physical examination."

If one has tuberculosis, it is better to be without funds among friends, than to be without friends among funds.

Disregarding the presence or absence of smallpox in his vicinity, the man who has been vaccinated is protected perpetually.

And in spring we folks, Alas!
Must swallow teas of sassafras;
We drench ourselves without a reason—
It's just the custom of the season.

To maintain perennial health, spring house cleaning and the annual bath are both insufficient.

That doctor who, without an examination, says: "Oh, you've got a little malaria"—or, "you're just a little bilious," is too lazy to take the trouble to find out what really is the matter with you.

For the cistern raises skeeters while the skeeter raises bumps.

To maintain good health the main requisite is the water main.

Through the studies of Drs. Dick and Dick, the cause of scarlet fever is now definitely known. Immunization against the disease and specific treatment for it follow as a matter of course.

I was called to see a patient
And I ordered rest in bed;
So she called another doctor
And he gave her pills of bread.

Immeunized against smallpox, typhoid fever, diphtheria and scarlet fever with a pure water and a clean milk supply, there seems little occasion for illness among children.

Blood may be thicker than water but it's no thicker in the spring than it is in the fall.

And most of our woes,
We must confess,
Are caused by nothing
But carelessness;
Ignoring Dame Nature,
We do as we please,
Depending on doctors
To cure the disease.

Among bottle-fed babies and bucket-fed calves, the infant mortality is frightfully high.

All of us know just what to do for the human machine when it gets out of order, but it takes a watchmaker to fix our dollar watches.

Predict Big Boat Year.

MARTINS FERRY—A record summer season is anticipated by packet lines on the Ohio river, Wharfmaster A. L. Willis has been informed. He said the lines are making up their schedules for as far ahead as June and July, anticipating a favorable stage of water throughout the spring season. Freight traffic already is quite heavy with every prospect that increased express and parcel post rates will cause the quantity to increase.

Montevideo, Urguay, is to have a new custom house, costing nearly $2,000,000.

Crippling rheumatic aches

Tingling warmth—glowing comfort

When all other remedies have failed try Sloan's. It gives relief to even the oldest, most obstinate cases of rheumatic pain.

Apply lightly without rubbing over the painful spot. Instantly freshly-purified blood is sent tingling through the aching joints and muscles.

—to regain Strength

—brings joy to you and your friends.

EVERY man, woman and child wants to have strength and correct weight. It means the joy of living. To be minus strength and underweight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body.

More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. aids Nature in building them by the million! There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today. It will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

S.S.S. Makes You Feel Like Yourself Again

And the cistern made of tin;
But I've never seen a cistern
That a skeeter wasn't in.

To maintain perennial health, spring house cleaning and the annual bath are both insufficient.

So she called another doctor
And he gave her pills of bread.

Immeunized against smallpox, typhoid fever, diphtheria and scarlet fever with a pure water and a clean milk supply, there seems little occasion for illness among children.

Senators Are Selected to Repeat In American League Race

Walsh Picks Cobb's Tigers to Provide Nats Competition

Believes Detroit is One of Strongest Clubs in Baseball, But at the Same Time, a Trifle Uncertain; Red Sox Named for Cellar Berth.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 25.—After due deliberation and a vague sense of unease in the vicinity of the abdomen, the writer has selected the Washington Senators as the best ball club in the American league for the season of 1925, in much the same manner that he might decide one pea in a pod is better than half a dozen others. There happens to be eight clubs in the American league and six of them figure as actual contenders. The best thing about this business of per-race penant picking is that no one remembers the selections in October.

The remaining contenders, any one of which may rise up to confound me in subsequent months, are the Detroit Tigers, the New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians, the Athletics and the St. Louis Browns. The teams are named in the following order, not because they are in duty bound to observe the order of march but because I happen to believe they will finish that way:

1—Washington.
2—Detroit.
3—New York.
4—St. Louis.
5—Philadelphia.
6—Cleveland.
7—Chicago.
8—Boston.

The only selection at which I feel absolute ease is that of the Boston Red Sox. If they run better than eighth at the wire, it will be up to all concerned to tear up their dope sheets and eat the pieces. The White Sox are a different matter. They finished last in 1924 but didn't belong there, and, with the popular Collins in command, may forget the past and make a fool out of the present.

The Senators have the impetus of last year's victory behind them and are much improved in pitching and reserve infield material. If Peckinpaugh carries on, I don't see how the Senators can lose.

Perhaps the Tigers might arrange the matter, for it is no secret that Cobb has assembled one of the strongest clubs in baseball. Just what he will do with it remains with the immediate future. It is the general understanding that it could have played better baseball during the last several years. That makes them an uncertain pre-race proposition.

It is the writer's judgment that the Yankees shot their bolt when they didn't win last year. The club is no younger than the law allows and the pitching that carried it to three straight pennants is no longer there. Shocker will or should win plenty of games for Huggins but Pennock is not in the best of condition and Shawkey and Jones are uncertainties.

The Browns, a great hitting club, are due for a comeback with Sisler himself again. To the success of the team, the difference between Sisler in condition or out means the difference between a real contender and a chronic also ran. They are placed above the Athletics, who I am pleased to regard with misgivings.

It is the same club that came with a rush last year, plus Left Groves. If that young man is as good as they say he is, it will be hard to keep the Athletics out of third place; yet the club lacks steadiness and cohesion and this race promises to be to the eternal swift.

Cleveland, with its patchy infield and uncertain pitching expects to finish in the first division. I don't think it will, for the reason stated. In an ordinary year, the Indians would be dangerous but this one figures to be about as ordinary as a rubber collar at the charity ball.

"Who Said I'm About Through?"

Mr. Roger Peckinpaugh, veteran shortstop of the world's champion Washington team has just turned as he raises the query. His attitude indicates that the thought is soon to be erased from some gentleman's mind. Peckinpaugh injured his leg in the world's series but says that so far it has given every indication that it is o. k. again. Photo from Washingon camp at Tampa, Fla.

Gibbons Will Battle Wills

NEW YORK, March 25.—Predictions were being made today following the state athletic commission's edict on Jack Dempsey that Harry Wills and Tom Gibbons, leading challengers for the heavyweight title, would be matched within 24 hours. The plan is to have the contenders meet for the benefit of the local Milk Fund in May and the privilege of enjoying a clear field to a match with the champion.

Gibbons already has gone on record as being willing to take on Wills as a preliminary to a title bout but Wills has held off because he claimed he was entitled to a match with Dempsey without further ado.

It was Wills' challenge, filed a week previous to that of Gibbons, which caused the board to declare Dempsey ineligible in this state because of his failure to accept it within the specified time limit. This action means that Dempsey is unlikely to defend his title in the East, if at all.

West Virginia Star Seeks Third Letter

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 25.—Having already earned two letters during the present collegiate year Aaron Oliker, popular Mountaineer football and basketball athlete, is seeking his third "W. V." He is an outfielder and Coach Rodgers has been playing him in the right sector this week. Oliker reported for baseball his freshman year and again last spring, but this is the first season that he has made a serious bid for a varsity position. He has improved wonderfully during the past two years and other candidates cannot afford to reckon without giving him consideration.

Another West Virginia football man making his presence felt on the diamond is Mike Hardy of Shardy, Pa. The young halfback, who made such rapid progress on the gridiron last fall, looks good at first base and Rodgers looks for him to improve as the opening of the season nears.

Both Oliker and Hardy have been showing good form at the plate.

Two Indoor Baseball Engagements Tonight

Two indoor baseball contests are scheduled tonight at the Y. M. C. A.

Laughlin 5 and Crockery City will clash at 7:30. The E. M. Knowles and Decorators teams play at 8:30.

The Knowles-Decorators game is one of the two moved ahead from Friday night.

Sound made by booming guns to announce the beginning of a two minute silence for Armistice Day in England did not reach some parts of the country until people had begun their tribute, and clocks will be used as announcers hereafter.

HERE ARE THREE ALL-STAR GRADE SCHOOL FIVES; ALL SHOW STRENGTH

First Team:—F. Small, Central A. F. Feit, Central A. C. Heath, Garfield. G. Wotring, Central A. G. Menge, Sixth.

Second Team:—F. Dyke, Lincoln. F. Lindell, Central B. C. Dorsey, Sixth. G. Congrove, Central A. G. McConville, Lincoln.

Third Team:—F. Anthony, Sixth. F. Witherow, Lincoln. C. Anderson, Central A. G. Barnhart, Sixth. G. Skidmore, Lincoln.

Honorable Mention:—Forwards: Blazer, Central B; Chiturn, Washington; Ward, Garfield, Centers—Kapp, Pleasant Heights; Hall, Central B; Guards:—Dearth, Central B; Boy, Pleasant Teights; Green, Washington.

To Feit and Small go the forward positions. Both are exceptionally good shots, can pass, and display more basketball knowledge than many older players. Heath, of Garfield, gets the center job. Playing with a weak five he displayed more ability than any center in the tournament. Menge, of Sixth, and Wotring, of Central, get the guard posts. They possess rare passing ability and form the nucleus of a capable defense.

However, were any two of the three teams named above to meet in actual outcome on the basket court, the outcome would be samewhat of a question, for both the second and third fives rank almost equally with the first.

M. P. Passers Cinch Court League Race

Defeat Lutherans, Nearest Rivals, 27 to 21, in Thrilling Clash on High School Court.

Getting a strangle hold on the enemy in the final quarter of their battle last night on the high school court, a clash that proved a thriller for three full periods, the Methodist Protestant passers tossed their rivals, the Lutherans, to the mat for the victory that practically won them the league championship. The score was 27 to 21.

Neither team had any better than a five point margin in the first three quarters. In the last period the Protestants developed their big punch, outplaying the Lutherans and putting the decision on ice.

Carey of the M. P.'s was first to score, dropping in a field goal from the side. Kimes sent one in from the center for the Lutherans knotting the count. Mackey of the leaders scored on a foul and Kimes evened up in similar manner for the Lutherans who a second later went into the lead with a field goal by Kimes. Mackey evened it up with a double decker. Schneidmiller sent the Lutherans ahead with a foul. Wilson evened the score. G. Woessner scored from the free line and the Lutherans led, 7 to 6, at the end of the first period.

Kimes was first to tally in the second period, dropping in a field goal. Wilson cut the Lutheran lead with a foul. Kimes made his foul line chance count for the Lutherans. Carey and Weikart scored from the free mark, putting their team within a point of the Lutherans. Mackey's field goal put the M. P. passers in the lead and Wilson's two-pointer increased the margin.

But Schneidmiller scored twice in succession from the foul mark, tying the count, 12-12, at the end of the half.

The Protestants jumped into the lead at the start of the third period. Mackey displayed a classy brand of foul shooting at this stage of the contest, scoring four straight. Schneidmiller counted on a foul for the Lutherans, now three points behind. Mackey registered a double decker. Kimes kept the Lutherans in the running with a field goal. Mackey proceeded to shoot his fifth straight foul.

Kimes, who, apparently, was the only member of the Lutheran quint able to locate the basket, dropped in a field goal and the score was 19 to 17 in favor of the M. P. quint when the third period ended.

The M. P. lads opened the final lap with a field goal which Todd scored after a bit of pretty pass work. Wilson scored another two-pointer for the league leaders. And Todd practically cinched the contest with a third. Wilson scored from the foul line.

Kimes revived the fading hopes of the Lutherans with a field goal. G. Woessner dropped in his only field goal of the game and Todd scored the final point of the contest from the free mark.

The winners, collectively, played a fine article of ball throughout. Mackey, as usual, was the scoring star.

Kimes was the outstanding performer on the Lutheran side. Woessner and Kibble also performed well.

In the preliminary contest the Park Boulevards easily won from the First Presbyterians, 33 to 13.

The lineups:

First Presby.		Park Boulevards.
C. Allison	F	Barnes
Cooper	F	Crawford
McVey	C	Kirkham
D. Allison	G	McKee
Todd	G	Craven

Substitutions—Householder for McVey, McVey for Cooper, A. Todd for D. Allison, Adzell for Crawford, Hall for Craven.

Field goals—McKee 5, Kirkham 3, Barnes 2, Crawford, Adzell, C. Allison 3, McVey 2.

Foul goals—McKee 5, Kirkham 3, Crawford, McVey, Householder, Todd.

Referee, Davies; timer, Canne; scorer, Brown.

HADDOCK TOPS TEN PIN RIVALS

Rolls Score of 537 in Tourney Matches at American.

Rolling 537, Bud Haddock topped rivals in the opening matches of the ten pin tournament last night on the American alleys.

Scores ranged from 468 to 537 in the list of the first five bowlers in the singles.

Lutherans.		First M. P.
Kimes	F	Mackey
G. Woessner	F	Wilson
Schneidmiller	C	Todd
D. Woessner	G	Weikart
Kibble	G	Carey

Substitution—Anthony for Schneidmiller.

Field goals—Mackey 3, Todd 2, Carey, Wilson, Kimes 6, G. Woessner.

Foul goals — Mackey 7, Wilson 3, Todd, Weikart, Carey, Schneidmiller 4, Kimes 2, G. Woessner.

Referee, Davies; timer, Price; scorer, Brown.

Takkenberg, the Dutchman who is somersaulting his way over the 900 miles between Amsterdam, Holland, and Marseilles, France, estimates that his journey will be covered by 2,000,000 somersaults.

Grade Girls In Tourney

First round of play in the girls' elementary grade school basketball tournament will get under way on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the high school court.

Two contests are scheduled for Friday afternoon. Two more will be played on Friday night at 7 o'clock.

The semi-finals will be reached on Saturday morning at 10 and the championship battle will occur at 3 in the afternoon.

Pleasant Heights will tackle Garfield and Washington will meet McKinley in the Friday afternoon games. The night contests bring into action Sixth Street against Central and Lincoln against Horace Mann-Neville.

Rival Sextets Play For School Honors

Sophomore and Senior girls of the high school interclass league will clash this afternoon on the school court for the league championship.

In the first half of the season the Seniors carried off the honors. The second year entry grabbed the laurels in the second half. The winner of this afternoon's tilt will be awarded the crown for the season.

M. P. Passers Cinch Court League Race

Defeat Lutherans, Nearest Rivals, 27 to 21, in Thrilling Clash on High School Court.

Getting a strangle hold on the enemy in the final quarter of their battle last night on the high school court, a clash that proved a thriller for three full periods, the Methodist Protestant passers tossed their rivals, the Lutherans, to the mat for the victory that practically won them the league championship. The score was 27 to 21.

Neither team had any better than a five point margin in the first three quarters. In the last period the Protestants developed their big punch, outplaying the Lutherans and putting the decision on ice.

Carey of the M. P.'s was first to score, dropping in a field goal from the side. Kimes sent one in from the center for the Lutherans knotting the count. Mackey of the leaders scored on a foul and Kimes evened up in similar manner for the Lutherans who a second later went into the lead with a field goal by Kimes. Mackey evened it up with a double decker. Schneidmiller sent the Lutherans ahead with a foul. Wilson evened the score. G. Woessner scored from the free line and the Lutherans led, 7 to 6, at the end of the first period.

Kimes was first to tally in the second period, dropping in a field goal. Wilson cut the Lutheran lead with a foul. Kimes made his foul line chance count for the Lutherans. Carey and Weikart scored from the free mark, putting their team within a point of the Lutherans. Mackey's field goal put the M. P. passers in the lead and Wilson's two-pointer increased the margin.

But Schneidmiller scored twice in succession from the foul mark, tying the count, 12-12, at the end of the half.

The Protestants jumped into the lead at the start of the third period. Mackey displayed a classy brand of foul shooting at this stage of the contest, scoring four straight. Schneidmiller counted on a foul for the Lutherans, now three points behind. Mackey registered a double decker. Kimes kept the Lutherans in the running with a field goal. Mackey proceeded to shoot his fifth straight foul.

Kimes, who, apparently, was the only member of the Lutheran quint able to locate the basket, dropped in a field goal and the score was 19 to 17 in favor of the M. P. quint when the third period ended.

The M. P. lads opened the final lap with a field goal which Todd scored after a bit of pretty pass work. Wilson scored another two-pointer for the league leaders. And Todd practically cinched the contest with a third. Wilson scored from the foul line.

Kimes revived the fading hopes of the Lutherans with a field goal. G. Woessner dropped in his only field goal of the game and Todd scored the final point of the contest from the free mark.

The winners, collectively, played a fine article of ball throughout. Mackey, as usual, was the scoring star.

Kimes was the outstanding performer on the Lutheran side. Woessner and Kibble also performed well.

In the preliminary contest the Park Boulevards easily won from the First Presbyterians, 33 to 13.

The lineups:

First Presby.		Park Boulevards.
C. Allison	F	Barnes
Cooper	F	Crawford
McVey	C	Kirkham
D. Allison	G	McKee
Todd	G	Craven

Substitutions—Householder for McVey, McVey for Cooper, A. Todd for D. Allison, Adzell for Crawford, Hall for Craven.

Field goals—McKee 5, Kirkham 3, Barnes 2, Crawford, Adzell, C. Allison 3, McVey 2.

Foul goals—McKee 5, Kirkham 3, Crawford, McVey, Householder, Todd. Referee, Davies; timer, Canne; scorer, Brown.

HADDOCK TOPS TEN PIN RIVALS

Rolls Score of 537 in Tourney Matches at American.

Rolling 537, Bud Haddock topped rivals in the opening matches of the ten pin tournament last night on the American alleys.

Scores ranged from 468 to 537 in the list of the first five bowlers in the singles.

Following Haddock was Creed Morris, with 518. Morris also rolled single game high score of 203. Steve Kaskas finished third with 480; Peter Pan fourth with 477, and Cy Young fifth with 468.

Takkenberg, the Dutchman who is somersaulting his way over the 900 miles between Amsterdam, Holland, and Marseilles, France, estimates that his journey will be covered by 2,000,000 somersaults.

Grade Girls In Tourney

First round of play in the girls' elementary grade school basketball tournament will get under way on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the high school court.

Two contests are scheduled for Friday afternoon. Two more will be played on Friday night at 7 o'clock.

The semi-finals will be reached on Saturday morning at 10 and the championship battle will occur at 3 in the afternoon.

Pleasant Heights will tackle Garfield and Washington will meet McKinley in the Friday afternoon games. The night contests bring into action Sixth Street against Central and Lincoln against Horace Mann-Neville.

Rival Sextets Play For School Honors

Sophomore and Senior girls of the high school interclass league will clash this afternoon on the school court for the league championship.

In the first half of the season the Seniors carried off the honors. The second year entry grabbed the laurels in the second half. The winner of this afternoon's tilt will be awarded the crown for the season.

TOKYO READY FOR PARLEY ON DISARMAMENT

Japan Opposes Limit on Aircraft and Submarines.

OUTLINES PLANS

Invitation is Not Expected Before Fall of Year.

TOKYO, March—Behind an almost impenetrable veil of official reticence Japan is preparing for the day when she will be called upon, probably at the invitation of the United States Government, to participate in a new conference to consider the question of international disarmament.

At the present time Japan does not expect an invitation to be forthcoming for several months, possibly not until the Autumn of this year. But the invitation, when it does come will find Japan with a well-defined program of arms limitation which according to semi-official spokesmen, will represent the "last word" of the Japanese government in the matter.

Ostensibly, Japan is willing to accept an invitation to such a conference and ready to co-operate with the other powers in the matter of arms reduction. The one definite statement forthcoming from official sources is that Japan "will give sympathetic consideration to any invitation to an arms limitation parley in conformity with her earnest desire to contribute to the peace of the world." Beyond that rather generalized statement no official pronouncement has been made by anyone authorized to speak for the Japanese government.

No Statement.

There have been, from time to time, statements by such high officials as Admiral Hyo Takarabe, Minister of Marine, and others regarding various phases of the disarmament question. In all such cases, however, the Foreign Office and other authorized sources of government information have taken pains to point out that these statements represent the personal views of the individual making them. It has been steadfastly maintained that the question of a new disarmament conference never has been officially considered by the Cabinet, and therefore no definite policy has been decided upon.

It has been made clearly evident, however, that Japan believes that an arms conference would have small chance of success unless the convening of a formal conference were preceded by a discussion of agenda. It is the prevailing opinion here that virtually all the powers invited to a conference will insist upon knowing in advance what schemes of arms reduction or limitation are likely to be proposed. Certainly, it has been strongly intimated, Japan will be reluctant to join in any conference the exact purposes of which are not known to her.

So far as Japan's own program for further limitation of armaments is concerned, very little authentic information is available. It has been indicated, however, that Japan does not expect the subject of limitation of aircraft to have a place on the conference agenda. Since the problem of land armaments is not likely to be discussed that would limit the conference to a consideration of auxiliary naval craft.

More Submarines.

In this connection it is believed that Japan will be reluctant to agree to any extensive reduction of submarines and destroyers. In the field of light cruisers the Japanese view probably would be slightly more liberal.

Submarines and destroyers, naval experts have declared, are not offensive weapons in the hands of the Japanese, because of the limits of their cruising radius. As an adjunct to her national defense equipment, Japan regards an adequate complement of submarines and destroyers as necessary and would look with disfavor upon any scheme that would reduce these weapons below what she regards as her defensive requirements.

Experts of the Japanese navy, it is not denied, have been at work for several months drafting a program of limitation of armaments to which Japan would be willing to agree. What the details of this program are is a carefully guarded secret about which all speculation along specific lines would be futile.

TOKYO READY FOR PARLEY ON DISARMAMENT

Japan Opposes Limit on Aircraft and Submarines.

OUTLINES PLANS

Invitation is Not Expected Before Fall of Year.

TOKYO, March—Behind an almost impenetrable veil of official reticence Japan is preparing for the day when she will be called upon, probably at the invitation of the United States Government, to participate in a new conference to consider the question of international disarmament.

At the present time Japan does not expect an invitation to be forthcoming for several months, possibly not until the Autumn of this year. But the invitation, when it does come will find Japan with a well-defined program of arms limitation which according to semi-official spokesmen, will represent the "last word" of the Japanese government in the matter.

Ostensibly, Japan is willing to accept an invitation to such a conference and ready to co-operate with the other powers in the matter of arms reduction. The one definite statement forthcoming from official sources is that Japan "will give sympathetic consideration to any invitation to an arms limitation parley in conformity with her earnest desire to contribute to the peace of the world." Beyond that rather generalized statement no official pronouncement has been made by anyone authorized to speak for the Japanese government.

No Statement.

There have been, from time to time, statements by such high officials as Admiral Hyo Takarabe, Minister of Marine, and others regarding various phases of the disarmament question. In all such cases, however, the Foreign Office and other authorized sources of government information have taken pains to point out that these statements represent the personal views of the individual making them. It has been steadfastly maintained that the question of a new disarmament conference never has been officially considered by the Cabinet, and therefore no definite policy has been decided upon.

It has been made clearly evident, however, that Japan believes that an arms conference would have small chance of success unless the convening of a formal conference were preceded by a discussion of agenda. It is the prevailing opinion here that virtually all the powers invited to a conference will insist upon knowing in advance what schemes of arms reduction or limitation are likely to be proposed. Certainly, it has been strongly intimated, Japan will be reluctant to join in any conference the exact purposes of which are not known to her.

So far as Japan's own program for further limitation of armaments is concerned, very little authentic information is available. It has been indicated, however, that Japan does not expect the subject of limitation of aircraft to have a place on the conference agenda. Since the problem of land armaments is not likely to be discussed that would limit the conference to a consideration of auxiliary naval craft.

More Submarines.

In this connection it is believed that Japan will be reluctant to agree to any extensive reduction of submarines and destroyers. In the field of light cruisers the Japanese view probably would be slightly more liberal.

Submarines and destroyers, naval experts have declared, are not offensive weapons in the hands of the Japanese, because of the limits of their cruising radius. As an adjunct to her national defense equipment, Japan regards an adequate complement of submarines and destroyers as necessary and would look with disfavor upon any scheme that would reduce these weapons below what she regards as her defensive requirements.

Experts of the Japanese navy, it is not denied, have been at work for several months drafting a program of limitation of armaments to which Japan would be willing to agree. What the details of this program are is a carefully guarded secret about which all speculation along specific lines would be futile.

91 Legal Notices

LEGAL NOTICE.

Sealed proposals will be received at the Office of the Auditor of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, until twelve o'clock noon on April 17th, 1925, for the purchase of bonds of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, in the aggregate sum of $4254.40, dated April 15th, 1925; said bonds will be seven in number and numbered from one to seven, both inclusive. The first of said bonds shall be of the denomination of $654.40 and the balance of said bonds will be of the denomination of $600.00 and all will draw interest at the rate of 6% per annum, payable semi-annually on the fifteenth days of April and October of each year upon presentation and surrender of the interest coupons to be attached to said bonds. Said bonds shall be due and payable as follows:

Date of Maturity	Number	Amount
April 15th, 1927	1	$654.40
April 15th, 1928	2	600.00
April 15th, 1929	3	600.00
April 15th, 1930	4	600.00
April 15th, 1931	5	600.00
April 15th, 1932	6	600.00
April 15th, 1933	7	600.00

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of providing a fund for the purchase of equipment of the Fire Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, and shall be issued under authority of the laws of Ohio and of Section 3939 of the General Code of Ohio and under authority and in accordance with a certain ordinance of the said City of East Liverpool, Ohio, entitled "An Ordinance authorizing the issuance of bonds to provide a fund for the purchase of equipment for the Fire Department of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio;" said ordinance was passed on the 2nd day of March, 1925; said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidder for not less than par and accrued interest. All bids must state the number of bonds bid for and gross amount of bid and accrued interest to date of delivery and all bids to be accompanied by a certified check payable to the Treasurer of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, for two per cent of the amount of bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted the bidder will receive and pay for said bonds as may be issued as before set forth within ten days from the time of award; said check to be retained by the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, if said condition is not fulfilled.

Said City of East Liverpool, Ohio, reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Bids should be sealed and endorsed "Bids for Fire Department Equipment bonds of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio."

Dated March 23rd, 1925.
